U.S. Jets Strike Secret Targets

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)— U.S. Air Force jet mission struck secret targets Wednesday in a followup to the widely publicized U.S.-South Vietnamese attack Tuesday on military installations in Communist North Viet Nam.

The Ho Chi Minh Trail through eastern Laos — a Viet Cong supply line raided sporadically throughout the winter — was believed to have been hit by more than 30 F100 and F105 fighter-bombers.

The supersonic squadrons took off unheralded with heavy loads of explosives from Da Nang Air Base, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, and sped back later with bomb bays empty to a landing lacking in fanfare.

U.S. authorities declined to disclose the objectives, but said no new strike had been made against North Viet Nam. It was not even made plain whether all the raiders returned.

Compared with other operations in the Vietnamese war, the lid on news of the Laotian phase always has been relatively tight.

U.S. Navy and Air Force pilots have alternated in the effort, approved by Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma's Laotian government, to stem the flow of recruits and supplies from North Viet Nam via Laotian territory held by the pro-Communist Pathet Lao.

Study Photos

While diplomats studied world reaction to the thrust against North Viet Nam by more than 160 U.S and South Vietnamese planes, intelligence experts studied reconnaissance photographs of the Quang Khe and Xom Bang target areas.

Radio Hanoi broadcast a declaration that the raids caused "no appreciable losses," but the picture showed heavy damage.

Six baracks and a dock were reported destroyed at the Quang Khe naval base, 60 miles north of the 17th Parallel, and other barracks outside the town were burned. Still under assessment was the toll at Xom Bang, a munitions center 15 miles north of the border.

But there was agreement on both sides of the line on one thing: six of the raiders were shot down. The pilots of one Vietnamese and four U.S. planes were rescued. The pilot of a fifth American plane was missing.

Fire Hits Fairbury Building

Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Fairbury—A former dairy building occupied by two business firms was gutted by fire here Wednesday night.

Suffering several thousand dollars damage were Fairbury Cable TV Inc. and Dale Kujath's Electrical Repair Shop. The building's owner, Ted Tippin, also lost considerable stored equipment.

Fire Chief George Mackay said the blaze was discovered at 7:45 p.m. in the structure's southeast corner The cause is still being sought.

Working in 21 degree weather, approximately a dozen regular and volunteer firemen soon controlled the blaze. They continued hosing down the area, however, for several hours.

The newly remodeled building's interior was practically destroyed. Fire also broke through the roof and damaged the outside.

Known for decades as Robinson's Dairy, the brick fronted one-story building was vacated by Tippin in October. It is located south of the Fairbury State Bank.

An addition to the rear rented by Fairbury Implement Co. sustained only minor damage.

State Base Wage Bill Killed, 5-3

The Legislature's Labor Committee Wednesday killed on a 5-3 vote a bill to establish a $1-an-hour minimum wage act in Nebraska.

The measure would have exempted agricultural workers, persons employed in domestic services, salesmen on commission, students, apprentices, persons compensated primarily by tips, and a number of other categories of employes.

Testimony on the measure, LB380, sponsored chiefly by Sen. William Skarda of Omaha, was heard last week.

Proponents of the bill said it would increase employment and improve the state's economy, while opponents argued that it would result in unemployment, higher prices and retarded industrial growth.

The committee advanced a previously heard bill, LB294, which provides that state administrative employes be compensated for overtime work, either in equivalent pay or time off.

A third previously heard bill, LB451, was killed on a 6-1 vote. It would have established a safety code for motor vehicles used to transport workers to and from their places of employment.

The committee killed 5-3 a bill, LB408, that would have raised from $3,000 to $3,600 the base wage on which employers pay into the unemployment compensation fund.

Introducer of the measure, North Platte Sen. Cecil Craft, said the bill was needed to make seasonal employers pay a bigger share of the tab because their employes receive more benefits.

The bill was opposed by representatives of contracting groups, the Associated Industries of Nebraska, the Nebraska Chamber of Commerce and others.

The committee advanced LB370, which as amended would raise from $3 to $5 the fee for State Labor Department permits and would place such funds into the general fund.

The committee killed a bill, LB355, which contained similar provisions for female labor permits.

SOME EQUIPMENT LEFT BEHIND

These few pieces of farm machinery, frozen down by previous snows, had to be left behind when the Gardner Implement Co. of Missouri Valley, Iowa, moved its stock to the high ground afforded by a dike along Willow Creek at the west edge of Missouri Valley. Flood waters were still rising when this picture was taken Wednesday. The location is 1½ miles above Willow Creek's confluence with the Boyer River.

Governor Briefed On Flood Threat; Fast Thaw Feared

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Frank Morrison was briefed late Wednesday on potential flood conditions on the Platte and Elkhorn rivers in eastern Nebraska.

Col. Don Penterman, deputy adjutant general, said a "fast thaw" could cause flooding near Ashland on the Platte and the Waterloo to Valley areas on the Elkhorn.

Five inches of snow plus the frozen ice over the lowlands from last week's thawing pose potential flood conditions, Penterman said.

He predicted no problems if the thaw takes as long as five days.

Penterman advised the governor that state agencies, including the National Guard, Highway Department and Safety Patrol, will keep daily watch and have equipment ready to move in should flooding materialize from fast melting.

"We'll be prepared to evacuate people, help with sandbagging in critical areas and furnish support for isolated livestock and farms," he said.

Officials said any attempts to dynamite ice jams on the Platte River would only aggravate conditions even if feasible.

Gov. Morrison commended the reporting agencies, and said:

"I don't know what it's going to take to convince local people and the federal government about the need for more flood control works in Nebraska."

Present at the briefing were representatives of the Safety Patrol, Highway Department, and State Game Commission.

West Gets Light Snow; Ice Problem For East

Light snow fell in portions of west and north-central Nebraska Wednesday afternoon caused by a small low pressure area that moved into the state.

Ainsworth and Chadron reported very light snow, and Alliance and Sidney reported light snow with some blowing.

Highway Maintenance Engineer John McMeekin reported Wednesday that four highways were still not open to two-way traffic because of Monday's storm.

They are Neb. 79 from Prague north to Morse Bluff; Neb. 36 from Elk City east to Florence; Neb. 64 from Lashara west to U.S. 77; and Neb. 91 from Humphrey east to Scribner.

McMeekin said that Neb. 63 north and south of Ashland was still closed by high water from the ice jams in Salt Creek.

According to Waterloo mayor, Ben Johnson, conditions on the Elkhorn River are about the same. The river is down about 1½ feet and is covered with ice. In fact, "the Elkhorn is covered with ice clear south to the Platte," Johnson said.

Dynamite bombs were thrown from a helicopter into the Platte River near Louisville to help break ice jams that have threatened that town.

$1.1 Billion For Poverty Area

. . . MOST OF IT FOR ROADS

Washington (AP)—The House passed and sent to President Johnson Wednesday his $1.1 billion program of aid for highways and other projects designed to improve job opportunities and income in the economically depressed Appalachia area.

This first major legislation to be passed by this session of Congress was approved by a 257-165 roll call of the House, which last year let a similar bill die.

Repeated Republican attempts to slice off parts of the program or add more areas were beaten off in two days of debate and the bill was approved in exactly the form the Senate passed it Feb. 1. Sixteen amendments offered were rejected overwhelmingly, most by voice vote.

Voting for the bill were 232 Democrats, including Nebraska Rep. Clair Callan, and 25 Republicans. Voting against it were 56 Democrats and 109 Republicans, including Nebraska Reps. Glenn Cunningham and Dave Martin.

The proposal was the product of study begun by President John F. Kennedy shortly after he took office in 1961. He had been impressed by the economic plight of West Virginia during his presidential campaign. Johnson adopted the idea and pushed it vigorously.

5-Year Program

The bill authorizes a five-year program of aid for 360 counties in all of West Virginia and parts of Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia. Provision is made for possible addition of 13 New York counties later.

Funds necessary to put the program into effect must be provided by separate legislation.

The goal is to provide jobs and better income for more than 15 million persons living in the 165,000-square-mile region whose per capita income is now about $1,400 — which is $500 below the national average.

A sharp decline in coal mining is blamed largely for the economic troubles of the Appalachia region, but experts say lack of highways is another factor. So the heart of the bill is $840 million earmarked to build highways over the next five years to open up the region to industry and recreation.

The federal government will provide up to 70% of the cost of 3,350 miles of roads. Normally federal highway aid is limited to 50%.

The Bureau of Public Roads has unofficially worked out allocation of the 2,350 miles of development highways and 1,000 miles of access roads with state highway officials. But these will have to be approved by the Appalachian Regional Commission set up by the bill.

$252.2 Million

The remaining $252.2 million in authorizations is split in this fashion:

$69 million — for grants up to 80% to build multi-county health facilities. If necessary, the federal government will pay the entire operating cost the first two years and 50% the next three years.

$17 million — for grants up to 80% for land improvement for a meximum of 50 acres for any one landowner.

$5 million — technical aid to improve timberland productivity.

$36.5 million — federal grants up to 75% of the cost of restoring areas stripped by mines.

$5 million — water resource surveys.

$112 million — increased federal grants under existing aid programs.

$5.5 million — grants for research and demonstration projects.

$2.2 million — for administrative expenses.

The Appalachian Regional Commission to be set up will consist of a presidential appointee and the governors of the 11 states or their representatives.

U.S. Jurors Find Estes Innocent

Dallas (UPI) — A federal court jury Wednesday acquitted bankrupt financier Billie Sol Estes of charges he lied to the government about his debts.

The seven-man, five-woman jury deliberated five hours and found him innocent of all three counts of the indictment against him. The 40-year-old Estes, his troubles far from over, listened impassively.

One of his five daughters sitting in the courtroom burst out with a loud "Whoopee!". A U.S. marshal admonished her.

Pam, 13, sat back, abashed.

The government charged that Estes lied by millions of dollars in his dealings with the Agriculture Department's Commodity Credit Corp. before his farm and fertilizer empire collapsed.

As the verdict was announced, Estes' wife was outside the courtroom.

Her children flocked around her after the verdict was read. Tears of relief welled in her eyes, but she said, "I feel a lot better."

Her husband, however, was not free. He had been brought to Dallas in handcuffs and held in jail during the trial.

Estes, already sentenced to 23 years in prison by state and federal courts, sat glumly through the charge to the jury.

One-Time Jeep 'Factory' Aids Sidney Students

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Sidney — An 18,000 square foot shop building at the Sioux Ordnance Depot once was a virtual Jeep factory.

Coming in the big east door, the worn and torn vehicles lost engines, transmissions and running gear to mechanics on the sidelines who repaired them and put them back into service.

Before driving out the west end, the Jeeps had the dents hammered out of their fenders and passed through a paint booth for a new coat of olive green.

Now the Jeeps are gone and the spacious shop is inhabited by a mass of less-than-perfect motorized machinery and 61 men hoping to have well-paying jobs in the country's repair shops by the end of the year.

Still In Place

The Army's hoists are still in place at the auto mechanics end of the shop where instructor Jim Dimmick directs his 20 students in the basics of repairing engines and running gears.

Quickly pointing out the mass of equipment — some purchased for the school and some left from the Army operation — Dimmick notes, "There isn't anything in this program that's left out."

Some junk parts have been brought in so the trainees can "check them out and find what's wrong with them," but the enthusiastic boys can also see a more immediate return on their labor as they do repair work necessary for the operation of their own cars.

"Some live in town and have to have a way to get out here," explained the instructor, a graduate of the Nebraska Vocational Technical School at Milford with experience as a mechanic in Lincoln and Florida. Students' cars become training aids "if it fits into the training program."

Next to the cars other stalls are littered with tractor parts, including an antique 1924 Case engine.

Class Project

"It's a class project," explained Ken Siefker. His 20 trainees in tractor and diesel mechanics will overhaul the old engine, machining the parts that are necessary to make it an operable model.

On their way to a complete basic knowledge of electrical systems, carburetion, fuel injection, engines and power trains, the tractor mechanics will make use of the latest in shop tools and testing equipment, much of it having come from implement makers.

Starting the 48-week course with "everything from high school dropouts to mechanics who have been in the field up to 20 years," Siefker plans to turn out "men adaptable to almost any implement company or dealer from mechanic's helpers to technicians in fuel injection and tune-up."

In lauding the manpower training program, the instructor, who came to the school with 30 years of experience in automotive and implement repairing and shop management, declared, "I think we'll place more students from this school in good-paying positions than almost any other school would be able to."

Surrounded by "beaters"—old cars dragged into the shop from a wrecking yard at about $2.50 apiece—short, stocky Curt Lab in a welding mask gives a group of trainees instruction in cutting metal with a torch while others nearby are masking off a ping-pong table for painting prior to placing it in the recreation hall.

The "beaters," explained Lab, like Dimmick a Milford graduate with his own shop before joining the manpower program at Milford last spring, will be used as training aids before the students start pounding out ripples in their own cars.

Lab will whack one of the junkers with a hammer or cut a hole in a door with a torch, then tell a student, "There's your project. Fix it."

All through the vast shop a visitor is astounded with the amount and quality of equipment in use, better and more complete than most shops.

"It acquaints them with about everything they're likely to run into in the field," explained assistant Ed Sumner. "An employer will be impressed if the person he hires is at least familiar with a pentry tools.

Other varieties of equipment were in use across the street, in the old base fire hall, where six students were familiarizing themselves with floor refinishing machines and carpentr ytools.

With a degree from Chadron State College in industrial arts plus work on missile sites and with a Sidney contractor, instructor Keith Robison knows the increasingly technical skills he must instill in the students to prepare them for the general maintenance of buildings.

Trying to cram all the intricacies into the 16-week course is almost like putting the toothpaste back in the tube, but the trainees get a smattering of many things while making repairs around the complex.

Other varieties of equipment were in use across the street, in the old base fire hall, where six students were familiarizing themselves with floor refinishing machines and carpentr ytools.

With a degree from Chadron State College in industrial arts plus work on missile sites and with a Sidney contractor, instructor Keith Robison knows the increasingly technical skills he must instill in the students to prepare them for the general maintenance of buildings.

Trying to cram all the intricacies into the 16-week course is almost like putting the toothpaste back in the tube, but the trainees get a smattering of many things while making repairs around the complex.

U.S. Jurors Find Estes Innocent

Dallas (UPI) — A federal court jury Wednesday acquitted bankrupt financier Billie Sol Estes of charges he lied to the government about his debts.

The seven-man, five-woman jury deliberated five hours and found him innocent of all three counts of the indictment against him. The 40-year-old Estes, his troubles far from over, listened impassively.

One of his five daughters sitting in the courtroom burst out with a loud "Whoopee!". A U.S. marshal admonished her.

Pam, 13, sat back, abashed.

The government charged that Estes lied by millions of dollars in his dealings with the Agriculture Department's Commodity Credit Corp. before his farm and fertilizer empire collapsed.

As the verdict was announced, Estes' wife was outside the courtroom.

Her children flocked around her after the verdict was read. Tears of relief welled in her eyes, but she said, "I feel a lot better."

Her husband, however, was not free. He had been brought to Dallas in handcuffs and held in jail during the trial.

Estes, already sentenced to 23 years in prison by state and federal courts, sat glumly through the charge to the jury.

France Fears Flash In Asia

Paris (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle's government expressed fear Wednesday the war in Viet Nam might flash over a large part of Asia unless the great powers put the dispute on the conference table. And the cabinet expressed concern over air raids on Communist North Viet Nam.

The concern and fresh appeal for a new meeting of the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina were voiced by Information Minister Alain Peyrefitte after a regular weekly cabinet session presided over by De Gaulle.

Shortly before in London, British government authorities gave strong support for the latest phase of U.S. bombings of military bases in North Viet Nam.

'Can't Stay Immune'

An authorized British source said: "As long as the North Vietnamese go on supporting the Viet Cong so fully they can scarcely expect to remain immune from the effects of the fighting they themselves are fomenting."

French officials, however, placed no specific blame on the North Vietnamese or the Viet Cong, the Communist guerrillas.

Peyrefitte, recalling France's agreement last week to work with the Soviet Union for convening a new Geneva conference, told newsmen:

"Such a conference is the only way to preserve peace. Without such a meeting, we can only have a progressive spread of war throughout a large part of Asia."

Reds Hit Bombings

In Moscow, 18 Communist Parties holding a unity meeting issued a statement saying, "The barbarous bombings of populated centers on the territory of socialist (North) Viet Nam creates a new situation in Southeast Asia, fraught with serious aggravation of the international situation as a whole."

Despite France's hammering on the conference idea, and its consultations with the Soviet Union, there was no indication of any specific initiatives by either Paris or Moscow to convene a conference.

75,000 Reds Viets Dead

Washington (AP)— Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff, told senators Wednesday 75,000 Communist Viet Cong had been killed in the Viet Nam fighting, and their side is being hurt.

He said U.S. aerial operations "contributed materially to this success."

Johnson's prepared text, which had passed through censorship before the Senate Armed Services Committee and defense appropriations subcommittee released it, did not mention losses by the South Vietnamese and U.S. forces in Viet Nam.

South Vietnamese losses are listed at around 20,000 killed. U.S. personnel killed are counted currently at a little more than 300.

Johnson predicted better days ahead for the South Vietnamese, saying:

"Improvements in the professional competence of Vietnamese officers, improvements in the sub-sector advisory system, and improvements in the actions of the popular forces all encourage us to think that the Vietnamese will be better able to defend themselves and to cope more effectively with the infiltration from the north than has been the case in the past."

'Sluggishness Overtaking Ground War'

By PETER ARNETT

Qui Nhon, Viet Nam (AP) — A military inertia has settled across Binh Dinh, one of the largest and highly populated provinces in South Viet Nam.

Communist attacks and harassment have isolated every district town from its neighbor in this province some 270 miles north of Saigon. The Communists may have permanently blocked Highways 1 and 19 and the north-south railway, the only land links with the outside world.

The government has abandoned one district, An Lao, scene of a series of disastrous military setbacks for the government in December. The 41st Regiment was sent into An Lao under orders not to take any casualties. The commander carried out his orders well, but lost the valley.

Standing Joke

The 41st Regiment clearing Highway 1 up to the town of Bong Son moved less than a mile in three weeks. Its progress became sort of a standing joke in Binh Dinh but not to its U.S. advisers.

"The regimental commander has been playing cards with his officers for a week and we have dozens of reports that the Viet Cong are moving in," a U.S. adviser radioed his superior in Qui Nhon. "What can I do?"

When the regiment finally moved it was clobbered by Viet Cong guerrillas, who had plenty of time to assemble. The regiment pulled back.

A 1,300-man unit, part of South Viet Nam's strategic reserve, was dispatched hurriedly to Binh Dinh early in February to seek out Viet Cong who had carried out a series of devastating raids.

'Going In Circles'

They left Bong Son with U.S. Marine advisers. As one Marine exclaimed, a maze of conflicting orders "had us turning in circles at first, then following a straight line and finally coming to a dead halt." The heavily equipped unit finally was ordered back to Bong Son.

U.S. advisers say several more districts could be lost soon. Most critical are Vinh Thanh, where only a small airstrip is held by government troops, and Hoai Nhon, where only a handful of popular forces — the people's militia —holds the district office.

Bong Son itself is being eaten away. An infantry battalion and the marines are holding only the town and the airfield. U.S. advisers say 1,000 popular forces men at Bong Son have defected to the Viet Cong in recent months, 300 others were killed or captured and only 250 remain.

Still Await Orders

The mountain town of An Khe, a key to Route 19, is seriously threatened. Several battalions of airborne infantry and rangers were flown in to clear the highway but at last reports were still waiting for orders to move.

U.S. advisers say much of the trouble in Binh Dinh is the reluctance of the 22nd Division, which administers the province militarily, to take a firm stand.

As the situation grows worse in Binh Dinh, air strikes are flown over populated areas.

Levels Village

A U.S. pilot back from a raid said: "I killed 40 Viet Cong today. That's the number they told me were in the village, anyway, and I leveled it."

Measures are used against civilian demonstrators organized by the Viet Cong. One demonstration near Bong Son was dispersed with artillery fire.

The casualty toll among civilians must be enormous. This reporter saw 20 wounded women and children carried on to Bong Son airstrip.

A deluge of refugees has started. Pressed on by the encroaching Viet Cong, air strikes and the artillery, 60,000 refugees have poured into Qui Nhon and safe district towns. This is nearly a tenth of the population.

Many refugees try to board U.S. planes at airstrips. Some are taken. Most are left behind.

The long-range plan of the Viet Cong in Binh Dinh seems to be to knock off the districts one by one, giving them a long coastline for supply and a pivotal position to swing either north or south. Their offensive began late last November.

The Vietnamese government appears to have found no answer yet to the problem. The population lives in fear, the army is listless, military leaders vacillate and U.S. advisers are disheartened.

Only the Viet Cong appear to be lively in Binh Dinh.

RFK Blasts Unit's Hoffa Expose Talk

Washington (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., blasted a Senate judiciary subcommittee Wednesday for spreading what he called a false implication he had acted improperly while attorney general.

He accused Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., the subcommittee chairman, of adding to this impression and said heatedly:

"I think the practices of this committee might well be studied."

The senator appeared at his own request to answer under oath an accusation by a witness Tuesday that Kennedy, while heading the Justice Department, had attempted to promote a magazine expose of Teamsters President James R. Hoffa who was under indictment at the time.

Hoffa has accused Kennedy of conducting a personal vendetta against him.

The witness was Thomas A. Bolan, New York attorney, who said he found a memo in Life magazine files on the incident.

Bolan testified he had subpoenaed the files in an effort to determine whether the government had played any part in an article the magazine carried on his law partner, Roy M. Cohn, while Cohn was under indictment.

Bolan claimed the Justice Department had collaborated in the article's preparation.

Both Kennedy, in comments to newsmen Tuesday, and Life editor Edward K. Thompson denied the interpretation Bolan had put on the memo.

When Kennedy appeared Wednesday he said the subcommittee had "allowed to go out over the country the implication that I had done something improper as attorney general."

And Long, Kennedy said; bolstered this implication by his remarks after Bolan's testimony Tuesday. Long said he was "shocked" and that it is "obvious that the Department of Justice was attempting to try cases in the press."

Kennedy denied he had attempted to instigate any article on Hoffa. Instead, he said, he only tried to put a Teamsters Union official "who was giving the Justice Department information on corruption in the union" in touch with Life magazine.

The official was Sam Baron, Kennedy said, and Baron feared his life was in danger "and felt that he wanted to have his story told if anything happened to him."

Kennedy said he only attempted to put Baron in contact with the Magazine so Baron could make his story known.

"Baron was beaten up by Mr. Hoffa and broke completely with the union" more than a year later," Kennedy said, adding no article was published until then.

War In Viet Nam Has Been Slowly Escalating Since 1954

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press International

The increasing cost in American lives and money of the war in South Viet Nam has led in the United States to a rising chorus of dismay and frustration.

American voices, many of them influential, ask why we are there in the first place, involved in a war which we seem unable to win and from which we seem equally unable to disengage with honor.

The word "escalation" has become a popular one in any discussion of Viet Nam. But the fact is that escalation is not a possibility in Viet Nam, but a reality. It has been moving upward, sometimes almost imperceptibly, since 1954.

The question now is how close to the point of no return the escalator may have gone.

The fear is that the war in South Viet Nam now may escalate further into a major conflict between the United States and Red China.

Origin 20 Years Ago

Whether the United States is to risk such a war is the lonely decision of President Johnson. But the origin of his problem goes back 20 years.

United States involvement in Southeast Asia dates back to before the end of World War II on a scale which has been escalating ever since.

At the outset this involvement meant the expenditure of huge sums of American dollars as the United States sought to build up the economies of countries formerly held by the colonial powers and to convince them of the value of democratic institutions and free enterprise.

Colonialists Pressured

The Japanese still were occupying Viet Nam when the late President Roosevelt urged France, the nominal colonial power in Indochina, to reach agreement with Vietnamese nationalists who were demanding freedom. The nationalists were led by Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh.

The United States pressed the Dutch to surrender Indonesia to Indonesian nationalists led by Sukarno.

The U.S. encouraged Britain to give up Pakistan, India, Burma, Ceylon and Malaya.

For each of these the United States assumed a moral obligation.

But U.S. policy has not always been consistent and at times has appeared contradictory, especially since 1950.

Policy: Isolate China

It was in 1950, with the advent of the Korean War, that U.S. over-all Asia policy dedicated itself to isolation of Red China.

Increasingly the awesome U.S. economic and military strength became a political weapon. And increasingly, as political and economic arguments failed to halt Red Chinese encroachment, the United States sought to apply the persuasion of its military might.

Thus today the United States finds itself spending $2 million a day on a military effort in South Viet Nam which is being hamstrung by South Vietnamese failure to achieve political stability.

American military advisers have increased in number from an official 685 in 1954 to more than 23,000 in 1965, or one for approximately every 30 South Vietnamese involved in the war effort.

And for the second time in 15 years, the United States finds itself in a collision course with Red China.

'Nationalism Trampler'

Increasingly, among the nations it has sought to help, the charge is brought that in its determination to isolate Red China, the United States tramples on the legitimate nationalism of others.

It is a charge heavily exploited by the Red Chinese.

The United States spent about $500 million to bolster the economy of Indonesia only to have Sukarno declare "to hell with your aid" and draw closer to Red China.

Pakistan was one of the original members of the U.S.-sponsored Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO), and U.S. economic aid to Pakistan totals nearly $2 billion. But President Ayub Khan saw SEATO as a defense against India, and, when the United States gave military aid to India against Chinese invasion, Khan also moved closer to the Red Chinese.

By Buddhists Too

The charge that the U.S. tramples legitimate nationalism also is brought by Buddhist leaders in South Viet Nam.

Cambodian chief of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk canceled U.S. aid because he sees Red China as the eventual dominant power in Asia.

Similar feelings govern Burma's lukewarm relations with the United States.

Thailand, sheltered by Laos, remains firmly linked with the West and especially the United States.

But Thailand has warned that conditions could arise where she, too, would be forced to seek accommodation with Red China.

Laos Tied In

Linked with the deteriorating situation in South Viet Nam is Laos.

In 1956, the then secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, thundered that "neutrality . . . has increasingly become an obsolete conception and, except under very exceptional circumstances, it is an immoral and shortsighted conception."

And in Laos, after the Geneva treaty of 1954, the United States had attempted to establish a strong right-wing pro-Western government and to eliminate Communist influence represented by the Pathet Lao.

The attempt proved to be a $350 million disappointment.

With United States support, right-wing forces twice overthrew neutralist Laotian governments.

In 1960, Russian military aid and Communist-trained forces of the Viet Minh from North Viet Nam began flowing to the aid of the Pathet Lao.

Loyalists Won't Fight

The U.S.-trained loyalist forces lacked the will to fight, and eventually the Pathet Lao and their allies controlled two-thirds of the country.

Today Laotian and U.S. warplanes bomb the supply lines through Laos which the Communists use to feed their forces in South Viet Nam.

Blast At Omaha Fire Injures Five

. . . Firemen Not Seriously Hurt

Omaha (AP)—Five firemen were injured, none apparently seriously, Wednesday when an explosion occurred as firemen were wetting down a warehouse fire north of the Omaha business district.

A hospital spokesman said one of the five, Robert Anderson, was dismissed after treatment. The other four were reported in satisfactory condition.

A sixth fireman, Battalion Chief Joseph Phalen, was injured Tuesday night when he fell near the burning building. The hospital said he was dismissed after treatment.

The fire destroyed the L and M Paper company and a warehouse annex rented by the Interstate Glass Company. Another warehouse was damaged by smoke and water.

No estimate of the loss was available and the cause had not been determined. However, Phalen said the blaze apparently started in the paper company warehouse section, then spread to the section used by the glass concern.

The fire was discovered about 7:30 Tuesday night and it was about three hours before firemen could contain it in sub-freezing weather.

Fricke Urges Enlarged Water Research Plan

Washington (AP)—Spokesmen for farmers and universities Wednesday recommended enlargement of the federal water-research program.

They voiced unanimous support at the windup session of a two-day Senate Interior Subcommittee hearing on a bill to expand research on water problems.

The bill would increase water-research authorizations from the present $1 million a year to $10 million annually. It also would utilize universities other than land grant colleges in the water-research program.

Milton H. Fricke of Papillion, Neb., chairman of the National Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts Water Resources Committee, said he was testifying for two million farmers in nearly 3,000 soil and water conservation districts. He said:

"Conservation and wise management of available water supplies are imperative if we are to have enough water for our essential uses, and . . . research is the key to the achievement of these objectives."

New Dogs Are Taught Prisoners' Old Tricks

Maidens, Va. (AP)— Signs of spring were peeping out and A. McIlwaine and R. Booker agreed it was a good day to tawe a walk — away from their convict road gang.

But nearby an unusual class was in session — state police dog retraining with emphasis on tracking.

The dogs learned their lesson well whereas McIlwaine and Booker — recaptured within the hour — chalked up a total failure.

Moonlighting Mayor

Parma, Italy (AP)—Marco Botti has taken on an additional job as janitor of the grade school in the nearby Appennine mountain town of Albareto. He said the salary from his other job—mayor of the community of 3,500 population—did not give him enough money to support his wife and seven children.

Red Meat Output Shows 4% Decline

Commercial red meat production in Nebraska during January totaled 211 million pounds, down 4% from a year earlier but 20% above the 5-year (1959-63) January average, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported Wednesday.

Cattle slaughter totaled 250,000 head, compared with 229,000 a year ago. Average live weight of 1,063 pounds was 23 pounds lighter than the previous January.

The hog slaughter increased 24% from the same month last year, to 338,000 head.

The calf kill totaled 2,400 head, compared with 500 a year ago, and the sheep and lamb slaughter declined 22% to 95,500 head.

Omaha Council Fails To Endorse Housing Measure

Omaha (AP) — A fair housing bill approached a public hearing in the Legislature Thursdy without endorsement by the city with the largest Negro population, Omaha.

The Omaha City Council voted 4 to 3 against endorsing a bill by Sen. Edward Danner of Omaha.

Councilman Warren Swigart protested a move to endorse the bill, saying it was made on short notice and he had not studied it. He joined Al Veys, H. F. Jacobberger and Stephen Novak in voting against it.

The bill would prohibit discrimination in the sale or rental of property on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin or ancestry.

MAIL SERVICE 'STINKS,' SAYS CUNNINGHAM

Washington (UPI) — Rep. Glenn Cunningham, ranking Republican on the House Postal Operations Subcommittee, thinks mail service "stinks" and should be investigated by Congress.

The Nebraska lawmaker said he had asked subcommittee Chairman Thaddeus J. Dulski, D-N.Y., to resume hearings on mail service that were held last year.

"I do so because the service is getting worse and worse in spite of the fancy talk by Post Office Department officials," Cunningham said in a statement. He said he had received a "heavy volume" of mail service complaints from his constituents.

"The big wheels of the Post Office Department can say all they want to about how great our mail service is," he said. "But the facts speak for themselves. In short the service given today by our Post Office Department stinks."

Martin Planning Nebraska Visit

Washington (AP)—Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb., plans to return to Nebraska Thursday for several scheduled appearances.

He will attend a retail lumbermen's convention in Omaha late Thursday and address the Nebraska Non-Stock Beet Growers Association in Scottsbluff Friday night. After speaking at a luncheon in Alliance Saturday, he will appear with Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., that night at a meeting in Oshkosh.

Martin plans to leave North Platte, Neb., Sunday for Washington.

Hastings—The Rev. Donald McCall of St. Paul, Minn., will deliver the sermon at the Hastings College chapel service Thursday morning.

The Rev. McCall is a 1954 graduate of Hastings College, and a sociology major. He attended Princeton Theological Seminary and is currently working on his doctorate's in sociology.

Farnham Meets In Secrecy With Fritz' Brothers

Akron, Ohio (UPI)—Omaha attorney Harry Farnham arrived here Wednesday and immediately went into a secret meeting with two brothers of Lawrence Bader, the long-missing Akron salesman.

Farnham was believed attempting to arrange a meeting between Omaha television personality John (Fritz) Johnson, who has been identified as the missing Larry Bader, and his Akron family.

Mrs. Richard Bader, wife of one of Larry's two brothers, said Farnham had arrived and was meeting with the two brothers at an undisclosed location.

Attorneys Raymond McGowan and Charles Scanlon, who represented the Bader family, said they had no knowledge of the meeting.

Earlier, Richard and John Bader said they had no plans to meet with Farnham.

It was revealed about three weeks ago that Johnson was actually Larry Bader, the Akron salesman who vanished May 15, 1957, after taking a fishing boat out on Lake Erie.

Bader left his pregnant wife Mary Lou and three children in Akron. He turned up three days later in Omaha and later married a pretty model. They have two children.

Fingerprints and personal identification definitely established that Johnson was the missing Ohioan.

Dr. Weisel, 67, Fairbury, Dies

Fairbury—Funeral services for Dr. Ben O. Weisel, 67, will be at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Presbyterian Church.

A retired dentist, Dr. Weisel began practicing here in 1919. His son, George, joined the practice in 1949.

Dr. Weisel was a charter member of the Kiwanis Club and active in Masonic organizations.

Surviving are his wife, Ruth; son, Dr. George; and daughter, Dr. Mary Weisel of the University Hospital at Iowa City, Iowa.

Stockgrowers Favor Income Or Sales Tax

Brownlee (AP)—A poll of members of the Nebraska Stockgrowers Association showed 92% of them in favor of relieving state property taxes by adoption of a sales or income tax or combination tax, association president Forrest Lee of Brownlee reported Wednesday.

As a result of the response, Lee said he will ask representatives of the organization to appear in support of some of the tax bills to be heard by the Legislature's Revenue Committee next week.

The association has not previously taken a position in favor of a sales or income tax bill.

"With agriculture in the position it is today, with narrow margins and losses, we realize that there will have to be some relief from property taxes," Lee said.

1,200 Expected During Omaha Stock Conference

Omaha (UPI)—A crowd of approximately 1,200 is expected for the 17th annual livestock conference Thursday at Omaha's Union Stockyards.

General topics slated for discussion include "Cattle Futures, and Futures Cattle" and "Building the Livestock Industry through Teamwork." All sessions will be held in the Livestock Exchange building, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

The conference is sponsored annually by the Omaha Chamber of Commerce.

Glenn Andersen, of the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, will highlight the Thursday morning program with a discussion on the importance and effect of cattle futures and dressed beef futures to the beef industry.

Blast At Omaha Fire Injures Five

. . . Firemen Not Seriously Hurt

Omaha (AP)—Five firemen were injured, none apparently seriously, Wednesday when an explosion occurred as firemen were wetting down a warehouse fire north of the Omaha business district.

A hospital spokesman said one of the five, Robert Anderson, was dismissed after treatment. The other four were reported in satisfactory condition.

A sixth fireman, Battalion Chief Joseph Phalen, was injured Tuesday night when he fell near the burning building. The hospital said he was dismissed after treatment.

The fire destroyed the L and M Paper company and a warehouse annex rented by the Interstate Glass Company. Another warehouse was damaged by smoke and water.

No estimate of the loss was available and the cause had not been determined. However, Phalen said the blaze apparently started in the paper company warehouse section, then spread to the section used by the glass concern.

The fire was discovered about 7:30 Tuesday night and it was about three hours before firemen could contain it in sub-freezing weather.

Not A One-Sided World

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Your point of view—that's the thing which decides in large measure where you stand on issues of the day. Take, for instance, the case of the 14-year-old boy who was suspended from classes at a junior high school in Maryland. The suspension came as a result of the young man's haircut, which appeared in a picture accompanying the account to be about what you see these days on a good many young men.

To view this situation in the proper perspective, you have to understand that this is not a radical kind of haircut. It is not the long flowing locks kind of haircut which leaves you wondering if the hairdo belongs to a boy or a girl. For our money, the long locks boys, prominent among TV singing (*) groups these days, have slipped a cog somewhere along the line. But the boy in Maryland has what appears to be a fairly average haircut, with one exception. He has his hair combed down over the forehead in a kind of wide bangs style.

Bangs For This Boy

Now, this is not the kind of hair style that most parents today exactly cotton to but in this world of youthful fads, it is best not to make too many big cases out of relatively unimportant events. So, a lot of parents groan a little and go along with the bangs idea, even though they think their boy looks like one of the Three Stooges.

Before we are misunderstood, it is not meant to imply that parents should groan and go along with everything. A parent has got to be selective these days in those things with which they will put up and those things on which they put their foot down.

The Maryland parents of the suspended boy probably are not wild about their son's hair style but they have not stopped it. Now that the school authorities have taken a strong stand, the parents, too, have gotten on their high horse. The parents intend to protest the suspension to the county school board involved. It isn't hard to imagine the kind of federal case that could evolve here if it is permitted to get out of hand. Have the Maryland parents made a wise or unwise decision? Probably unwise, although it will all depend upon your own point of view. No doubt they want to impress upon their boy the marvels of freedom, of living in a democracy (a republic, to the technicians). They want to try to show their boy that the state in these United States cannot rough up the personal life of a citizen, that one is free to live as he pleases.

They would like to have a son who stands up for his rights, who is willing to do battle when he is challenged beyond a point of compromise he cannot accept. That is all fine for one side of the story, but what about the other side? What they want, too, is a son who knows it is a pluralistic society in which he lives, who knows that there are laws and regulation with which you have to comply and authority you must respect for the sake of the welfare of people as a whole. He must understand that his rights carry with them certain responsibilities and that they never include the privilege of doing anything at the sacrifice of the welfare and well being of others.

Why is it, for instance, that the superintendent of schools suspended this boy from classes? Just because the superintendent doesn't like hair combed in bangs over the forehead? Very unlikely. More likely because that style of hair contributes, in the eyes of the superintendent, to a pattern of social behavior which is unwholesome.

No Personal Action

It might well have been much wiser for the parents to find out why the haircut constituted grounds for suspension. Then, they might have wanted to explain to their son that when he was a party to something which had an adverse effect upon society as a whole, it was incumbent upon him to divorce himself from this particular thing.

They might have tried to explain to him that the action taken against him by school authorities was not at all personal but rather, a part of the therapy and necessity of certain minimum levels of discipline. They might have tried to explain that in the long-run, the disciplines by which we live are a large part of the foundation of the freedoms that we enjoy. In part, the act of cutting or restyling his hair contributes to the very existence of the school where he is being educated and his opportunity to pursue academic excellence in even competition with others of his age group.

He is assured of an orderly classroom environment, of qualified teachers and an adequate physical plant. Then perhaps, the boy might even want to get his hair cut.

Virgin Islands No Longer Poorhouse

EN ROUTE THROUGH THE CARIBBEAN—Carrying out President Johnson's idea of spending U.S. dollars on the beautiful scenery of the USA, I write today about one of our greatest tourist attractions, a three-hour flight from New York—the Virgin Islands.

I must confess a certain amount of personal prejudice regarding these islands, because my father, Paul M. Pearson, was their first civilian governor. He took over when they were a ragtag, down-at-the-heel, unknown set of islands which President Herbert Hoover called an "effective poorhouse."

Mr. Hoover was, of course right. We had purchased the islands from Denmark in 1917 because we feared the Kaiser would take over the wonderful natural harbor of St. Thomas as a submarine base. But having purchased the Virgins we did nothing about them for the next 15 years, and in 1931 the efficient Mr. Hoover would have liked to turn them back to the Danes—free.

Little did he realize—nor did most people—that the azure blue of the Caribbean, the quaint streets of St. Thomas, the pristine beauty of St. John, and the palm-studded beaches of St. Croix would be worth millions of tourist dollars.

Today, the first civilian governor, were he alive, would have no difficulty recognizing the beautiful bathing beaches, the quaint streets, the roads curving around the hilltops of the islands which he loved. But he would not recognize the new hotels, the glamorous restaurants, the night clubs, the throngs of tourists.

He would rub his eyes at the giant airport of St. Croix, to which Pan American operates nonstop jets from New York, cutting the travel time down from four days by steamship to three hours by air.

And he would be especially delighted with the small island of St. John. It had a population of 700 people when father was governor, and its population is not much more than that today. This is one of its charms. In Cancel bay you can snorkel for a mile or so watching the rainbow-colored fish, the coral, the sand made emerald green by the sunlight and the water.

The old stone sugar mills, which brought slavery and prosperity to the island more than one hundred years ago, still stand. But their windmills spin no more and the line of donkeys carrying cane up to their maws moves no more. Cane is cultivated now only on the bigger island of St. Croix, and there is another kind of prosperity on St. John.

It has now been made a national park, thanks to the generosity of Laurence Rockefeller and to the foresight of the first civilian governor, who saw that the Virgin Islands, then an effective poorhouse, could become the most attractive American playground in the Caribbean.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: Please discuss muscular twitching and jerking around the eye and mouth, and back to one ear. I am afraid this causes my severe headaches and the numbness on that side of my head.—N.U.

I can give you a number of possibilities. It is highly probable that you will need a lot of help from your doctor in identifying the correct cause, but it will be worth the time and effort.

Molner

This twitching (tic) is often dismissed as being a habit developed by nervous or neurotic individuals. And so, indeed, it sometimes is. But there are also other and quite different causes.

There are cases in which such tics give evidence of being an aftermath of certain types of encephalitis or inflammation of the brain.

Neuralgia of the facial nerve can cause twitching of both the mouth and eye, since branches of this nerve serve both areas.

In a good many cases (and probably from widely differing causes) attacks of the twitching can be touched off by fatigue, by emotional excitement, and sometimes even by vigorous use of the facial muscles. Hard chewing is one example.

Some nervous individuals quite unconsciously tense their facial muscles to the point of fatigue and pain, and both the twitching and headaches could be related to this. Muscle tension, in fact, is a very common cause of headaches, the so-called tension headache.

Malocclusion, a faulty bite of the teeth, can be a contributor to such tension, and dental correction sometimes is a fundamental treatment.

So the problem can become quite complicated and may require investigation of more than one of the factors we've discussed.

Dear Dr. Molner: My son is 11 and has a septal defect, a small hole in his heart. Is there any treatment, medicine or radium that can be given to correct this? — MRS. H. M.

Nothing that can be given, but this type of defect is often readily repaired by surgery. Your physician would have to decide whether there is need for this.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: Our son started walking at about a year old, with both feet toeing inward. He is two now and still walks that way. We bought him some shoes to help him walk straight, as suggested by friends. He walked straighter and fell less. The doctor recently checked his feet and legs and said they were straight and that he didn't need special shoes. So now he is wearing regular shoes again but with his feet turned inward, and he falls often. I am worried. Could you advise me?—MRS. B. W.

It is common for toddlers to toe in—the feet are naturally flat and this position is more comfortable.

If you are still concerned, possibly an examination by an orthopedist is in order, but from what you tell me I suspect that this boy is quite normal and his feet will straighten out automatically rather soon.

Dear Dr. Molner: Do certain fruits cause hives? I had a crop of itching hives especially in the evening, after eating peaches, melons and plums, and drinking grape juice. Baking soda seems to help the itching but does not stop the hives.—T. J. B.

Fruit (not to mention a lot of other things) can cause hives in some people, but won't bother others at all.

Many people have minor allergies. They do not have hay fever or other severe reactions, but they react in some way (hives being a very frequent one) to certain things they eat: seafood, meats, fruits, vegetables.

You obviously have at least a strong suspicion that fruit (or certain kinds of it) is the culprit in your case. Sometimes such a sensitivity appears only when rather considerable quantites are eaten—things which are in season. For some people it happens with tomatoes, or strawberries or other items. Or melons. Or peaches. Or almost anything imaginable.

Baking soda may ease the itch, but it won't either cure or prevent the hives.

You'll save yourself trouble (and itching) if you accept the fact that avoiding the fruit to which you are sensitive is the only effective cure, or means of prevention.

As the suspected fruits come in season, try them one at a time (otherwise you'll never be certain). If hives follows one of thsee fruits, you have three choices: Avoid it entirely; or experiment and see whether you can stand just a little without a reaction; or have hives.

Dear Dr. Molner: When a person takes three tranquilizers a day, also some phenobarbital tablets, some aspirin, and smokes to excess, am I in error in wondering how anyone could possibly feel well? Some of this is prescribed by a doctor. — I. B.

No, you are not in error. The three medications all have their excellent uses, but the degree of sedation you describe rarely is necessary. The three often tend to have a compounding effect, so together the impact is greater than if they were taken separately. The net result probably is that the reason for which the medication was prescribed in the first place is not being solved.

Dr. Molner is delighted to receive letters from his readers but regrets that because of the great number received daily he cannot answer them individually. Whenever possible, Dr. Molner uses readers' questions in his column.

More Than One Test

The Norfolk Daily News has taken issue with the Legislature over its defeat of a bill to abolish the property tax and substitute a $10 head tax. It argues that the property tax is not much good and that the head tax is as simple a tax as could be devised.

We can disagree with neither of these thoughts but are moved to point out that they do not constitute the whole story. Simplicity is only one of several measures to be applied against the consideration of any form of taxation.

The offsetting factor in the case of the head tax has been well pointed out by Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, chairman of the Legislature's Budget Committee. He voted against killing the property tax and substituting the head tax because the latter is regressive.

That is, such a tax is totally unrelated to ability to pay, falls much more heavily upon the lower income groups and much more lightly on higher income groups. The best tax has three parts—it is simple, it is fair and it raises the required amount of money.

No tax yet thought of by man meets all three criteria 100 percent but some taxes come a lot closer to meeting all three criteria than others. The head tax scores high on simplicity, very low on fairness and only mediocre, if that good, in producing the required amount of money.

A head tax is strictly a rich man's dream as it puts him in the same tax bracket or slot with the poor man. The Legislature's action in this matter was highly commendable.

Latin American Aid

Foreign aid as a principle is taking a heavy beating these days. But there seems to be exceptions.

The other day the House of Representatives voted 288 to 97 to approve the administration's request for $750 million to further pursue the ends of the Latin American Alliance For Progress.

This was doubly impressive inasmuch as the vote was cast on the heels of stringent action by President Johnson to reduce the outflow of U.S. dollars to protect the nation's dwindling gold reserve. Obviously the House felt there were better places than the Alliance for Progress to cutback funds.

The feeling was due to the signs of real progress in upbuilding the economic and social levels under the direction of the Alliance. The new relationship was proposed by the late President Kennedy.

For a time the alliance looked as though it was on its way to an early death. But in recent years it has gained a better lease on life. Latin American governments are getting down to the job of collecting taxes from those with the ability to pay. And they are making encouraging headway in the redistribution of land. These are things which are essential for a resurgent Latin America which no earlier program could get done. Even more, under the Alliance wealthy Latin Americans are bringing their wealth back from so-called safe places in Europe and are investing in new businesses calculated to add to employment and to get the Latin American economies rolling in higher gear. These changes have had their effect on the thinking of Congress and largely explain how the new funds were so easy to come by.

The Way To Do It

We have just learned with satisfaction about Sidney, the town that has a municipal self-starter. While other Nebraska towns were pausing to argue over the merits of the federal vocational retraining program, Sidney quietly went ahead. It converted installations of the World War II ordinance center into housekeeping apartments and soon had the Sidney Occupational Training Center going full blast, receiving federal aid in keeping with the national administration's effort toward full employment by retraining persons whose skills became obsolete.

A similar orderly and purposeful approach has been shown by McCook which has gone about establishing a Job Corps Conservation center. McCook learned something in general about the federal effort in behalf of underprivileged youth as exemplified in the new anti-poverty program. It noted that it had available housing for a youth center. With that it assembled more than a score of community action people and invited Governor Frank Morrison to explain the program. The governor visited McCook taking with him Ron Jensen, state coordinator for the program, and Byron Dunn, of the game and fish department.

The questions were all answered. McCook would be an ideal location. The young men who would be sent there to participate in the program would divide their time between educational pursuits and work at conservation tasks. There is plenty to do out there in the Republican River Valley. Reclamation has already conserved the water and stopped the flooding. The water impoundments are already attracting recreation minded people. There is need for more beautification. McCook now knows the dimensions of its program and is happy with the prospect. It is providing needed opportunity for any number of young Americans. It will benefit in any number of ways in the future, including growth and finer recreational facilities.

Spacemen's Housekeeping Is Heavy With Problems

NEW YORK — She's only a little lady, but she's got an enormous task.

How to get astronauts on 30-day or longer space missions to eat properly, breathe clean air, wash their hands before supper — and keep from becoming furious.

After all, astronauts are human. If you feed them pureed peas and baby-mashed beef from tubes for a month, they are not going to be happy.

"To nourish an astronaut is one thing," says 28-year-old biochemist Thelma Adamson. "You give him Metrecal and let it go at that." But a Metrecal-fed astronaut is not necessarily a satisfied astronaut, so Thelma is experimenting on such dinners as shrimp cocktail, beef with gravy, crab Newburg with toast, butterscotch pudding and brownies. "That's another story. The boys are highly enthusiastic."

☆ ☆ ☆

Miss Adamson's title is associate scientist in life-support studies at the Lockheed Missiles & Space Co. She provides the "woman's touch" in the highly meticulous business of planning the housekeeping problems which will come up soon when our first astronauts begin their month-long space flights.

"Many of the problems we've mastered already. For example, there's the problem of personal hygiene. We've worked out a one-quarter-inch-thick sponge cloth, wetted with a dilute detergent which will allow the men to give themselves daily sponge baths.

"Cleaning the teeth seemed to be a problem for awhile. When you brush your teeth the conventional way, you have to keep your mouth open—and toothpaste lather floats out into the air. But on a long mission, an electric toothbrush, with a minimum of paste, will work while the man's mouth stays shut.

"About shaving, and haircutting. We've arranged for a razor with a little vacuum cleaner attached to pick up the bristles."

When the vacuum bag needs dumping—on extra-long flights? "Well, in a case like that," says Miss Adamson, "or in any emergency—such as fire, or if a man gets sick and throws up—we've arranged to get the residue out of the craft. You see, the air in the space craft is one-half atmosphere, and the air outside is complete vacuum. By opening a little outlet, the foreign particles can be sucked out."

To keep body odors from contaminating the hygenic air inside the astronauts' cabin, special deodorants have been prepared without perfume or alcohol, "because perfume or alcohol would overburden the contaminant removal system."

"Simple little towelettes are sufficient for the washing job," she smiled, "because the chance of an astronaut's getting dirty — as we do on earth—are limited. There is almost nothing inside the capsule to dirty you.

Wanting Answers

Lincoln, Neb.

Orchids to Election Commissioner Miss Holcomb and to Public Relations Executive Carroll Thompson. Miss Holcomb suggests that a subtitle be added to the wording of the April 6 city and county ballots so that the voters can better understand the issue. And Mr. Thompson expresses the belief that "city government has an obligation to make things clear to the public." The citizens heartily approve of those sentiments.

The ballots as written do not state the fundamental question. The city ballot mentions the construction of a city hall; the county ballot mentions the construction of a courthouse. However, numerous discussions, printed and oral, have filled our minds with such terms as "city-county building," "building complex" and others. One legal pronouncement declares that if either ballot fails, the other government may not go ahead with building. Just what are we getting if we approve those bonds?

As we see it, the basic issue is: Shall the people of Lincoln build their own separate city hall? Shall the people of Lancaster County build their own separate courthouse? Or—shall the people of the two argue join together to construct a city-county building? This is the fundamental issue and the people should decide.

Also, we want to know whether each government will really maintain its own identity, or whether consolidation is ahead.

In view of the fact that these bonds are to run for 20 years, in the minimum sum of $5 million, we ask: What law guarantees that the governments will adhere to the plans they have started?

10th And J Site

Lincoln, Neb.

It has been said that the location of the city-county building is more important than the building itself. This could very well be true. It therefore behooves the people of Lincoln and Lancaster County to make sure that this time the building be located in the area providing the most benefits and advantages to the people as a whole. Let's not have a repetition of the mistake made with the auditorium. Let's make sure that this building is situated in an easily accessible area where public parking can be adequately provided and where the cost of land for the site is not excessive. Obviously the logical choice is the 10th and J site.

We cannot justify the 15th and O location merely because, in the opinion of some individuals, it would provide a so-called showplace for out-of-town visitors. There is no reason why the city-county building cannot be fully as beautiful and every bit as impressive to visitors at the 10th and J location.

We should not be swayed by the downtown interests who, of course, prefer the 15th and O site and would profit from it. We should select the site that will be the most practical from the standpoint of utilization as well as economy.

There are those who would have us believe that a building on the 10th and J site would be highly depreciated even before completion. This, of course, is debatable. We should remember that this building is not to be constructed for the purpose of speculation on the real estate market. Its sole purpose is to provide facilities for the city and county officials to serve the people of Lincoln and Lancaster County. Under these circumstances, the only depreciation involved would be that which is due to normal wear and tear resulting from usage and would be unaffected by location. If past experience is any criterion, the building will probably still be serving its purpose long after it is fully depreciated.

With one-way streets north, south and east, the 10th and J site certainly provides easy accessibility and the cost of the additional land required would without a doubt be substantially less than the cost of an adequate site at 15th and O.

It would truly be a sad commentary on our judgment if we failed to select the 10th and J site with its substantial advantages. We will soon have an opportunity to express ourselves on the ballot. Let's take full advantage of it.

Approves Decision

Lincoln, Neb.

Congratulations are in order to our mayor, Dean Petersen, and to Mrs. Helen Boosalis, Lloyd Hinkley and John Comstock for their courageous stand voting against the transfer of liquor and beer permits to 15th and 17th and South Streets.

We need more people of their type to serve our city. They put principle ahead of money. The locations are entirely too close to schools and hospitals. Thanks to these upstanding people.

Virgin Islands No Longer Poorhouse

EN ROUTE THROUGH THE CARIBBEAN—Carrying out President Johnson's idea of spending U.S. dollars on the beautiful scenery of the USA, I write today about one of our greatest tourist attractions, a three-hour flight from New York—the Virgin Islands.

I must confess a certain amount of personal prejudice regarding these islands, because my father, Paul M. Pearson, was their first civilian governor. He took over when they were a ragtag, down-at-the-heel, unknown set of islands which President Herbert Hoover called an "effective poorhouse."

Mr. Hoover was, of course right. We had purchased the islands from Denmark in 1917 because we feared the Kaiser would take over the wonderful natural harbor of St. Thomas as a submarine base. But having purchased the Virgins we did nothing about them for the next 15 years, and in 1931 the efficient Mr. Hoover would have liked to turn them back to the Danes—free.

Little did he realize—nor did most people—that the azure blue of the Caribbean, the quaint streets of St. Thomas, the pristine beauty of St. John, and the palm-studded beaches of St. Croix would be worth millions of tourist dollars.

Today, the first civilian governor, were he alive, would have no difficulty recognizing the beautiful bathing beaches, the quaint streets, the roads curving around the hilltops of the islands which he loved. But he would not recognize the new hotels, the glamorous restaurants, the night clubs, the throngs of tourists.

He would rub his eyes at the giant airport of St. Croix, to which Pan American operates nonstop jets from New York, cutting the travel time down from four days by steamship to three hours by air.

And he would be especially delighted with the small island of St. John. It had a population of 700 people when father was governor, and its population is not much more than that today. This is one of its charms. In Caneel bay you can snorkel for a mile or so watching the rainbow-colored fish, the coral, the sand made emerald green by the sunlight and the water.

The old stone sugar mills, which brought slavery and prosperity to the island more than one hundred years ago, still stand. But their windmills spin no more and the line of donkeys carrying cane up to their maws moves no more. Cane is cultivated now only on the bigger island of St. Croix, and there is another kind of prosperity on St. John.

It has now been made a national park, thanks to the generosity of Laurence Rockefeller and to the foresight of the first civilian governor, who saw that the Virgin Islands, then an effective poorhouse, could become the most attractive American playground in the Caribbean.

Spacemen's Housekeeping Is Heavy With Problems

NEW YORK — She's only a little lady, but she's got an enormous task.

How to get astronauts on 30-day or longer space missions, to eat properly, breathe clean air, wash their hands before supper — and keep from becoming furious.

After all, astronauts are human. If you feed them pureed peas and baby-mashed beef from tubes for a month, they are not going to be happy.

"To nourish an astronaut is one thing," says 29-year-old biochemist Thelma Adamson. "You give him Metrecal, and let it go at that." But a Metrecal-fed astronaut is not necessarily a satisfied astronaut, so Thelma is experimenting on such dinners as shrimp cocktail, beef with gravy, crab Newburg with toast, butterscotch pudding and brownies. "That's another story. The boys are highly enthusiastic."

☆ ☆ ☆

Miss Adamson's title is associate scientist in life-support studies at the Lockheed Missiles & Space Co. She provides the "woman's touch" in the highly meticulous business of planning the housekeeping problems which will come up soon when our first astronauts begin their month-long space flights.

"Many of the problems, we've mastered already. For example, there's the problem of personal hygiene. We've worked out a one-quarter-inch-thick sponge cloth, wetted with a dilute detergent which will allow the men to give themselves daily sponge baths.

"Cleaning the teeth seemed to be a problem for awhile. When you brush your teeth the conventional way, you have to keep your mouth open—and toothpaste lather floats out into the air. But on a long mission, an electric toothbrush, with a minimum of paste, will work while the man's mouth stays shut.

"About shaving, and haircutting. We've arranged for a razor with a little vacuum cleaner attached to pick up the bristles."

When the vacuum bag needs dumping—on extra-long flights? "Well, in a case like that," says Miss Adamson, "or in any emergency—such as fire, or if a man gets sick and throws up—we've arranged to get the residue out of the craft. You see, the air in the space craft is one-half atmosphere, and the air outside is complete vacuum. By opening a little outlet, the foreign particles can be sucked out."

To keep body odors from contaminating the hygienic air inside the astronauts' cabin, special deodorants have been prepared without perfume or alcohol, "because perfume or alcohol would overburden the contaminant removal system."

"Simple little toweletties are sufficient for the washing job," she smiled, "because the chance of an astronaut's getting dirty — as we do on earth—are limited. There is almost nothing inside the capsule to dirty you."

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: Please discuss muscular twitching and jerking around the eye and mouth, and back to one ear. I am afraid this causes my severe headaches and the numbness on that side of my head.—N.U.

I can give you a number of possibilities. It is highly probable that you will need a lot of help from your doctor in identifying the correct cause, but it will be worth the time and effort.

Molner

This twitching (tic) is often dismissed as being a habit developed by nervous or neurotic individuals. And so, indeed, it sometimes is. But there are also other and quite different causes.

There are cases in which such tics give evidence of being an aftermath of certain types of encephalitis or inflammation of the brain.

Neuralgia of the facial nerve can cause twitching of both the mouth and eye, since branches of this nerve serve both areas.

In a good many cases (and probably from widely differing causes) attacks of the twitching can be touched off by fatigue, by emotional excitement, and sometimes even by vigorous use of the facial muscles. Hard chewing is one example.

Some nervous individuals quite unconsciously tense their facial muscles to the point of fatigue and pain, and both the twitching and headaches could be related to this. Muscle tension, in fact, is a very common cause of headaches, the so-called tension headache.

Malocclusion, a faulty bite of the teeth, can be a contributor to such tension, and dental correction sometimes is a fundamental treatment.

So the problem can become quite complicated and may require investigation of more than one of the factors we've discussed.

Dear Dr. Molner: My son is 11 and has a septal defect, a small hole in his heart. Is there any treatment, medicine or radium that can be given to correct this? — MRS. H. M.

☆ ☆ ☆

Nothing that can be given, but this type of defect is often readily repaired by surgery. Your physician would have to decide whether there is need for this.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: Our son started walking at about a year old, with both feet toeing inward. He is two now and still walks that way. We bought him some shoes to help him walk straight, as suggested by friends. He walked straighter and fell less. The doctor recently checked his feet and legs and said they were straight and that he didn't need special shoes. So now he is wearing regular shoes again but with his feet turned inward, and he falls often. I am worried. Could you advise me?—MRS. B. W.

It is common for toddlers to toe in—the feet are naturally flat and this position is more comfortable.

If you are still concerned, possibly an examination by an orthopedist is in order, but from what you tell me I suspect that this boy is quite normal and his feet will straighten out automatically rather soon.

Dear Dr. Molner: Do certain fruits cause hives? I had a crop of itching hives especially in the evening, after eating peaches, melons and plums, and drinking grape juice. Baking soda seems to help the itching but does not stop the hives.—T. J. B.

Fruit (not to mention a lot of other things) can cause hives in some people, but won't bother others at all.

Many people have minor allergies. They do not have hay fever or other severe reactions, but they react in some way (hives being a very frequent one) to certain things they eat: seafood, meats, fruits, vegetables.

You obviously have at least a strong suspicion that fruit (or certain kinds of it) is the culprit in your case. Sometimes such a sensitivity appears only when rather considerable quantites are eaten—things which are in season. For some people it happens with tomatoes, or strawberries or other items. Or melons. Or peaches. Or almost anything imaginable.

Baking soda may ease the itch, but it won't either cure or prevent the hives.

You'll save yourself trouble (and itching) if you accept the fact that avoiding the fruit to which you are sensitive is the only effective cure, or means of prevention.

As the suspected fruits come in season, try them one at a time (otherwise you'll never be certain). If hives follows one of thsee fruits, you have three choices: Avoid it entirely; or experiment and see whether you can stand just a little without a reaction; or have hives.

Dear Dr. Molner: When a person takes three tranquilizers a day, also some phenobarbital tablets, some aspirin, and smokes to excess, am I in error in wondering how anyone could possibly feel well? Some of this is prescribed by a doctor. — I. B.

No, you are not in error. The three medications all have their excellent uses, but the degree of sedation you describe rarely is necessary. The three often tend to have a compounding effect, so together the impact is greater than if they were taken separately. The net result probably is that the reason for which the medication was prescribed in the first place is not being solved.

Dr. Molner is delighted to receive letters from his readers but regrets that because of the great number received daily he cannot answer them individually. Whenever possible, Dr. Molner uses readers' questions in his column. Copyright, 1965, Pub. Newspaper Synd.

Wanting Answers

Lincoln, Neb.

Orchids to Election Commissioner Miss Holcomb, and to Public Relations Executive Carroll Thompson. Miss Holcomb suggests that a subtitle be added to the wording of the April 6 city and county ballots so that the voters can better understand the issue. And Mr. Thompson expresses the belief that "city government has an obligation to make things clear to the public." The citizens heartily approve of those sentiments.

The ballots as written do not state the fundamental question. The city ballot mentions the construction of a city hall; the county ballot mentions the construction of a courthouse. However, numerous discussions, printed and oral, have filled our minds with such terms as "city-county building," "building complex" and others. One legal pronouncement declares that if either ballot fails, the other government may not go ahead with building. Just what are we getting if we approve those bonds?

As we see it, the basic issue is: Shall the people of Lincoln build their own separate city hall? Shall the people of Lancaster County build their own separate courthouse? Or—shall the people of the two areas join together to construct a city-county building? This is the fundamental issue and the people should decide.

Also, we want to know whether each government will really maintain its own identity, or whether consolidation is ahead.

In view of the fact that these bonds are to run for 20 years, in the minimum sum of $5 million, we ask: What law guarantees that the governments will adhere to the plans they have started?

10th And J Site

Lincoln, Neb.

It has been said that the location of the city-county building is more important than the building itself. This could very well be true. It therefore behooves the people of Lincoln and Lancaster County to make sure that this time the building be located in the area providing the most benefits and advantages to the people as a whole. Let's not have a repetition of the mistake made with the auditorium. Let's make sure that this building is situated in an easily accessible area where public parking can be adequately provided and where the cost of land for the site is not excessive. Obviously the logical choice is the 10th and J site.

We cannot justify the 15th and O location merely because, in the opinion of some individuals, it would provide a so-called showplace for out-of-town visitors. There is no reason why the city-county building cannot be fully as beautiful and every bit as impressive to visitors at the 10th and J location.

We should not be swayed by the downtown interests who, of course, prefer the 15th and O site and would profit from it. We should select the site that will be the most practical from the standpoint of utilization as well as economy.

There are those who would have us believe that a building on the 10th and J site would be highly depreciated even before completion. This, of course, is debatable. We should remember that this building is not to be constructed for the purpose of speculation on the real estate market. Its sole purpose is to provide facilities for the city and county officials to serve the people of Lincoln and Lancaster County. Under these circumstances, the only depreciation involved would be that which is due to normal wear and tear resulting from usage and would be unaffected by location. If past experience is any criterion, the building will probably still be serving its purpose long after it is fully depreciated.

With one-way streets north, south and east, the 10th and J site certainly provides easy accessibility and the cost of the additional land required would without a doubt be substantially less than the cost of an adequate site at 15th and O.

It would truly be a sad commentary on our judgment if we failed to select the 10th and J site with its substantial advantages. We will soon have an opportunity to express ourselves on the ballot. Let's take full advantage of it.

E. O. L.

Approves Decision

Lincoln, Neb.

Congratulations are in order to our mayor, Dean Petersen, and to Mrs. Helen Boosalis, Lloyd Hinkley and John Comstock for their courageous stand voting against the transfer of liquor and beer permits to 13th and 17th and South Streets.

We need more people of their type to serve our city. They put principle ahead of money. The locations are entirely too close to schools and hospitals. Thanks to these upstanding people.

Train Steward Owns Mexican Restaurant

By ROBERT PETERSON

Flying is my favorite mode of travel. But the planes were grounded the other day so I took a train to Philadelphia. There were few people in the dining car when I went back for breakfast, so I got to talking with steward James B. Judd.

After discussing the weather and Viet Nam I asked what he was going to do when he retired.

"That's easy," said Judd, 58, a big, genial grandfather who lives in Jacksonville, Fla., and has been working for the Atlantic Coast Line a quarter of a century, "I've got a little Mexican restaurant waiting for me.

"When our three daughters were grown my wife and I needed something to occupy our leisure. She had a good bit of free time, and I work just four days a week and have weekends to myself.

"We decided to open a small restaurant, so I spent several months during my days off scouting around looking for a location.

"We found just the right spot and four years ago made the plunge. My wife has charge the four days I'm away, and I take over weekends. We specialize in Mexican food such as chili, tamales, enchiladas and such, and have worked up a nice volume."

When I asked where they learned to cook Mexican food, he informed me of a new wrinkle in restaurant food management. It seems there are various processors who supply basic food items all ready to be heated and served to patrons.

"We buy authenttic Mexican food in canned and packaged form from a company in San Antonio, Texas. This way we need neither a chef ner culinary talent, for we just mix, heat and serve. It certainly simplifies running a restaurant.

"It's gratifying having a sideline such as this—not only because it gives us something to do but because it helps supplement family income. It has also solved my retirement problems. I don't expect to have any 'adjustment' problem when I leave the railroad because I'll have a full-time job waiting for me."

This column recently complimented several adventurous middleagers who have turned their backs on dull, unpromising vocations and enrolled in college—despite the fact that they are past 40 years of age.

To spur them on, here's a letter from Dr. John Y. Poong of San Francisco, Calif., who writes, "I had been in ministerial work in Malaysia, and had also done importing and real estate work in the States. Then I became interested in the fact that so many people have foot trouble. Although I was 43 I enrolled in podiatry college. After four years of study I've passed the California State Board exams and I am now happily practicing podiatry—thus proving that new professional careers can indeed begin well after 40."

Solons Move To Retrieve Unclear Bill

The Legislature moved Wednesday to call back and retrieve from Gov. Frank Morrison a bill it recently passed, LB75, introduced by Sen. George Syas of Omaha.

Corrective changes are needed in the language, Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte informed the body.

LB75, introduced at Omaha's requests, permits the inclusion of alleys in grading, curbing, guttering and paving of unpaved gaps in street systems.

Sen. Craft said bonding firms have advised that the language of the statutes involved are not clear enough to permit them to handle the bonds.

Omaha is not involved because it handles financing from a revolving fund, but other cities would be affected, Craft said.

Sen. Ross Rasmussen of Hooper supported Craft, saying he had assured the city of Fremont that the measure could be used by that city, and that as a result of the bond refusal development, "I'm on the spot, too."

Bill Making It Felony To Attack Officer Is Passed

A bill making it a felony to assault or resist any law enforcement officer who is doing his job earned 47-1 final approval in the State Legislature Wednesday and goes next to Gov. Frank Morrison for approval.

Introduced by Omaha Sens. Eugene Mahoney and William F. Skarda Jr., LB100 allows penalties including a fine of up to $500 and imprisonment of up to one year, except that if the offending individual uses a deadly or dangerous weapon in the assault or resistance, the fine may be up to $1,000 and imprisonment may be one to five years.

Other bills passed on final reading Wednesday (E-emergency clause):

LB843—Authorizing the State Railway Commission to spend up to $9,000 for rent or lease of space outside the Capitol. (Budget Committee) (E) (48-0).

LB178—Authorizing Douglas County to hire assistant public defenders and the necessary stenographic help for them. (Danner) (47-2).

LB209—Requiring approval of a majority of the Legislative Council or council committee before a subpoena may be issued in connection with council studies or investigations. (Adamson, Burbach, E. Rasmussen) (49-0).

ROTC Cadet Is Honored At NU

Progress In Mental Health Outlined

By MARY REIFSCHNEIDER
Star Staff Writer

Diagnosis and treatment of emotional problems are much more effective now than they were several decades ago, Dr. Cecil Wittson, dean of the University of Nebraska College of Medicine, said Wednesday night.

Speaking at a public medical forum on "Mind and Emotion of the Adult and Child," Dr. Wittson cited psychiatric drugs, better trained psychiatrists and more efficient state hospitals for a decline in the number of patients in mental institutions.

The number had declined since 1955, both in Nebraska and the nation, Dr. Wittson said. He noted that Nebraska's decline has been greater than the national decrease. But, he said, "We are so far away from being able to apply all we know in treating patients." The basic reason for this, he said, is personnel shortages at all levels.

Panel

Dr. Robert Stein, a Lincoln psychiatrist, Dr. William Brill, psychiatrist at the University of Nebraska Health Center, Dr. Paul Bancroft, pediatrician, and Dr. Elianora Brassard, clinical psychologist, participated in a panel discussion to answer questions from the audience.

Dr. Bancroft said, "Adolescents without stress are sick." Teen-age marriage is not a problem, he said. In Lincoln, the past six-year average has been one married boy in high school and about 25 married girls each year.

Children as well as adults who "act out" are reflecting their inability to tolerate frustrations, Dr Brassard said. She also said that "nervous breakdowns" are not sudden, but rather build up over a period of time.

Symptoms

Dr. Brill said symptoms displayed by those in need of psychiatric care include such things as being unable to hold a job and drinking too much. More important are what the person feels himself and what those close to him observe.

The basic difference between a neurotic and a psychotic is that a neurotic is in contact with reality, Dr. Brill said.

Dr. Stein explained that shock treatments do very little harm to a patient's body today. They are used along with drugs in treating depression or over-activity. Shock treatments probably help restore the chemical balance in a patient; they are also used less today than they were five or ten years ago, he noted.

Several hundred attended Wednesday's meeting. The forum, "For Women Only," postponed Feb. 23, will be held March 23. Next week's forum will be "Arthritis and Rheumatism," with Dr. William D. Paul from the University of Iowa Medical School as speaker.

The forums are sponsored by the Lancaster County Medical Society and The Sunday Journal and Star.

Five NU Juniors Awarded Grants For Europe Study

Five University of Nebraska juniors have been awarded Ford Foundation grants of $1,000 each for study in Europe this summer.

They are Jane Bredenberg, 18, Denton; Carol Sue Hall, 20, Falls City; Susan Rutter, 21, El Paso, Tex.; Margaret D. Osborn, 19, Lincoln, and Ronald M. Paulson, 19, Omaha.

The students, all members of the Nebraska Career Scholars Program, were nominated by faculty members of the departments of the students' major.

Dr. Benjamin McCashland, coordinator of the scholars program, said this brings to 10 the number of University students who have been awarded summer foreign language scholarships by the Ford Foundation.

KUON To Air Nursing Series For Students

Freshman nurses at seven Nebraska and Iowa diploma schools of nursing will study anatomy and physiology next fall through a course to be presented on KUON-TV, the University of Nebraska educational television station.

The 60-lesson series entitled "Man's Living Body" will be aired Sept. 20 through Jan. 19.

The TV course will be seen by students at Bryan Memorial Hospital in Lincoln; Bishop Clarkson Hospital, Nebraska Methodist Hospital, St Catherine's School of Nursing of Archbishop Bergan Mercy Hospital, Creighton Memorial St. Joseph Hospital, all in Omaha, and Mercy Hospital and Jennie Edmundsen Hospital in Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Miss Shirley Robins, chairman of the Nebraska Video Nursing Council, said the same course was taught a year ago to student nurses in the Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minn., area "with outstanding success."

The programs will be aired at 7:30 a.m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday.

Chicago Firm Lone Bidder On 56 Valves

Only one bid, for $85,623, was received by the city for the purchase of 56 butterfly valves for use by the water distribution system.

It was submitted by the Henry Pratt Co. of Chicago, Ill.

In other bidding Wednesday, Line Material Industries of Milwaukee, Wis., was the apparent low bidder at $2,914 for an automatic circuit recloser for the Commercial Light Dept.

Others bidding were Schneider Electric and Equipment Co. of Lincoln, $2,980, General Electric Supply Co. of Omaha, $2,960, and Westinghouse Electric Supply Co. of Omaha, $3,090.

Recommendations will be made to the mayor after all the bids have been considered by the departments involved.

Car Skids, Hits Pole; Lincolnite Treated, Released

A Lincoln man was treated and released from Lincoln Clinic after a one-car accident at 48th and Valley Wednesday morning.

Stivrins Kazimirs, 43, of 1639 Sunset, was northbound on 48th when his car skidded out of control on the ice and struck a power pole, police said.

Train Speeding Toward City Ash Wednesday Rite Scene

Hoboken, N.J. (AP) — A commuter train speeding toward New York City was a church this morning to more than 100 riders who congregated in the last car for an Ash Wednesday service.

The Rev. Craig Biddle III, curate of St. Peter's Episcopal Church of Morristown, conducted the service, the first such service on the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad.

"It was a satisfying and humbling experience," said the Rev. Mr. Biddle after the service. "One of the riders told me it was the most meaningful experience he ever had."

Normal Business Day

The worshipers — most of them bound for New York City for a normal business day — began boarding the last car of Train 606 at 7:17 a.m. in Dover, 35 miles west.

The car, normally a smoker, was filled to its 84-seat capacity at Summit and more riders edged into the aisles at Short Hills, the train's last stop before Hoboken. At Hoboken, commuters switch to a Hudson River ferry to lower Manhattan.

The service lasted for the 20 minutes it takes to ride from Short Hills to Hoboken and opened with Psalm 51, "Have mercy upon me, Oh God . . ." The riders followed the Rev. Mr. Biddle from mimeographed sheets that were distributed.

The 33-year-old clergyman said the reading of the Psalm established a rapport that remained unbroken as scenery slipped past the windows and the train clickety-clacked.

'Surroundings Melted'

"I had the feeling that in the car were people who needed to hear what I said. The physical surroundings melted into the background," he said.

Before beginning the sermon from a lectern at the head of the car, The Rev. Mr. Biddle told his congregation:

"You and I are not here to play church or perform an experiment. This nonsectarian service is basically taking the ritual of the commuter and adding to it the liturgy of the church."

He then delivered his sermon, the Ash Wednesday penitential office, and recited the benediction as the train rolled into Hoboken. Many passengers lined up to congratulate him.

Whether there are to be more services for commuters was a matter the clergyman planned to take up with lay leaders of his Morristown congregation and with the railroad.

Women From 6 States Trained At Church Meet

Twenty-one women from six states met Wednesday at the Nebraska Center for the West Central Leadership Conference of the Presbyterian Church.

According to Miss Virginia I. Francis of Kansas City, Mo., conference director, the meetings were to train nominees or officials of the various Presbyterial societies how to perform their duties.

The world's tallest living tree, a California coast redwood, towers 367.8 feet high and measures 44 feet in girth.

Senators Urged To Kill Criminal Bureau Bill

Nebraska's Safety Patrol Wednesday made another bid to influence state senators to once again kill a bill in the Legislature that would establish a bureau of criminal investigation.

Col. Dan Casey, head of the Safety Patrol, guided six senators on a tour of the patrol's criminal complex as he emphasized the time needed to develop vast criminal records and files and the money that has already been used to train investigation experts.

LB53, establishing the bureau, introduced by Sens. Kenneth Bowen and Eugene Mahoney, was killed in committee but revived a few days later.

Sens. Peter Clausen, Frank Nelson, Harold Moylan, Ramey Whitney, H. C. Crandall and Rudolf Kokes heard an explanation of the procedures for tracing criminals among the various alias, photograph, fingerprint and case history files that were started in 1914.

"Anyone else taking over this business would have to start from the beginning," Casey explained, referring to the filing system and the trained people who have a working knowledge of the files.

Casey also emphasized the availability of the crime complex services to all law enforcement officers in Nebraska. Bowen had charged that county sheriffs were not getting proper cooperation in criminal investigation from the Patrol.

CPPD To Tell Of Problems At Hallam Nuclear Plant

Consumers Public Power District will make public at a news conference Friday details of the problems it has encountered at its Sheldon Station power plant at Hallam, CPPD General Manager D. W. Hill said Wednesday.

The nuclear facility at the plant, the world's first full scale sodium graphite reactor, was shut down in January when it was discovered that some leaks had developed in the reactor's core.

Since then the $80 million, 75,000 kilowatt plant has been producing electricity by use of its coal fired boiler.

'Top People'

Hill said CPPD officials met in Chicago Wednesday with "top people" from the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) and Atomics International, division of North American Aviation Co.

He said another meeting will be held in Lincoln Thursday "and on Friday we'll let the press know everything that we know about the situation."

"There is a problem at Hallam, but the seriousness of it won't be known until after the meetings Wednesday and Thursday," Hill said.

The CPPD manager's comments followed adoption of a resolution by officials of the Custer Public Power District, voicing concern over Nebraska's future power supply and citing failure of the Sheldon Station as one of the reasons.

Authorization

Custer urged authorization for a 230 kilovolt line from Ft. Randall to Grand Island.

Hill said no consideraiton has been given by anyone toward junking the atomic plant "and to my knowledge, no one is considering scrapping the nuclear facility and replacing it with an entirely conventional fuel system."

Power Unit Hears South Central, NPPS Dispute

The State Power Review Board held a hearing Wednesday on a service area dispute between the Norris Public Power District and the South Central Public Power District of Nelson.

The area involved runs along the western boundary of Thayer County and includes some 70 rural customers.

Norris spokesmen said the service boundary should follow the county line, but South Central contended the county line should not dictate boundaries in establishing the service zones.

The board took the dispute under advisement.

State Chief Receives Charter Application For Northwest Bank

Reclamation Resolution OK'd

The State Legislature Wednesday approved 37-0 a resolution urging Congress to authorize construction of the mid-state reclamation project.

Resolution 23 was adopted without discussion after one of its introducers, Sen. Richard Lysinger of Ravenna, said it was similar to a resolution the Unicameral passed two years ago.

It was also sponsored by Sens. Ira Paine of Grand Island and Maurice Kremer of Aurora.

The mid-state proposal calls for an $84-million project in Buffalo, Hall and Merrick Counties. The mid-state district covers a 550,000 acre area in those counties.

If authorization comes this year, then Congress next year would be able to appropriate pre-construction funds.

Completion of the project would take some eight or nine years.

Bill Enabling Counties To Enact $5 Wheel Tax Held; 3 Others Killed

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature's Public Works Committee held a bill enabling counties to enact a $5 motor vehicle registration fee (wheel tax), but axed three other measures.

Action was deferred on LB378, introduced by Sen. Terry Carpenter, until another bill, LB409 — permitting cities and villages to enact a similar wheel tax—is heard.

Robert Crosby, represening the Better Nebraska Association, told the committee that the bill would allow counties "an alternative source of road building revenue other than a property tax."

No Substitute

He said the bill "isn't a substitute for the half-cent gas tax bill for city needs."

The committee struck a provision the funds could be used for only dustless-surface roads.

The bill was opposed by the Nebraska New Car Dealers Association "as another tax on the car owner."

Killed 7-0 by the committee was LB182, introduced by Sen. Lester Harsh of Bartley, that would require suspension of driver licenses for speeding 10 miles over the posted speed limit.

Several amendments were proposed for the bill before it was finally axed altogether.

The committee also killed 5-3 Sen. Dale Payne's LB338, which would have placed a part of former Neb. 370, also known as the Avery west road between U.S. 73-77 and Neb. 50, on the state highway system.

Up To Commission

The committee felt the State Highway Advisory Commission alone should decide what roads belong on the state system.

Also axed 5-1 was a Carpenter bill, LB377, which would have prohibited any change in design, construction or operation of a connecting link in either a city or village without agreement between the city and state or a determination by the Highway Advisory Commission.

Amended and advanced 6-0 was LB402, also a Carpenter bill, providing for audits of reclamation districts by the state auditor.

The committee was told the Mid-State Reclamation District had collected some $1 million in taxes during the past 16 years without a public audit of how the money is expended ever being made.

Support

Appearing in support of the bill were farmers and landowners from the Gibbon area.

Amended and advanced was LB381, chiefly introduced by Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth, that would set a $10 registration fee for parochial school buses.

Industrial Court Can't Require City To Bargain

The Nebraska Court of Industrial Relations can't require a city to bargain with a union, a brief filed Wednesday in the state Supreme Court contended.

The brief, filed by the city of Hastings after an earlier Industrial Court ruling, said the Industrial Court has no authority under Nebraska law to force a governmental employer to engage in collective bargaining.

The appeal stems from a dispute between Hastings and Local 507 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO.

The court ordered the city to recognize the union after the city refused to bargain with the union as the official representative of the city's Public Works Department.

Rural Mississippi Called Potential Urbanization Pioneer

Jackson, Miss. (AP) — Gov. Paul Johnson Wednesday drew a picture of Mississippi, often regarded a typically rural state, as a potential pioneer in America's efforts to cope with urbanization.

"I would like the satisfaction of knowing," he said, "that we, here, had contributed somthing of value to our country's growth and development."

Johnson said the metropolitan area of Jackson, Mississippi's capital, has all the qualifications to become "one of the limited number of regional service centers — or growth centers — which are going to be developed throughout the nation."

Studied In Washington

Some urban planners regard such multicity and multicounty regional centers as the wave of the future.

"Our concept, our plans, our programs are being studied by other states and in Washington right now," Johnson said. "We may have created here the prototype growth-creating center for America."

His remarks came in urging Hinds County (Jackson) voters to approve $2 million in bonds to finance a Mississippi universities center, a joint research facility for the University of Mississippi and Mississippi State University.

The center would in turn be part of a research complex together with a million-dollar state research and development center already begun. The state facility is concerned primarily with applied research for industrial development.

"There is no combination like this anywhere in the United States," Johnson said. "This concentration of brainpower could be the single most important factor in your future as a regional growth center."

Johnson said population projections indicate the Jackson area, with a metropolitan population of about 250,000 will have more than 750,000 citizens in a three-county area by 1985.

"Everybody here will have to think in terms of the broad region," he said. "I believe you can set an example for many other urban areas in this nation which face a similar challenge."

Also included in the April 6 bond issue vote are proposals for an additional $500,000 in bonds to finance an agricultural center and a youth court and detention facility. A spokesman for the latter stressed its need in view of the oncoming urbanization.

In discussing Jackson's economic and social potential, Dr. W. D. McCain, president of the University of Southern Mississippi, said:

"The annual median family income in this city is $5,200, exceeded in the South only in Mobile. Some 14.5% of Jacksonians earn more than $10,000 annually, which ranks it second in the South. Nearly six out of 10 families own their own homes. That ranks Jackson first in the South and third in the nation."

Dr. McCain also said Jackson's average citizen has attained 12.1 grades in school, "an achievement unsurpassed in cities of its size and larger," and that Jackson ranks fifth among the nation's cities of 150,000 or more in attainment of college degrees by citizens over the age of 25.

21 Deputies Quit Posts; Face Probe

Jackson, Miss. (AP)—Twenty-one Hinds County deputy sheriffs resigned Wednesday after a grand jury was ordered to investigate their activities.

Only one deputy in the criminal division kept his badge. The others including Chief Deputy Howard Evans and the sheriff's brother, Jim Pickett, submitted mimeographed resignations.

The action left Hinds County law enforcement, outside the Jackson city limits, in the hands of a small group of constables, courtroom deputies and clerks.

Sheriff In Accident

Sheriff Fred Pickett injured in an auto accident last week, will be out of office about six weeks.

W. B. Shuttleworth was the only deputy to retain his badge, he was immediately named "acting chief deputy."

Evans was the first to quit. Sources said Evans visited Sheriff Fred Pickett at a hospital and agreed to start the resignation.

Circuit Judge Leon Hendrick Monday charged a grand jury with investigating rumors of "habitual drunkeness, or drunk in office."

Liquor Operations

Hendrick also charged the jury to look into reports of liquor operations at suburban Jackson nightclubs. Mississippi is a dry state and beer is the only legal alcoholic beverage.

The grey-haired jurist said, "If anything is being paid for this, I don't know of anything much worse. And we've got statutes for handling that."

Evans was one of five officers in the county jail when an 18-year-old Negro was killed last January.

Evans said the young Negro knocked him down and that he did not actually see the shooting that touched off a series of protests from Negro leaders.

Evans had been chief criminal deputy since Pickett took office 14 months ago. Earlier he was a patrolman in the county's fourth district.

City-County Unit Sketch Expected In Ten Days

By BOB SCIREPF
Star Staff Writer

The architect's exterior sketch of the proposed City-County Building will be made public in about ten days, it was learned Wednesday.

The city-county subcommittee authorized the firms of Clark and Enersen and Hemphill and Vierk to work together on the final presentation.

Architect L. A. Enersen described the style of the building as "contemporary, with a classic flavor."

"It will be highly ordered, quiet and composed," he said.

City Councilman John Mason said that the building, when constructed, "will be a symbol of Lincoln for possibly three generations. It should be an expression of dignity and grace, and could mean to Lincoln what the Capitol means to the state."

Final determination of the location whether at 15th and O or 10th and J, will not alter the plans of the building, it was noted.

The front elevation of the 5-story, slightly oblong building will probably show a columned entrance with partially recessed lower floors providing a walkway.

Heavy Traffic

City and County subcomittee members generally agreed that departments requiring a heavy public traffic volume would be located on the first and second floors. This would possibly include the county clerk, treasurer and assessor, the election commission and the city water and light department.

Courtrooms would also be located on the second floor, with the top 3 floors used for offices.

Voters will cast their ballots at the April 6 primary for separate city and county bond issues for construction of the building at the 10th and J location.

Emergency Center

The subcommittee also heard Ed George, director of technical services for the Office of Civil Defense in Denver, explain the method of federal help in financing an emergency operating center.

Such a center — a place where government can continue to function during emergencies — is being contemplated for the basement of the proposed City-County Building.

George said that the federal government would pay half the cost of additional space planned for an emergency center, with the provision that there is dual use of the facilities.

The possibility of the police department and sheriff's office occupying that space in the new building was discussed.

An official statement said the incidents took place Sunday and Monday at Nauseri, Rawalakot, Kotli and Tandar, about 140 miles north of Rawalpindi.

Tavlin Makes New Bid For South St. License

Mitch Tavlin has applied to the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission for a package liquor license at 1244 South St.

Tavlin's request for a transfer of his existing license from 1301 L to the South St. location was denied by the City Council on Monday.

A long form application was filed informing the liquor commission that Tavlin would surrender his existing license if a new license is granted.

Under state law, the City Council must hold a public hearing on the application and then recommend issuance or denial.

The hearing has been set for March 15.

The council will also hear an application for a license by Commercial Enterprises, Inc., for a bottle club to be located at 10th and Arapahoe.

The applicants plan to construct a cement block building, with food service facilities for the general public, to be completed by July 31.

On the council agenda for March 8 is a request for reconsideration of the council's denial of the transfer of Floyd and Virginia Watts' package liquor license from 2105 O to 17th and South St.

Frisco's Cable Cars To Get Major Repair

San Francisco (UPI)—San Francisco's famed cable car system will shut down March 21 for major repairs.

James Carr, public utilities general manager, said propulsion machinery, some of it installed in 1887, will be replaced at the Washington-Mason powerhouse.

The repairs will be completed within 21 days by working two shifts a day, engineering contractors said.

The cable car crewmen will take deferred vacations, or will sign up for other duties on a temporary basis, Carr said.

Peters, Breeder, Quits

Lethbridge, Alta (AP)—Dr. Hobart F. Peters, noted researcher in animal breeding, has resigned from the Canadian agricultural department reserach station here to become cattle production officer of the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization in Rome. He has worked on cross-breeding of buffalo and cattle.

Norwegians Boiled

Bayonne, N. J. (UPI)—Two Norwegian seamen were scalded to death Tuesday night when they fell from a 40-foot ladder into three feet of boiling coconut oil.

Garrotto Overrules Motions

To Quash Indictments

Omaha (AP) — District Judge Paul J. Garrotto Wednesday overruled motions to quash bribery and conspiracy indictments handed down by a grand jury in the John B. Coleman case.

The five indicted were Mayor James J. Dworak, City Councilman Stephen T. Novak and Ernest A. Adams, former Planning Board member Carville R. Buttner and real estate man Ronald J. Aboud.

All were indicted by the grand jury after its investigation of Chicago investor Coleman's account of alleged payments and arrangements for bribes in connection with his proposed million-dollar town house project at the west edge of Omaha.

Judge Garrotto said that following the theory of the defendants in their challenge of the selection of the grand jury would "inevitably result in defeating the spirit and purposes of the grand jury system." He also rejected the defendants' argument that defense attorneys should have been permitted in the grand jury room.

The judge, in his 19-page opinion, added that a grand jury investigation is not a trial, nor a proceeding in which anyone is found guilty or not guilty.

Zenith Heir's Will Admitted For Probate

Tucson, Ariz. (UPI) — The will of multimillionaire Zenith Radio heir Eugene F. (Stormy) McDonald III, was admitted to probate.

Total value of the estate will be determined within three months when an inventory and appraisal have been made.

The 23-year-old heir received about half of the estimated $30 million fortune left by his father, who founded Zenith in Chicago. His sister, Mrs. Marianne Cantwell of Santa Fe Springs, Calif., shared the other half.

Mrs. Cantwell was the principal beneficiary in McDonald's will, according to Superior Court Judge Jack G. Marks.

The document was dated June 11, 1964, the day after McDonald divorced his wife of three months, former Omaha, Neb., cattle heiress Virginia Baker.

McDonald's estate includes holdings in Pima and Maricopa Counties in Arizona and in Illinois, New York and Canada.

The young multimillionaire was found dead last Feb. 3 in his rented $50,000 home here. Both wrists were slashed and he had a gunshot wound in the back of his head.

A coroner's jury ruled his death was not suicide. An investigation into his death is under way.

Survey Started To Seek Planting Plans For 1965

Washington (AP) — The government has started its annual survey to determine farmers' planting plans for the 1965 crop year and the possibility of new farm surplus and price stabilization problems.

Results of the survey will be made public March 19. Of particular interest will be prospective acreage figures for corn and other feed grain, soybeans, sugar beets, spring wheat and a number of specialty crops, including dry beans, flaxseed, tobacco, rice, peanuts, potatoes and sweet potatoes.

These figures will provide indications of whether the agriculture department is getting farmers to hold down acreages of wheat, feed grains and some lesser crops this year.

Cancer Project

New York (UPI) — A community pilot project sponsored by the American Cancer Society and aimed at familiarizing women with the early signs of breast cancer has been set up at Polyclinic Hospital in New York. Major emphasis will be placed on teaching self-examination methods.

"The need . . . is underscored by the fact that 90 per cent of breast tumors are found by the patient herself before she consults a physician," said Dr. Herbert Volk, of the American Cancer Society.

HOUSE COMMITTEE INTRODUCES $1 BILLION MILITARY PAY HIKE

Washington (UPI) — Members of the House Armed Services Committee Wednesday introduced a $1 billion-per-year military pay raise bill that would give U.S. servicemen their third pay increase in three years.

Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., said he saw no need to wait for results of a study ordered last year by President Johnson on the subject. The presidential panel is due to report April 1, but Rivers, said, "Justification for a military pay raise needs no study."

Thirty-four of the 37 committee members agreed with him and signed their names to the bill. Rivers said it was the constitutional duty of Congress—and not the President—to "determine the compensation to be received by members of the armed forces."

River said a study by the committee staff showed that service pay raises since 1952 lagged far behind those granted by Congress to civilian employes of the government.

All 2,723,000 active duty personnel of Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines—from recruits to general—would share in the pay raise under Rivers' bill. Increases would average about 13% for the recruit to about 8.9% for the general.

Last year's $207 million raise did not cover servicemen with less than two years of service.

Basic pay scales, including quarters and subsistence allowance, now range from about $1,980 for the recruit to $24,948 for the full general.

POSTCARD

We are deep in the snows of Squaw Valley, 6200 feet high in the high California Sierra.

Outside the picture window, intrepid skiers. Going up the lift to the white mountains 3000 feet higher. They swing in little plastic bubble cars on a thin, thin wire.

When they get way up there, they will slide way down here.

I can see them through the picture window. Through the bottom of my glass. A warm rum-colored picture. I am a hot buttered skier. The Abominable Snowman.

☆ ☆ ☆

I think they are making the pants too small, Sam. Or else the squaws at Squaw Valley are filling out.

That is a fashion note I must make a note of.

The ski pants on squaws this season are made of strrrrrrrretch material. It fits milady like the postage stamp on the letter to the bank. It stretches thisaway and thataway. No matter how the squaw is constructed. Fortunate squaws!

Bending over. Stretching. Wherever the squaw goes, the pants are sure to follow.

Skiing, I thought, was for the idle rich. The rich are far from idle. They work like crazy.

Up the magic mountain. Down the magic mountain. Pants stretching to each whim of the owner. (I think whims are bigger this year.)

It costs $9 to ride the plastic bubble. And you can bust a leg on the way down.

"The basic equipment for skiing," said the lady stretching inside her stretch pants, "is about $150. The most important item is the boots. Good ski boots cost at least $50."

The ski boot is laced fore and aft. It is steel-tipped. And if a lady should stretch and boot you with a ski boot, you would be good and sorry.

"How much do you pay for the stretch pants, ski lady?" I asked.

The ski lady said you could pay fancy prices for such stretch gear. But—.

"The main thing is the boots," she said.

I could not see that. It seems to me, Sam, I would worry about how far those pants would stretch.

However, I am only a hot buttered skier.

All over the valley the walking wounded crutch around. Handsomely decorated with gauze and plaster of paris.

"What about casts?" I asked the ski lady. "Is there a fashion to be followed if I break a leg?"

"The fashion world has not caught up with that," she said. "Although we expect a breakthrough at any time.

"For the present, the hospitals equip you only with an unimaginative white plaster cast. The decoration is up to you and your friends.

"Some patients carry one of those pens that you can flip to various colors. Others hold to the black-and-white motif—a basic black ink that goes with anything.

"Some have their friends write cute sayings in lipstick. A stockbroker's pencil with a quarter inch lead is good. You can get one in silver from Georg Jensen."

☆ ☆ ☆

She said one of the major costs of skiing is the after-ski clothing. "This can run into more money than the actual pants, boots, parkas and sweaters.

"After-ski clothing is the evening wear of the ski resort."

The ski lady bent over and began to lace her $50 boots.

Everything stretched and stretched and strrrrrretched. And nothing split. What a wonderful world we live in!

City-County Unit Sketch Expected In Ten Days

By BOB SCIREPF
Star Staff Writer

The architect's exterior sketch of the proposed City-County Building will be made public in about ten days, it was learned Wednesday.

The city-county subcommittee authorized the firms of Clark and Enersen and Hemphill and Vierk to work together on the final presentation

Architect L. A. Enersen described the style of the building as "contemporary, with a classic flavor."

"It will be highly ordered, quiet and composed," he said.

City Councilman John Mason said that the building, when constructed, "will be a symbol of Lincoln for possibly three generations. It should be an expression of dignity and grace, and could mean to Lincoln what the Capitol means to the state."

Final determination of the location whether at 15th and O or 10th and J, will not alter the plans of the building, it was noted.

The front elevation of the 5-story, slightly oblong building will probably show a columned entrance with partially recessed lower floors providing a walkway.

Heavy Traffic

City and County subcomittee members generally agreed that departments requiring a heavy public traffic volume would be located on the first and second floors. This would possibly include the county clerk, treasurer and assessor, the election commission and the city water and light department.

Courtrooms would also be located on the second floor, with the top 3 floors used for offices.

Voters will cast their ballots at the April 6 primary for separate city and county bond issues for construction of the building at the 10th and J location.

Emergency Center

The subcommittee also heard Ed George, director of technical services for the Office of Civil Defense in Denver, explain the method of federal help in financing an emergency operating center.

Such a center — a place where government can continue to function during emergencies — is being contemplated for the basement of the proposed City-County Building.

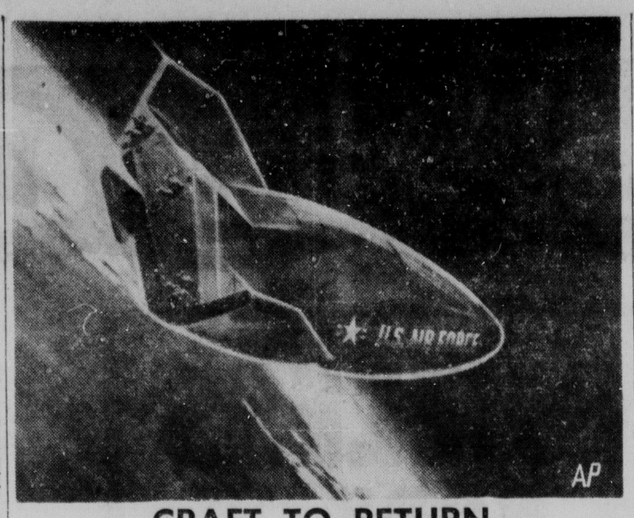
George said that the federal government would pay half the cost of additional space planned for an emergency center, with the provision that there is dual use of the facilities.

The possibility of the police department and sheriff's office occupying that space in the new building was discussed.

VA Beneficiaries May Have Drafts Sent To Banks

Beneficiaries of the Veterans Administration may arrange to have their benefit checks sent directly to their banks for deposit to their accounts, VA Regional Office Manager Edward P. Onstot noted Wednesday.

A special form is available at any VA ofifce for the purpose of assigning the necessary power of attorney to the beneficiary's bank.



CRAFT TO RETURN

The Air Force is working on an unmanned spacecraft with remote-controlled jets and fins to be maneuvered back to earth from orbit. The spacecraft, to be built by the Martin Baltimore division, will be launched from Vandenberg Air Force Base in California.

Conference On Nurse Education Under Way Here

The Nebraska State League for Nursing and the EACT Secton of the Nebraska State Nurses' Association are cosponsoring a conference on nursing education now being held at the Nebraska Center.

The conference, fourrth in a six-part series, is designed to better acquaint faculty of schools of nursing with important basic concepts in areas important to persons engaged in teaching in a professional field.

One hundred nursing instructors from eight states are attending the conference.

Nine Indian Soldiers Killed Near Kashmir

Rawalpindi, Pakistan (AP)—Nine Indian soldiers were killed in four clashes along the Kashmir cease-fire line, the Pakistani government claimed Wednesday.

An official statement said the incidents took place Sunday and Monday at Nauseri, Rawalakot, Kotli and Tandar, about 140 miles north of Rawalpindi.

Bishop Declines Stand

Des Moines (UPI) — Iowa Methodist Bishop James S. Thomas declined to speak out on the school bus issue because "it involves many and varied complexities."

Tavlin Makes New Bid For South St. License

Mitch Tavlin has applied to the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission for a package liquor license at 1244 South St.

Tavlin's request for a transfer of his existing license from 1301 L to the South St. location was denied by the City Council on Monday.

A long form application was filed informing the liquor commission that Tavlin would surrender his existing license if a new license is granted.

Under state law, the City Council must hold a public hearing on the application and then recommend issuance or denial.

The hearing has been set for March 15.

The council will also hear an application for a license by Commercial Enterprises, Inc., for a bottle club to be located at 10th and Arapahoe.

The applicants plan to construct a cement block building, with food service facilities for the general public, to be completed by July 31.

On the council agenda for March 8 is a request for reconsideration of the council's denial of the transfer of Floyd and Virginia Watts' package liquor license from 2105 O to 17th and South St.

Frisco's Cable Cars To Get Major Repair

San Francisco (UPI)—San Francisco's famed cable car system will shut down March 21 for major repairs.

James Carr, public utilities general manager, said propulsion machinery, some of it installed in 1887, will be replaced at the Washington-Mason powerhouse.

The repairs will be completed within 21 days by working two shifts a day, engineering contractors said.

The cable car crewmen will take deferred vacations, or will sign up for other duties on a temporary basis, Carr said.

Peters, Breeder, Quits

Lethbridge, Alta (AP)—Dr. Hobart F. Peters, noted researcher in animal breeding, has resigned from the Canadian agricultural department reserach station here to become cattle production officer of the U.N. Income Tax Bill Likely To Reach Floor Next Week

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Indications Wednesday pointed to the likelihood that Sen. Hal Bauer's state income tax bill will be hustled to the floor of the Legislature early next week for its consideration.

Public hearing on this session's two income tax bills will be held next Monday by the Revenue Committee.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff announced that he will request the committee to continue the hearing on his bill, LB141, and concentrate its efforts Monday on Bauer's proposal, LB797.

Carpenter said he will need to extensively amend his bill if it is to be advanced.

Bauer's proposal appears to have sufficient strength within the committee to be advanced to the floor for full debate.

Revenue Chairman Jules Burbach of Crofton said he will attempt to "get the bill out of committee at the earliest possible moment."

Burbach said he would not be surprised if the committee acted late Monday following the hearing.

"It couuld be on the floor Tuesday," he noted.

Since the bill is not an appropriations measure, it would go to the bottom of general file to await consideration.

If an income tax bill is passed, Carpenter predicted, it will be subjected to a vote of the people through a referendum movement.

"With that thought in mind, the Legislature must be very careful how it handles an income tax bill," he pointed out.

Burbach's committee faces three full days of crucial revenue hearings next week. Following the income tax bills, the committee will hold hearings next Tuesday on proposed constitutional amendments to permit a sweepstakes, a state lottery and dog racing.

Next Wednesday, the committee will hear the remaining general sales tax bill sponsored by Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance. A sales tax proposal signed by Carpenter has been killed in the committee.

Garrotto Overrules Motions

To Quash Indictments

Omaha (AP) — District Judge Paul J. Garrotto Wednesday overruled motions to quash bribery and conspiracy indictments handed down by a grand jury in the John B. Coleman case.

The five indicted were Mayor James J. Dworak, City Councilman Stephen T. Novak and Ernest A. Adams, former Planning Board member Carville R. Buttner and real estate man Ronald J. Aboud.

All were indicted by the grand jury after its investigation of Chicago investor Coleman's account of alleged payments and arrangements for bribes in connection with his proposed million-dollar town house project at the west edge of Omaha.

Judge Garrotto said that following the theory of the defendants in their challenge of the selection of the grand jury would "inevitably result in defeating the spirit and purposes of the grand jury system." He also rejected the defendants' argument that defense attorneys should have been permitted in the grand jury room.

The judge, in his 19-page opinion, added that a grand jury investigation is not a trial, nor a proceeding in which anyone is found guilty or not guilty.

Zenith Heir's Will Admitted For Probate

Tucson, Ariz. (UPI) — The will of multimillionaire Zenith Radio heir Eugene F. (Stormy) McDonald III, was admitted to probate.

Total value of the estate will be determined within three months when an inventory and appraisal have been made.

The 23-year-old heir received about half of the estimated $30 million fortune left by his father, who founded Zenith in Chicago. His sister, Mrs. Marianne Cantwell of Santa Fe Springs, Calif., shared the other half.

Mrs. Cantwell was the principal beneficiary in McDonald's will, according to Superior Court Judge Jack G. Marks.

The document was dated June 11, 1964, the day after McDonald divorced his wife of three months, former Omaha, Neb., cattle heiress Virginia Baker.

McDonald's estate includes holdings in Pima and Maricopa Counties in Arizona and in Illinois, New York and Canada.

The young multimillionaire was found dead last Feb. 3 in his rented $50,000 home here. Both wrists were slashed and he had a gunshot wound in the back of his head.

A coroner's jury ruled his death was not suicide. An investigation into his death is under way.

Survey Started To Seek Planting Plans For 1965

Washington (AP) — The government has started its annual survey to determine farmers' planting plans for the 1965 crop year and the possibility of new farm surplus and price stabilization problems.

Results of the survey will be made public March 19. Of particular interest will be prospective acreage figures for corn and other feed grain, soybeans, sugar beets, spring wheat and a number of specialty crops, including dry beans, flaxseed, tobacco, rice, peanuts, potatoes and sweet potatoes.

These figures will provide indications of whether the agriculture department is getting farmers to hold down acreages of wheat, feed grains and some lesser crops this year.

Cancer Project

New York (UPI) — A community pilot project sponsored by the American Cancer Society and aimed at familiarizing women with the early signs of breast cancer has been set up at Polyclinic Hospital in New York. Major emphasis will be placed on teaching self-examination methods.

"The need ... is underscored by the fact that 90 per cent of breast tumors are found by the patient herself before she consults a physician," said Dr. Herbert Volk, of the American Cancer Society.

We are deep in the snows of Squaw Valley, 6200 feet nigh in the high California Sierra.

Outside the picture window, intrepid skiers. Going up the lift to the white mountains 3000 feet higher. They swing in little plastic bubble cars on a thin, thin wire.

When they get way up there, they will slide way down here.

I can see them through the picture window. Through the bottom of my glass. A warm rum-colored picture. I am a hot buttered skier. The Abominable Snowman.

☆ ☆ ☆

I think they are making the pants too small, Sam. Or else the squaws at Squaw Valley are filling out.

That is a fashion note I must make a note of.

The ski pants on squaws this season are made of strrrrrretch material. It fits milady like the postage stamp on the letter to the bank. It stretches thisaway and thataway. No matter how the squaw is constructed. Fortunate squaws!

Bending over. Stretching. Wherever the squaw goes, the pants are sure to follow.

Skiing, I thought, was for the idle rich. The rich are far from idle. They work like crazy.

Up the magic mountain. Down the magic mountain. Pants stretching to each whim of the owner. (I think whims are bigger this year.)

It costs $9 to ride the plastic bubble. And you can bust a leg on the way down.

"The basic equipment for skiing," said the lady stretching inside her stretch pants, "is about $150. The most important item is the boots. Good ski boots cost at least $50."

The ski boot is laced fore and aft. It is steel-tipped. And if a lady should stretch and boot you with a ski boot, you would be good and sorry.

"How much do you pay for the stretch pants, ski lady?" I asked.

The ski lady said you could pay fancy prices for such stretch gear. But—

"The main thing is the boots," she said.

I could not see that. It seems to me, Sam, I would worry about how far those pants would stretch.

However, I am only a hot buttered skier.

All over the valley the walking wounded crutch around. Handsomely decorated with gauze and plaster of paris.

"What about casts?" I asked the ski lady. "Is there a fashion to be followed if I break a leg?"

"The fashion world has not caught up with that," she said. "Although we expect a breakthrough at any time.

"For the present, the hospitals equip you only with an unimaginative white plaster cast. The decoration is up to you and your friends.

"Some patients carry one of those pens that you can flip to various colors. Others hold to the black-and-white motif—a basic black ink that goes with anything.

"Some have their friends write cute sayings in lipstick. A stockbroker's pencil with a quarter inch lead is good. You can get one in silver from Georg Jensen."

☆ ☆ ☆

She said one of the major costs of skiing is the after-ski clothing. "This can run into more money than the actual pants, boots, parkas and sweaters.

"After-ski clothiag is the evening wear of the ski resort."

The ski lady bent over and began to lace her $50 boots. Everything stretched and stretched and strrrrrretched. And nothing split. What a wonderful world we live in!

Bill Calls For Listings By Brokers

The Legislature's Revenue Committee Wednesday agreed to sponsor a new bill which would require brokers to list with the state tax commissioner all their stockholders and their holdings, including those listed in the name of the brokerage house.

The bill would provide the commissioner with additional information for intangible tax purposes.

In other action, the committee recalled and amended LB42 to provide a $9,000 maximum annual occupation fee for foreign corporations. Maximum fees for domestic corporations would be $8,250.

As approved by the committee a day earlier, fees charged as the occupational tax for foreign corporations would have been double that charged for domestic corporations of the same size.

In its newly amended form, LB42 was then advanced to the floor.

Held for amendment and further consideration was LB854, which would change the method of taxing motor vehicles owned and held for resale by dealers.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud, would provide that such vehicles be assessed according to the dealer's cost rather than on the same basis as other motor vehicles.

The change, authorized by voter approval last fall of a constitutional amendment, would permit automobile dealers to be taxed on their inventories "on the same basis as other merchants," Bowen said.

Spokesmen for the Nebraska New Car Dealers Association endorsed the bill. There was no opposing testimony.

Dealers told the committee that the tax is now unfair, that LB654 would reduce the actual valuation of new cars by about 20%, and that a resulting increase in January inventories would offset any revenue loss.

"We should be taxed at the wholesale value, rather than the retail value," Ed Rosen of Omaha said.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, a committee member, indicated that he would like to tie the value of new cars to their invoice price and tie used car value to a general guidebook used by dealers.

Heard and held was LB590, which, in its amended form, would increase from 50 cents to 75 cents the county assessment for advertising of notice of tax sales of real estate.

Omaha-State Road Proposal Sent To Floor

The Legislature's Urban Affairs Committee Wednesday advanced to the floor a bill that would permit the City of Omaha to enter into agreements with the State Roads Department to establish parking facilities under Interstate highway bridges and overpasses.

Private parking interests in Omaha sharply protested the bill at a public hearing last month.

The measure, LB64, introduced by Omaha Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr., gained 7-0 committee approval.

The committee also advanced without dissenting vote tow companion bills, LB404 and LB405, which would permit Omaha to directly collect sewer use charges in surrounding sanitary and improvement districts now connected to the city sewer system.

The charges now are collected by the individual districts which then remit the fees to the city.

Both bills were introduced by Sen. Harold Moylan of Omaha.

The committee advanced Lincoln Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme's LB439 which harmonizes the general powers of the City of Lincoln under statutes with the city's powers under its home rule charter.

State Song Bill Sent To Floor

The Legislature's Judiciary Committee decided Wednesday to get in on the state song act.

The committee voted 6-0 to introduce "This Is My Nebraska" by Mrs. Polly Abbeglen of Columbus as the official state song.

Seven other state song proposals already have been introduced.

Income Tax Bill Likely To Reach Floor Next Week

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Indications Wednesday pointed to the likelihood that Sen. Hal Bauer's state income tax bill will be hustled to the floor of the Legislature early next week for its consideration.

Public hearing on this session's two income tax bills will be held next Monday by the Revenue Committee.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff announced that he will request the committee to continue the hearing on his bill, LB141, and concentrate its efforts Monday on Bauer's proposal, LB797.

Carpenter said he will need to extensively amend his bill if it is to be advanced.

Bauer's proposal appears to have sufficient strength within the committee to be advanced to the floor for full debate.

Revenue Chairman Jules Burbach of Crofton said he will attempt to "get the bill out of committee at the earliest possible moment."

Burbach said he would not be surprised if the committee acted late Monday following the hearing.

"It couuld be on the floor Tuesday," he noted.

Since the bill is not an appropriations measure, it would go to the bottom of general file to await cnnsideration.

If an income tax bill is passed, Carpenter predicted, it will be subjected to a vote of the people through a referendum movement.

"With that thought in mind, the Legislature must be very careful how it handles an income tax bill," he pointed out.

Burbach's committee faces three full days of crucial revenue hearings next week. Following the income tax bills, the committee will hold hearings next Tuesday on proposed constitutional amendments to permit a sweepstakes, a state lottery and dog racing.

Next Wednesday, the committee will hear the remaining general sales tax bill sponsored by Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance. A sales tax proposal signed by Carpenter has been killed in the committee.

Schuyler (UP) — An Omaha man was killed Wednesday in a car-truck crash seven miles east of Schuyler on U.S. 30.

The victim was identified as Donald H. Rogers, 40, who was an appraiser for the Small Business Administration.

Sheriff Richard Kruse said the crash occurred after a semi-trailer grain truck driven by Dean Klug, 36, Columbus, jack-knifed on the ice. The on-coming car was wedged under the trailer by the force of the impact.

The death was Nebraska's 56th highway fatality of the year compared with 53 on the same date a year ago.

Definitely Room For Improvement Of Feed-Sullivan

A recent examination of feed tags revealed that one or more unnecessary ingredients or "frills" were found in each of 52 laying hen feeds manufactured by 14 different companies, a University of Nebraska poultry nutritionist said here.

Dr. Thomas W. Sullivan, speaking at the 13th annual Nebraska Feed and Nutrition Conference, said the ingredients, which cannot be justified as supporting a top performance by the laying hen, add to the cost of the feed.

"While we are generally doing a good job in formulating economical diets for egg production in Nebraska, there is definitely room for improvement," Dr. Sullivan declared.

He reported to feedmen that 39 feeds each had eight to 12 unnecessary ingredients, and seven feeds had 14 or more.

Of 30 different unnecessary ingredients counted among the 52 feeds, most were vitamin, mineral and unidentified factor supplements that are necessary in some feeds, "but not in those formulated for laying chickens."

Beatrice Foods, Underground Inc. Said Negotiating

Kansas City (AP) — An exchange of stock is being negotiated between Beatrice Foods Co. and Underground Facilities Inc. of Kansas City, Kan., the Kansas City Star said.

The exchange reportedly would make Inland Underground a division of Beatrice Foods in return for $10.5 million worth of Beatrice stock.

Inland Underground operates nearly two million square feet of cold dry storage warehouse space in rooms quarried out of the Kansas River bluffs on the west edge of Kansas City, Kan.

Beatrice Foods is among the country's top four in the dairy business.

Rock Island Given Until April To Accept UP Offer

New York (AP)—The Union Pacific Railroad has given holders of Rock Island Railroad stock until April 1 to accept its stock exchange offer leading to a proposed merger of the two lines.

It was the fourth extension of time for the exchange offer, first made last Oct. 9.

The merger plan calls for Rock Island shareholders to receive one share of a new Union Pacific $1.80 convertible preferred stock for each share of Rock Island common.

A Union Pacific spokesman said 76.6% of the Rock Island shares have been offered for exchange so far.

Former Dawson Publisher Dies

Dawson (UPI) — Funeral services will be held Thursday for Charles M. (Pat) Ross, 60, editor and publisher of the Dawson Herald for 22 years, who died Tuesday at Humboldt.

Mr. Ross published the Herald from 1925 until 1947.

Before settling down in Dawson, he worked as a printer in nearly every state in the union, as well as in Canada, Mexico and England.

He is survived by his wife.

King Leads Eulogy For 'A Martyr'

Marion, Ala. (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. led hundreds of Negroes Wednesday on a three-mile march to bury a Negro laborer whom King described as "a martyr in the crusade for human dignity and freedom."

The procession to the graveside followed two funeral services, the first at nearby Selma, for 26-year-old Jimmie Lee Jackson who was wounded fatally by gunfire when police and state troopers broke up a Negro march here Feb. 18.

A misty rain was falling during the services in the red brick Zion Methodist Church facing the courthouse square in this small west Alabama town.

No Trouble

A few white spectators watched from the porch of the small city hall. A few city policemen were on hand but there was no trouble as hundreds of Negroes who could not get inside the building massed in front of the church and sang freedom songs.

King stepped to the white-covered pulpit with its black drapes and a battery of microphones.

"Jimmie wanted to be free," King said. "He was the victim of a brutal assault on Negroes who were peacefully seeking their rights."

The civil rights leader said that Jackson, a Baptist deacon here, was a victim of the system of segregation. But he urged the Negroes not to despair and not to retaliate with violence.

Jackson was shot through the stomach during the bloody violence in Marion.

No Public Report

Jackson told a Selma hospital supervisor he was shot by a state trooper, but state police officials have not made public a report on the shooting.

"Farewell, Jimmie," King said to the flower-covered casket.

"We are not going to stop in Alabama and in Mississippi. We are going to march the streets of Alabama until every Negro can vote."

The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, a close associate of King, said that Jackson had been trying to register to vote since he was 21.

The Marion service followed funeral rites at Selma, 30 miles to the east.

Selma To Marion

A caravan of cars stretched for miles along the highways leading from Selma to Marion. There was at least one accident.

In his eulogy at Selma, Abernathy told the mourners at Browns Chapel AME Church that "the freedom for which Jimmie died is coming to the Black Belt, "a reference to the fertile farming area in south Alabama in which the struggle for equal voting rights is concentrated.

The Black Belt derives its name from the rich soil, but is also the center of Alabama's heaviest Negro population.

Join Martyr Ranks

Abernathy told members of Jackson's family and hundred of other mourners that the slain man "did not die as a coward. He was shot down on the streets of Marion standing up for his rights."

The Negro minister, himself the victim of racial violence when his home and church were bombed in Montgomery eight years ago, said Jackson "has now joined the ranks of many martyrs. He has taken his place alongside Lincoln, John Brown, Medgar Evers, Emmett Till, the four little innocent girls who died in Birmingham and the three civil rights workers in Mississippi."

Outside the church hung a sign which read, "Racism killed our brother."

Liquor Commission Grants Two Licenses

The State Liquor Commission reported Wednesday it has granted a class C liquor license to W. L. Falt Fisheries, Inc., 5460 S. 24th St., in Omaha.

An inside beer license was granted to Willis C. Heiden of Benedict.

Kansas City (AP) — An exchange of stock is being negotiated between Beatrice Foods Co. and Underground Facilities Inc. of Kansas City, Kan., the Kansas City Star said.

The exchange reportedly would make Inland Underground a division of Beatrice Foods in return for $10.5 million worth of Beatrice stock.

Inland Underground operates nearly two million square feet of cold dry storage warehouse space in rooms quarried out of the Kansas River bluffs on the west edge of Kansas City, Kan.

Beatrice Foods is among the country's top four in the dairy business.

Rock Island Given Until April To Accept UP Offer

New York (AP)—The Union Pacific Railroad has given holders of Rock Island Railroad stock until April 1 to accept its stock exchange offer leading to a proposed merger of the two lines.

It was the fourth extension of time for the exchange offer, first made last Oct. 9.

The merger plan calls for Rock Island shareholders to receive one share of a new Union Pacific $1.80 convertible preferred stock for each share of Rock Island common.

A Union Pacific spokesman said 76.6% of the Rock Island shares have been offered for exchange so far.

Former Dawson Publisher Dies

Dawson (UPI) — Funeral services will be held Thursday for Charles M. (Pat) Ross, 60, editor and publisher of the Dawson Herald for 22 years, who died Tuesday at Humboldt.

Mr. Ross published the Herald from 1925 until 1947.

Before settling down in Dawson, he worked as a printer in nearly every state in the union, as well as in Canada, Mexico and England.

He is survived by his wife.

TALK OF THE TOWN

This week Nebraskans may be thankful for one thing—we don't live in Iowa Next week may be a different story. of course, but in the meantime life goes on as usual in Lincoln.

As a matter of fact, life is a bit gayer than usual this week — And addition to some parties we will mention later we have news from Minneapolis—

* * *

We hear that Miss Catherine Marie Schmoker made her world debut at Abbott Hospital in Minneapolis on Wednesday, March 3. This brand new Delta Gamma legacy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schmoker and her mother is the former Catherine Marie (Kit) Stuart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Stuart — and DG at Nebraska. Mrs. W. C. Schmoker is the paternal grandmother.

* * *

This seems to be Delta Gamma day—but no legacy is concerned. A communique from Holdrege tells us that Andrew William Piper arrived on Friday, Feb. 26, at Brewster Hospital in Holdrege. The young man is the son of Mr. and Mrs William C. Piper — of Holdrege, naturally — and his mother is the former Anne Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller of Holdrege—and Delta Gamma at Nebraska. Mr. and Mrs. Lester H. Piper are the paternal grandparents.

Home again are Dr. and Mrs. Walt Weaver and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wright who returned last weekend from Aspen, Colo, where they spent a few days skiing.

* * *

Today is party day again for Miss Katherine Lilly, whose marriage to Dale Gibbs will be solemnized on April 24. Complimenting the bride-elect are Mrs. W. Irl Stebbins and her daughter, Mrs. Richard A. Knudsen, who will be brunch hostesses at the home of Mrs. Knudsen. Miss Lilly will be presented with a personal shower.

* * *

On Saturday evening Miss Lilly and her fiance will share honors when Mr. and Mrs. Gates Minnick entertain at dinner at their home. Dinner places will be arranged for 11.

* * *

Another Saturday night party is the Terpsichorean Club's dinner dance which is to be held in the Terrace Room at Hotel Lincoln. Arranging the details of the St. Patrick's party is a committee composed of Dr. and Mrs. E. R. Hinrichs, chairmen; Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. George Fisk, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Meisinger and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Kimmerling.

Farewell Courtesy

Honored at a farewell courtesy on Wednesday evening was Mrs. Clayton Struthers, who, with Mr. Struthers and their four children, will leave the middle of the month for their new home in Grafton.

A group of friends and neighbors honored Mrs. Struthers at a dinner, held at the home of Mrs. Ron Horstman. Included among the 22 attending were members of the Mrs. JayCees, an organization in which Mrs. Struthers has been active.

Opening lead — ace of diamonds.

You don't look a gift horse in the mouth, even when it comes to you at the table on a silver platter. You take it, say thank you to the opponents, and go on to the next deal, having taken fullest advantage of the gift.

Boris Schapiro, British star, was declarer at four spades in this hand from a match between France and Great Britain. Four spades could have been defeated in several different ways, but the defense had no sure guide line to follow and chose the one course that gave Schapiro a chance to make the contract.

West began with the ace of diamonds and, when East signaled with the nine, continued with a diamond. East covered the ten with the jack and Schapiro ruffed. The defense had no way of knowing it at this point, but they had already chucked the contract.

Schapiro drew two rounds of trumps, ending in his hand, and then led a low heart. West had to play the queen to protect his heart trick, and dummy took it with the ace.

Schapiro next led the queen of diamonds, covered by the king, but, instead of ruffing it, he discarded a club As a result of this play, he succeeded in making the contract. East had to lead a club away from the king, or else yield a ruff and discard.

Of course, if West had had the king of clubs, this method of play would have failed. In that case, the simpler method of leading low club towards the queen would have done the job.

But Schapiro knew from the bidding that East had the king of clubs. West would not have opened with a preemptive bid, holding seven good hearts, the ace of diamonds, and the king of clubs as well. With such a hand he would certainly have opened one heart.

The endplay clearly offered the better chance.

DEAR ABBY: I am 26, divorced, and have three beautiful children. I still date my ex-husband because I love him very much. He says he still cares for me, but he refuses to discuss or even consider marrying me again because he can't trust me. I don't blame him because I can't even trust myself. (That's why we were divorced, but that's another story.) Should I stop dating him and quit wasting my time? Or do you think there is some way I can get him to change his mind?

DEAD END IN CONN.

DEAR END: You can't get him to change his mind until you change your ways. If you can't trust yourself, you can't expect him to trust you. DEAR ABBY: I wish I knew how to answer people who ask me questions that embarrass me. Such as, "Is it true that your boss is cheating on his wife with some girl in the office?" And, "How come your brother's wife got the children when they were divorced when everybody knows she is the biggest tramp in town?" Also, "How much money did your husband get when his old lady passed away?" These questions are nobody's business and besides, I don't know the answers anyway, but I never know what to say.

TONGUE-TIED

DEAR TONGUE-TIED: Combine the two facts and reply, "I really don't know. But then, it's not my business."

DEAR ABBY: My best friend is a living doll which is a lot more than you can say for me. We are both 16. My friend, whom I shall call Mary, is not only the most beautiful girl you've ever laid eyes on, but she has a terrific personality. As far as brains go I am happy to say that we are both at the head of our class. My problem: Mary can have any boy she wants—SO why does she always go after the one I want? She really doesn't care for the boy, but if she knows I want him, she goes after him. I pretend I don't care. But I care a lot. Should I tell her how I feel and ask her not to do it? Dick was the last straw.

SECOND PLACE

DEAR SECOND: Don't ask your girl friend to step aside so that you'll have a clear field to zero in on a certain boy. Do the best you can with what you have. Who wants a boy friend through the generosity of a girl friend?

King Leads Eulogy For 'A Martyr'

Marion, Ala. (AP) —Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. led hundreds of Negroes Wednesday on a three-mile march to bury a Negro laborer whom King described as "a martyr in the crusade for human dignity and freedom."

The procession to the graveside followed two funeral services, the first at nearby Selma, for 26-year-old Jimmie Lee Jackson who was wounded fatally by gunfire when police and state troopers broke up a Negro march here Feb. 18.

A misty rain was falling during the services in the red brick Zion Methodist Church facing the courthouse square in this small west Alabama town.

No Trouble

A few white spectators watched from the porch of the small city hall. A few city policemen were on hand but there was no trouble as hundreds of Negroes who could not get inside the building massed in front of the church and sang freedom songs.

King stepped to the white-covered pulpit with its black drapes and a battery of microphones.

"Jimmie wanted to be free," King said. "He was the victim of a brutal assault on Negroes who were peacefully seeking their rights."

The civil rights leader said that Jackson, a Baptist deacon here, was a victim of the system of segregation. But he urged the Negroes not to despair and not to retaliate with violence.

Jackson was shot through the stomach during the bloody violence in Marion.

No Public Report

Jackson told a Selma hospital supervisor he was shot by a state trooper, but state police officials have not made public a report on the shooting.

"Farewell, Jimmie," King said to the flower-covered casket.

"We are not going to stop in Alabama and in Mississippi. We are going to march the streets of Alabama until every Negro can vote."

The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, a close associate of King, said that Jackson had been trying to register to vote since he was 21.

The Marion service followed funeral rites at Selma, 30 miles to the east.

Selma To Marion

A caravan of cars stretched for miles along the highways leading from Selma to Marion. There was at least one accident.

In his eulogy at Selma, Abernathy told the mourners at Browns Chapel AME Church that "the freedom for which Jimmie died is coming to the Black Belt, "a reference to the fertile farming area in south Alabama in which the struggle for equal voting rights is concentrated.

The Black Belt derives its name from the rich soil, but is also the center of Alabama's heaviest Negro population.

Join Martyr Ranks

Abernathy told members of Jackson's family and hundred of other mourners that the slain man "did not die as a coward. He was shot down on the streets of Marion standing up for his rights."

The Negro minister, himself the victim of racial violence when his home and church were bombed in Montgomery eight years ago, said Jackson "has now joined the ranks of many martyrs. He has taken his place alongside Lincoln, John Brown, Medgar Evers, Emmett Till, the four little innocent girls who died in Birmingham and the three civil rights workers in Mississippi."

Outside the church hung a sign which read, "Racism killed our brother."

Late Winter Bride

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Harrison of Washington, D.C., and Valentine, of the recent marriage of their daughter, Mary Killian, to Gregory Justin Perry, son of Mrs. Honore Joseph Perry of Chicago, and the late Mr. Perry. The ceremony was solemnized in Washington, at St. Thomas Apostle Church by the Rev. Michael Harrison of St. Columbans, Neb., cousin of the bride's father.

The maid of honor and bride's only attendant was Miss Lois Kelly, who wore a sheath frock of peau de soie in the emerald green shade with matching accessories. Her bouquet was fashioned of white feathered carnations.

Jack Parker Pollock, Jr., served as best man, and seating the guests were James Quigley Harrison, brother of the bride, Neil Mulcahy and Thomas Lyons.

The bride chose for her wedding an Empire gown of white peau de soie. A banding of Irish lace edged the rounding neckline of the bodice, which was designed with elbow sleeves, and the lace was repeated at the hem of the slender skirt and formed a deep inverted panel at the back of the gown. Her mantilla-type veil of illusion was edged with matching lace, and she carried a cascade arrangement of white camellias.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry will make their home in Chicago.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. James C. Quigley of Valentine, and the late Judge Quigley, and her mother will be remembered as the former Mary Quigley, Pi Beta Phi at the University of Nebraska and graduate of the College of Law.

Mrs. Perry is a graduate of Loretto Heights College, Denver, and attended Villa des Fougeres, Fribourg, Switzerland, during her junior college year. She also attended graduate school at Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., and served as a countess in the 1960 Court of Ak-Sar-Ben.

Mr. Perry is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis., and Georgetown University School of Law.

Club Dinner

Members of La Sertoma entertained their husbands Tuesday evening at a potluck dinner held in the party room of the First Federal Bldg.

The after-dinner hours were spent informally, and a white elephant auction was held.

Suburbia Is Hoping For Sunny Skies

PARK MANOR

This morning we have a wish to make. In view of all the plans that families in Park Manor have made for the weekend or thereabouts, we cross our fingers and wish them sunny weather for the future.

Spirits are high despite the outlook of no bank holidays, but that doesn't mean suburbanites can't devise their own type of a holiday, unofficial though it would be.

Parties, birthdays and trips—they sound like the usual activities we agree—but as always, they add up to a busy and interesting world.

Mr. and Mrs .Willis Brown have a guest to mention this morning. Mrs. Brown's mother, Mrs. Robert Koepke, of Elwood, arrived yesterday to spend six days at the home of her son-in-law and daughter.

One comes and another leaves—Mrs. Robert Hewston for example. It will be a real vacation for Mrs. Hewston since her destination is Florida where ice and snow are obsolete. It also is a chance for her to just get away from it all for about 10 days. Mrs. Hewston will visit at the home of her mother, Mrs. Richard Nelson in Sarasota.

We hear Maj. Hewston is getting a taste of household chores while his wife is gone and is keeping a watchful eye on the children. Come March 13, there will be one wife and mother who will be welcomed home by 12 appreciative arms.

Another wife received attention last Saturday night. We are speaking of Mrs. Clayton Rock. Saturday was her birthday, and to mark the occasion, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson joined Mr. and Mrs. Rock for dinner at the Cornhusker Hotel. Following the dining-out, the foursome went to the Thompson home for the remainder of the evening.

Mrs. Howard Wittmuss and children, Steven and Lynn, and Mrs. Wittmuss's mother, Mrs. Carl Schlathoss drove up to Weeping Water to visit with a former resident of that town, Mrs. Harley Thurslund, now of San Diego, Calif. Mrs. Thurslund is spending her vacation at the home of her mother, Mrs. Charles Gibson.

More news by way of California as we look at Mrs. Dorothy DuTeau's recent ventures. She returned just one week ago after spending two weeks in San Rafael as a guest at the home of former Lincoln residents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Derryberry and their two sons, Mark and Paul.

Mrs. Derryberry made the jet ride back to Lincoln with Mrs. DuTeau en route to Puerto Rico for her two weeks vacation. In Puerto Rico she will be joined by Mr. Derryberry who had to make a business trip before he could make the flight South. Anyway Mrs. Derryberry spent a day at Mrs. DuTeau's home before she continued on her way. Meanwhile Mark and Paul are back in San Diego with their grandparents.

Club Sponsors Craft Exhibit

The clever fingers of the Junior Woman's Club members provided the program Wednesday afternoon when the club held its annual handcraft exhibit following a luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club.

Handmade accessories, knitted sweaters and needlepoint tapestries were only a few of the ingenious articles exhibited. Top prize-winning entries will be entered in district and state contests later this spring.

High Fashion For Small Set

All dressed up and no place to go — not this week, that is—are these children of Delta Gamma alumnae who are earnestly rehearsing their roles for the sorority's spring fashion show, to be held next Tuesday afternoon at the Gateway auditorium.

Entitled, appropriately enough, "It's A Small World," the fashions for small-fry will be modeled by a group of 30 children of alumnae members of Delta Gamma and is being staged as a benefit for the sorority's philanthropy of aiding the national Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

From the left are Miss Cynthia Pollard, 4, who is wearing a party print with a very full skirt; Miss Linda Randolph. 2, all done-up in her Easter coat and bonnet; Miss Pamela Pollard, 5, also ready for the Easter Parade; Chuck Randolph, modeling what the well-dressed 4-yeaf-old male will wear this spring; Miss Virginia VanHorn, 3, showing off with professional poise her reefer coat and matching beret; and Miss Connie Tebo, 5, who is charming in her full-skirted spring coat and perky bonnet.

The models are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Tebo, Mr. and Mrs. James Pollard, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Randolph and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. VanHorn.

The fashions will highlight a benefit card party to begin at 1 o'clock, and proceeds will go to the sorority's project of vision-screening in the Lincoln schools, co-sponsored by the Public School Administration and Lincoln ophthalmologists.

Opening lead — ace of diamonds.

You don't look a gift horse in the mouth, even when it comes to you at the table on a silver platter. You take it, say thank you to the opponents, and go on to the next deal, having taken fullest advantage of the gift.

Boris Schapiro, British star, was declarer at four spades in this hand from a match between France and Great Britain. Four spades could have been defeated in several different ways, but the defense had no sure guide line to follow and chose the one course that gave Schapiro a chance to make the contract.

West began with the ace of diamonds and, when East signaled with the nine, continued with a diamond. East covered the ten with the jack and Schapiro ruffed. The defense had no way of knowing it at this point, but they had already chucked the contract.

Schapiro drew two rounds of trumps, ending in his hand, and then led a low heart. West had to play the queen to protect his heart trick, and dummy took it with the ace.

Schapiro next led the queen of diamonds, covered by the king, but, instead of ruffing it, he discarded a club As a result of this play, he succeeded in making the contract. East had to lead a club away from the king, or else yield a ruff and discard.

Of course, if West had had the king of clubs, this method of play would have failed. In that case, the simpler method of leading low club towards the queen would have done the job.

But Schapiro knew from the bidding that East had the king of clubs. West would not have opened with a preemptive bid, holding seven good hearts, the ace of diamonds, and the king of clubs as well. With such a hand he would certainly have opened one heart.

The endplay clearly offered the better chance.

'Collective Defense' Legal Basis For Air Strike

Washington (UPI) — The State Department Wednesday defined the legal basis for U.S. air strikes against North Viet Nam as a matter of "collective defense" authorized by the United Nations Charter.

It said that no "state of war" exists between the United States and the Communist Southeast Asian nation.

In response to questions put to it over several days, the State Department issued a statement which said:

"The fact that military hostilities have been taking place in Southeast Asia does not bring about the existence of a state of war which is a legal characterization of a situation rather than a factual description.

'Armed Aggression'

"What we have in Viet Nam, as the President and secretary of state have said, is armed aggression from the north against the Republic of Viet Nam

"Pursuant to South Viet Nam's request and consultations between our two governments, the Republic of (South) Viet Nam and the United States are engaged in collective defense against that armed aggression. The inherent right of individual and collective defense is recognized in Article 51 of the United Nations Charter"

Article 51 says, "Nothing in the present Charter shall impair the inherent right of individual or collective self defense if an armed attack occurs against a member of the United Nations, until the Security Council has taken the measures necessary to maintain international peace and security."

Under the U.S. Constitution only Congress can declare a state of war.

Within Powers

But the State Department said "there can be no doubt" that U.S. actions in Viet Nam "fall within the constitutional powers of the President and within the congressional resolution of August 1964."

The resolution was passed by the House and Senate Aug. 7 following Communist torpedo boat attacks on U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin which resulted in brief U.S. air strikes against North Vietnamese coastal installations.

The resolution said that "the Congress approves and supports the determination of the President, as commander-in-chief, to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression."

It also declared that the United States was prepared, as the President determined "to take all necessary steps, including the use of armed force" to assist any member or protocol state of the Southeast Asia collective defense treaty which requested "assistance in defense of its freedom."

SLATED TO LEAD BECHUANALAND

Seretse Khama, left, slated to become Bechuanaland's prime minister, and British-born Ruth Williams married 17 years ago after meeting while he was a student at Oxford. Khama, 43, former chief of the Bamagwato Tribe, was once banished from the arid Texas-size country for marrying the British girl. He was permitted to return in 1956 after giving up all claims to the tribal throne. His Conservative Democratic Party was victorious in the country's first parliamentary elections.

Egypt's MIG Jets Back Off After Invading Israel

Tel Aviv, Israel (AP)—Egyptian MIG fighters crossed from Sinai into the air space of the Negev Desert Wednesday, but were driven back by Israeli Mirage jets, a military spokesman announced.

"All our planes returned safely to their base," he said.

Reports from the border said four Egyptian planes were involved.

North of the Sea of Galilee, there was another clash with Syrian frontier forces. The spokesman said Syrian machine gun fire wounded an Israeli tractor driver working near the Almagor settlement on the west bank of the Jordan River and damaged his machine.

Seize Muslim In Malcolm X Assassination

New York (AP)—A third suspect in the assassination of Negro nationalist Malcom X was seized Wednesday, from within the ranks of the rival Black Muslim sect. Like the others, he was booked on homicide charges.

He is Thomas 15X Johnson, 30, a tall, sharply dressed Negro with a thin mustache, who served in the shadowy elite guard circle of Elijah Muhammad's Chicago-based Muslim organization.

"I have ordered him booked for the homicide of Malcolm X, which he perpetrated with others," said Asst. Dist. Atty. Herbert J. Stern, refusing any details.

"We didn't book him for nothing," Asst. Chief Inspector Joseph L. Coyle told newsmen. As for further arrests in the assassination, Coyle said that "It's still under investigation."

In Chicago, a son of Black Muslims' leader Elijah Muhammad again denied that the black supremacy sect was involved in Malcom's murder and said he had never heard of Thomas 15X Johnson.

QUALITATE NON COMPARABILI

Now try... The smoothest whisky ever to come out of Canada!

Next time you're making the drinks, instead of your usual whiskey, use this superior import.

Do what thousands of smart drinkers have done: Compare Windsor Canadian with your usual whiskey. Make two drinks, one with your "usual," the other Windsor. You'll be amazed—as thousands are—at the extra smoothness of Windsor There are three reasons for this!

1. Windsor is distilled and aged in dry, crisp, mile-high Rocky Mountain air.
2. Windsor is made from Western Canadian grain, hearty and vigorous.
3. And the water is clear pure glacial water.

No wonder Windsor is the smoothest whisky ever to come out of Canada.

Yet this uniquely smooth, elegant import is priced right in line with leading popular-priced whiskeys. Try it.

Late Winter Bride

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Harrison of Washington, D.C., and Valentine, of the recent marriage of their daughter, Mary Killian, to Gregory Justin Perry, son of Mrs. Honore Joseph Perry of Chicago, and the late Mr. Perry. The ceremony was solemnized in Washington, at St. Thomas Apostle Church by the Rev. Michael Harrison of St. Columbans, Neb., cousin of the bride's father.

The maid of honor and bride's only attendant was Miss Lois Kelly, who wore a sheath frock of peau de soie in the emerald green shade with matching accessories. Her bouquet was fashioned of white feathered carnations.

Jack Parker Pollock, Jr., served as best man, and seating the guests were James Quigley Harrison, brother of the bride, Neil Mulcahy and Thomas Lyons.

The bride chose for her wedding an Empire gown of white peau de soie. A banding of Irish lace edged the rounding neckline of the bodice, which was designed with elbow sleeves, and the lace was repeated at the hem of the slender skirt and formed a deep inverted panel at the back of the gown. Her mantilla-type veil of illusion was edged with matching lace, and she carried a cascade arrangement of white camellias.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry will make their home in Chicago.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. James C. Quigley of Valentine, and the late Judge Quigley, and her mother will be remembered as the former Mary Quigley, Pi Beta Phi at the University of Nebraska and graduate of the College of Law.

Mrs. Perry is a graduate of Loretto Heights College, Denver, and attended Villa des Fougeres, Fribourg, Switzerland, during her junior college year. She also attended graduate school at Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., and served as a countess in the 1960 Court of Ak-Sar-Ben.

Mr. Perry is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis., and Georgetown University School of Law.

Club Dinner

Members of La Sertoma entertained their husbands Tuesday evening at a potluck dinner held in the party room of the First Federal Bldg.

The after-dinner hours were spent informally, and a white elephant auction was held.

PARK MANOR

This morning we have a wish to make. In view of all the plans that families in Park Manor have made for the weekend or thereabouts, we cross our fingers and wish them sunny weather for the future.

Spirits are high despite the outlook of no bank holidays, but that doesn't mean suburbanites can't devise their own type of a holiday, unofficial though it would be.

Parties, birthdays and trips—they sound like the usual activities we agree—but as always, they add up to a busy and interesting world.

Mr. and Mrs .Willis Brown have a guest to mention this morning. Mrs. Brown's mother, Mrs. Robert Koepke, of Elwood, arrived yesterday to spend six days at the home of her son-in-law and daughter.

One comes and another leaves—Mrs. Robert Hewston for example. It will be a real vacation for Mrs. Hewston since her destination is Florida where ice and snow are obsolete. It also is a chance for her to just get away from it all for about 10 days. Mrs. Hewston will visit at the home of her mother, Mrs. Richard Nelson in Sarasota.

We hear Maj. Hewston is getting a taste of household chores while his wife is gone and is keeping a watchful eye on the children. Come March 13, there will be one wife and mother who will be welcomed home by 12 appreciative arms.

Another wife received attention last Saturday night. We are speaking of Mrs. Clayton Rock. Saturday was her birthday, and to mark the occasion, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson joined Mr. and Mrs. Rock for dinner at the Cornhusker Hotel. Following the dining-out, the foursome went to the Thompson home for the remainder of the evening.

Mrs. Howard Wittmuss and children, Steven and Lynn, and Mrs. Wittmuss's mother, Mrs. Carl Schlathoss drove up to Weeping Water to visit with a former resicent of that town, Mrs. Harley Thurslund, now of San Diego, Calif. Mrs. Thurslund is spending her vacation at the home of her mother, Mrs. Charles Gibson.

More news by way of California as we look at Mrs. Dorothy DuTeau's recent ventures. She returned just one week ago after spending two weeks in San Rafael as a guest at the home of former Lincoln residents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Derryberry and their two sons, Mark and Paul.

Mrs. Derryberry made the jet ride back to Lincoln with Mrs. DuTeau en route to Puerto Rico for her two weeks vacation. In Puerto Rico she will be joined by Mr. Derryberry who had to make a business trip before he could make the flight South. Anyway Mrs. Derryberry spent a day at Mrs. DuTeau's home before she continued on her way. Meanwhile Mark and Paul are back in San Diego with their grandparents.

Club Sponsors Craft Exhibit

The clever fingers of the Junior Woman's Club members provided the program Wednesday afternoon when the club held its annual handcraft exhibit following a luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club.

Handmade accessories, knitted sweaters and needlepoint tapestries were only a few of the ingenious articles exhibited. Top prize-winning entries will be entered in district and state contests later this spring.

High Fashion For Small Set

All dressed up and no place to go — not this week, that is—are these children of Delta Gamma alumnae who are earnestly rehearsing their roles for the sorority's spring fashion show, to be held next Tuesday afternoon at the Gateway auditorium.

Entitled, appropriately enough, "It's A Small World," the fashions for small-fry will be modeled by a group of 30 children of alumnae members of Delta Gamma and is being staged as a benefit for the sorority's philanthropy of aiding the national Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

From the left are Miss Cynthia Pollard, 4, who is wearing a party print with a very full skirt; Miss Linda Randolph. 2, all done-up in her Easter coat and bonnet; Miss Pamela Pollard, 5, also ready for the Easter Parade; Chuck Randolph, modeling what the well-dressed 4-yeafold male will wear this spring; Miss Virginia Van-Horn, 3, showing off with professional poise her reefer coat and matching beret; and Miss Connie Tebo, 5, who is charming in her full-skirted spring coat and perky bonnet.

The models are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Tebo, Mr. and Mrs. James Pollard, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Randolph and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. VanHorn.

The fashions will highlight a benefit card party to begin at 1 o'clock, and proceeds will go to the sorority's project of vision-screening in the Lincoln schools, co-sponsored by the Public School Administration and Lincoln ophthalmologists.

QUALITATE NON COMPARABILI

Now try... The smoothest whisky ever to come out of Canada!

Next time you're making the drinks, instead of your usual whiskey, use this superior import.

Do what thousands of smart drinkers have done: Compare Windsor Canadian with your usual whiskey. Make two drinks, one with your "usual," the other Windsor. You'll be amazed—as thousands are—at the extra smoothness of Windsor There are three reasons for this!

1. Windsor is distilled and aged in dry, crisp, mile-high Rocky Mountain air.
2. Windsor is made from Western Canadian grain, hearty and vigorous.
3. And the water is clear pure glacial water.

No wonder Windsor is the smoothest whisky ever to come out of Canada.

Yet this uniquely smooth, elegant import is priced right in line with leading popular-priced whiskeys. Try it.

Dutch Girl Takes Lead In Skating

. . . Haigler 2nd

Colorado Springs, Colo. (AP) —Petra Burka, Dutchborn Canadian star, held the lead in women's singles Wednesday after completion of the six compulsory figures at the World's Figure Skating Championships.

This put the 18-year-old Toronto girl in a commanding position for the championship since she is regarded as the best free skater in amateur competition.

The free-skating tests, preceding the awarding of the title, will be held Thursday night. Sjoukje Dijkstra of the Netherlands turned professional after winning the world crown the last three years.

The red-costumed Miss Burka, who won the North American championship last week, scored 15.0 ordinal points and 1,256.4 total points.

Christine Haigler, 17-year-old Colorado Springs high school girl, who led after four figures, dropped to second with 16.5 ordinals and 1,255.4 total points.

Falls City Club Knocks Out Papillion; Millard Dumps Syracuse In 'B' Play

. . . LATE GOALS BAIL OUT TIGERS

Falls City upset Papillion in an overtime cliffhanger and Millard disposed of Syracuse in the first round of Class B district basketball tournament action at Wesleyan's Taylor Gymnasium Wednesday night.

The winners now will meet each other in the semifinals Friday.

A pair of last-ditch goals pulled it out for Falls City, which now has won only five games in 17 starts. John Martin got the first, a 15-foot jumper with four seconds left in the regulation game that tied it at 53-all. Tom Perry came up with the second, an eight-footer from the side with three seconds left in the overtime that gave the Tigers a 57-55 decision.

Millard survived a second-quarter onslaught by Syracuse to wrap up a relatively easy 54-45 verdict.

Falls City led only twice after the early moments and not at all in the second half. Papillion, which closes with an 11-9 record, was on its way to sewing things up with a 36-27 bulge early in the second quarter before Falls City fought back with 10 straight points that gained the Tigers a brief 37-36 lead.

The Monarchs regained control at the quarter, 40-37, and had leads ranging up to five points most of the final period. They had a four-point bulge, in fact, at 53-49 with 36 seconds to play after two free throws by Jim Seawards. But Jim Lippold responded with a long push shot for Falls City with 28 seconds to play to cut the gap to two.

Seawards missed a free throw with 22 seconds left and Perry was fouled with 17 seconds to go. He missed the gift try, but Falls City retained the ball and got it to Martin in time for the desperation shot with tied things.

Jump shots by Lippold and Seawards, the latter with 53 seconds to play, kept things even in the overtime. Falls City then worked for the last shot and missed it when Dan Schatz's long pusher bounced away. But Perry grabbed it and sidearmed a shot which fell through, and the remaining three seconds weren't enough for Papillion.

Seawards was the big scorer with 19, while Mike Castle got 15 for Falls City.

Bill Hansen tossed in 25 points to lead Millard, now 13-7 for the season. The Indians led, 11-4, after a slow first quarter, but Syracuse came back with a 21-point burst in the second period to tie it at halftime, 25-25.

It was a final gasp, however, for the Rockets, who close with a 4-14 record. Hansen banged in 11 points and began to dominate the backboards in a third quarter during which Millard rolled to a 41-32 lead.

After that it was simply a matter of running out the clock, and a late Millard stall kept Syracuse from threatening further.

Larry Stoner with 15 and Dean Thomson with 14 were the top Syracuse scorers.

Sooners Favored To Outswim Loop

. . . AT AMES POOL

Ames, Iowa — Oklahoma, with the top two relay units and two outstanding do-everything performers in Jack Hove and Jim Manring, ranks as the favorite at this weekend's Big Eight Conference swimming championships at Iowa State.

The favorite's tag is nothing new for the Sooners, winners of the last 10 straight team titles in the conference. However, Oklahoma can expect to be pushed by Iowa State, Kansas, and Nebraska.

Swimming in Iowa State's new Beyer Hall pool on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, coaches are predicting that most of the league's records are in jeopardy, even after the wholesale onslaught of last year when 13 of the 15 marks were shattered.

In addition to Hove, who holds the Big Eight's best for the year in the 50 and 100 freestyle, and Manring, who is tops in the 200 individual medley, and the 200 and 500 freestyle, the Sooners have plenty of depth in the sprints, individual medley, backstroke, breaststroke, and butterfly.

Iowa State also has a good pair of relay teams, plus a good sprinter in John Moreland, fine all-events man in Dan McQuillen, and the best of the backstrokers with Neal Armstrong.

Kansas' relay teams rank just a shade behind the Oklahoma and Iowa State crews. Individually, the Jayhawkers have Dick Bisbee ranked in the sprints, Don Pennington in the individual medley and distance events, and Bill Johnson in the backstroke.

Nebraska's main hopes lie with Mike Jackson, best of the Big Eight in the breaststroke, Dave Frank, individual medley and backstroke, Jon Burchill, butterfly, and Taylor Whitlow, distance.

Kansas State breaks into the top rankings with sprinter Tom Hanlon and all-eventer Bob Duenkel. Colorado's Don Kopp is ranked in the breaststroke, as is Oklahoma State's Bill Ewens.

Northeast Upsets Pius In Overtime Squeaker

Thompson's FG Saves Rockets

. . . IN FINAL MINUTE

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Northeast's Gary Thompson, who didn't take off his warmup togs until there were just 24 seconds remaining in regulation play, snuffed out the state tourney hopes of third-ranked Pius X with a 15-foot jump shot with 23 seconds remaining in an overtime session Wednesday night.

His only attempt from the field finished the scoring as the sixth-ranked Rockets, who trailed by three points with only 1:10 left in the overtime, nipped the Thunderbolts, 70-69.

The extra period was needed after Pius X stormed back from a 64-60 deficit to tie at 64-64 in the last 42 seconds of the fourth quarter.

The outcome was in doubt from the opening tip as the lead changed hands 19 times. The Thunderbolts weren't out of it until a lead pass intended for Dayle Churchill sailed over his fingertips with just two seconds remaining.

Northeast now moves into Saturday night's championship contest against the winner of tonight's Lincoln High-Southeast contest. The opening night battle at Pershing Auditorium drew 4,475 fans.

Churchill, the strapping Pius X pivot performer, topped all scorers with 28 points and paced the fourth quarter rally that put Lane Birkel's team ahead again at 60-58 after it had trailed by as much as seven points early in the fourth quarter.

It was Churchill (22), Mike Bohaty (18) and Mick Johnson (10), who had led the Thunderbolts past the Rockets, 66-51, in last year's district finals.

This time the Rockets had the answer for the terrific trio, however.

It came primarily from three players who didn't see any action in last year's setback — Ron Goldenstein, Bryce Doebele and Jack Ketterer.

Goldenstein turned in an inspired effort to lead the Rockets with 24 points, his best scoring night since he got 16 in the season opener at Kearney.

Doebele, the invaluable addition from Elmwood, added 23 before fouling out with 24 seconds left in regulation play. He and Goldenstein accounted for 28 of the Northeast first half points as the Rockets led a more balanced Pius X effort, 31-30.

Ketterer was scoreless in the first half, but Ed Johnson's floor general dropped in 10 crucial points in the second half and set up several field goals for the front liners with fine passing.

His steal and feed to Doebele pushed the Rockets in front 62-60 and he made it 64-60 seconds later with pair of free throws.

Then Pius X tied it on Churchill's fielder and a pair of free throws by Johnson.

The Rockets called time out with nine seconds left to set up a last shot by Ketterer to break the deadlock. But Churchill leaped high to partially deflect his shot from the top of the key and the game was sent into overtime.

Churchill scooped in a shot in the opening seconds of the overtime and Bob Hahn shook loose from the Pius X press to knot the count at 66-66.

Bohaty, who missed portions of the first and second half becalse of foul trouble, then sank three of four foul shots in the next 90 seconds to boost the Thunderbolts in front, 69-66, with 1:10 left.

Goldenstein made it 69-68 on a quick tally and the Rockets got a break with 35 seconds left when Johnson's cross-court pass from the baseline bounced off the rim of the basket and came down in Northeast hands.

Then Thompson put the Rockets on top.

The Rockets boosted their mark to 12-4 with the triumph. The Pius X campaign ended at 14-3.

Central City, Geneva Garner Semi Berths In 'B' District

. . . YORK, GI NORTHWEST VICTIMS

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

York—Central City and Geneva gained simifinal berths in the Class B, district 5 basketball tourney here Wednesday night, turning in winning performances against York and Northwest Grand Island, respectively.

Central City held off a third quarter charge by York to gain a 73-64 victory in the first game, while Geneva eased to a 90-38 decision over Northwest in the final first-round game.

After rebuilding a 61-52 lead, with 3:51 left in the game, Bison coach Ray Huggett called time to plan his winning strategy.

It came in the form of a stall, but it was abandoned soon after for a semi-stall as York's Bill Roehrs stole the ball for an easy two points.

York fouls, converted by Central City to easy points, widened the lead to 13 with less than two minutes to play, and then they held on for the win.

York coach Tex Harvey installed a press late in the first half, and it paid off temporarily as Gene Staehr picked up two easy lay-ins on steals and Tom Schuessler got another in cutting the Central City margin to two points, 50-48, after three quarters of play.

A Mike Babcock field goal gave York a momentary tie, 48-all, with 22 seconds left in the third period, but Paul Burbach's lay-up for Central City regained the lead for the Bison.

Babcock led all scorers with 29 points, while Van Hesselgesser paced the winners at 17.

Central City finished with four players with more than 10 points.

In the second contest powerful Geneva was never challenged, as the Wildcats coasted to the 90-38 decision over an out classed Northwest Grand Island club.

The Wildcats opened up a 3-point lead before the Vikings could manage a point, and widened it continually throughout the game.

At the end of the first period Geneva boasted a 20-8 advantage, while at the half it had a 45-14 margin. The two teams each gathered 14 points in the third quarter, but Geneva was using reserves nearly the whole time.

Bob Gratopp led the winner's scoring with 23, while Northwest got a 20-point effort from 6-3 Jerry Wiley.

York College Wins First Meet Test

Des Moines (UPI)—York, Neb., rated the No. 1 team in the Region 11 Junior College basketball tournament here, had to go all out Wednesday to defeat the bottom-seeded team in an opening round game.

York finally pulled ahead at 27-26 and went on to outlast No. 16 rated Estherville (Iowa) for an 86-81 victory. York led at the half, 45-39.

Rick Turner paced the York attack with 27 points, while Chuck Clifton led the Estherville scoring with 23 markers. York improved its record to 19-1, while Estherville has won only 4 of 15 games.

Earlier, forward Dale Honeck poured in 32 points to pace Marshalltown to a 97-85 victory over Mason City. Marshalltown advanced to a quarter-final game against Burlington Thursday night.

Tutor-Indian Scrap Blends Top Hitters

. . . IN GAME TONIGHT

Top-ranked University High continues its bid for a Class C state tournament berth as it tangles with Pawnee City at Nebraska City Thursday night. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

The playoff game between the Tutors (17-4) and Indians (18-2) shapes up as a duel between outside marksmen Ron Schroeder of University High and Sam Martin of Pawnee City.

Schroeder, leading scorer in Lincoln, tossed in 29 points as the Tutors rambled past Sterling in their district finals.

Martin, regarded as one of the top shooters in the state, scored 41 as the Indians demolished Falls City Sacred Heart, 88-69, in the district finals at Johnson.

Both have scoring averages of better than 22 points a game.

Pawnee City's hopes for an upset win were given a severe jolt Wednesday when it was learned that Joel Parks, a 6-1 senior forward, had scarlet fever.

Parks was the leading rebounder for the Indians, grabbing 233 in 20 games. He also carried a 15.6 points-per-game average for the season.

Winner of the playoff contest will advance to the state tourney in Lincoln Mar. 11-13.

. . . AT SITE NAMED FOR HER

Sydney, Australia (AP)—Dawn Fraser made what may be her last public appearance as a swimming star—at the Dawn Fraser Pool Wednesday night.

The pool, at Blamain Municipality near here, was where Miss Fraser learned to swim. It formerly was called Elkington Park Baths, but the name was changed after Miss Fraser's success in the Tokyo Olympics Games last year when she won the 100-meter freestyle for the third successive time.

Excited young fans mobbed Miss Fraser when she appeared for an exhibition swim at a carnival but the 500-strong crowd watched in silence when she began to swim, apparently aware they were witnessing the end of her career.

Then, when Miss Fraser emerged from the pool, cheers and applause burst from the spectators, and she had to flee to a dressing room to escape enthusiastic well-wishers.

Later, Miss Fraser took part in a waterpolo game—but still the rebel. She wore the same unofficial swimming costume that she had worn in defiance of officials at the Tokyo Games.

The costume had been one reason given for her 10-year ban by the Australian Swimming Union which also penalized three other girls.

Earlier, Miss Fraser conferred with her attorneys, who are attempting to find a way to overcome the ASU's action.

The union allowed Miss Fraser to take part in Wednesday night's events because she has not yet been officially notified of the ban.

Meanwhile, in Rome, Linda McGill, another of the penalized Olympians, said the whole affair "is a ridiculous story."

In an interview with the Rome daily Giornale D-Italia, the 19-year-old swimmer, in Rome on a holiday, said:

"No, it's not a matter of having gone out with boys. During the Olympic Games, we were allowed to go out with whomever we liked provided we got back to Olympic Village by 10 o'clock at night and our private life didn't interfere with training.

"I don't know what will happen now, "It's impossible that the swimming union would backtrack on the expulsions considering the hard heads they've got there.

"Right now, I don't want to think about it. Friday I'll be leaving for Paris. then we're going to London where we'll do some swimming to keep in form."

Miss McGill is traveling in Europe with two other Australian swimmers, Ilsa Konrad and Ruth Everuss, who both competed in the 1960 Olympic Games in Rome.

Broncos Tip Midland For Tourney Spot

Fremont (AP)—Hastings College won a repeat trip to the NAIA finals in Kansas City next week by dusting off Midland, 81-68 Wednesday.

In Tuesday's meeting, Hastings was the winner 67-48 in the best of three playoffs to represent District 11.

Hastings built up a 48-35 lead in the first half, then traded points with the home team through the second period to win by the same 13-point margin.

Ed Lorentzen paced Hastings with 20 points followed by Bennie Crawford with 20.

Dick Mendenhall got 19 for the home team and Rich Fowler, a senior playing his last game for Midland, added 15.

—2ND STRAIGHT YEAR—

Evansville Takes Small College Title

By The Associated Press

The Evansville Purple Aces, an outstanding team that especially excells when the chips are down, finished on top in The Associated Press' small-college basketball poll for the second straight season Wednesday.

The Aces completed their regular schedule with a 24-0 record last Saturday by defeating Southern Illinois 68-67 on the SIU court. They had beaten the Salukis 81-80 in an earlier game at Evansville.

In the final vote by a special panel of 18 regional experts, Evansville collected 16 votes for first place and 175 points on a basis of 10 for a first, nine for a second, etc.

Central State of Ohio, also unbeaten at 23-0, finished second. Southern Illinois was third, followed by High Point, Fairmont, W. V., North Dakota, Gannon, Grambling, Augsburg and Philadelphia Textile.

Grambling was the only other team to repeat as a Top Ten finisher. The Tigers were third in last year's final poll.

Central State wound up its season last week by defeating Wilberforce 82-74 and Lincoln, Mo., 86-83.

Southern Illinois and High Point switched positions in the last vote. High Point lost its third game of the season, 67-60 to Elon.

Fairmont held the No. 5 position after winning four times for a 27-2 mark. North Dakota advanced three places to sixth on a 22-4 record.

Gannon fell back one notch to seventh after splitting two games for a 20-3 record, while Grambling held eighth place. The Tigers, 20-5 through last Saturday, downed Wiley and Southern University of Louisiana.

Guerin Hot In St. Louis Win

St. Louis (AP)— Player-coach Richie Guerin led his St. Louis Hawks in a second-half surge that wiped out a 13-point deficit and dropped the Philadelphia 76ers 124-110 in a National Basketball Association game Wednesday.

Guerin, in one of his best efforts of the season, scored 33 points for the game, including 22 in the first half and nine in the fourt-quarter rally. The Hawks erased an 86-73. Philadelphia lead in the third quarter and then coasted home in the final period.

West's Shot Lifts Lakers

Boston (AP)—Jerry West hit a 35-foot jump shot in the final second to give the Los Angeles Lakers a come-from-behind 104-102 victory over the Boston Celtics Wednesday night in a National Basketball Association game.

The Lakers put the ball in play with only three seconds remaining and West's desperation toss swished through at the buzzer. This gave West high scoring honors with 30 points.

The Celtics, losing only their third game of the season at home, held a 16-point lead, 42-26 early in the second period. But Los Angeles gradually whittled down the deficit and moved in front for the first time midway in the final quarter.

The lead then see-sawed until West settled matters at the end.

200 Entered At Top Indoor Meet

Omaha (UPI) — The distance events are expected to highlight the seventh annual Central Intercollegiate Indoor Track and Field Championships at the University of Omaha, Friday and Saturday.

Standouts like John Camien (4:01.7 mile this year) of Emporia; Den Gould of Omaha; Don Lakin of Fort Hays; and Bob Camien of Emporia will probably furnish the excitement in the top indoor meet of the year at OU.

Camien has the best indoor mile of the year in the U.S. He spun his 4:01.7 at the Seattle Invitational early in February.

Meet director Lloyd Cardwell, Omaha U. track coach, said about 220 athletes have been entered in the affair.

Iron-Man Ron Clarke Adds 10-Mile Mark To Records

. . . AFTER TRIP FROM U.S.

Melbourne, Australia (AP)—The indefatigable Ron Clarke added the world 10-mile record to his imposing list of distance running marks Wednesday—a few hours after flying home from the United States.

The lean Melbourne accountant, stricken with a pain in the side after seven miles, held on and covered the distance in 47 minutes, 12.8 seconds.

That was 14 seconds faster than the record held by Mel Batty of England.

Within the past 15 months, the long-striding Australian flyer has bettered the world records for the three miles, 5,000 meters, six miles and 10,000 meters outdoors and the three miles indoors.

Wednesday night he raced under the lights at the Mentone track, but at one stage it appeared he might not make it.

After covering seven miles, he developed a stitch in his side and, he said, seriously considered abandoning the race.

"I slowed up and gave myself a rest by taking 84 seconds for the lap," he said afterward. "Fortunately, it worked. If it hadn't, I would have pulled out."

Clarke, a mild, crew-cut six-footer who looks more like a bank clerk than an athlete, achieved the record despite a whirlwind transcontinental campaign that carried him to the United States and back in less than a week.

He flew to San Francisco last Wednesday and won the two-mile event there in 8 minutes, 34.8 seconds. Then, with only four hours sleep, he caught a plane for Lousiville, where he ran another two-mile race Saturday night in 8:35.4

On Sunday, he caught a plane for Australia, arriving there Tuesday. Because of the international date line, Australia is almost a full day ahead of the United States.

The trip covered some 20,000 miles.

Clarke, father of a 5-year-old daughter and 4-year-old son, said this may be his last year for overseas trips although he expects to continue running because he likes it.

"I'd like to run for three or four more years," he said. "I'm not as interested in records as I am in winning."

A Spartan in the matter of training, Clarke runs three miles before breakfast, six miles at lunch and 12 to 14 miles at night.

"I never miss that evening workout," he said. "It's a must."

Art Hernandez Bombs Winters For 19th Victory

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP)—Art Hernandez of Omaha, Neb. the world's No. 8 junior middle-weight, stopped previously unbeaten Stormy Winters of Miami in seven rounds at Miami Beach Auditorium Wednesday night.

Hernandez, his 158 pounds packed into a 5-foot-8 wedge frame, battered the inexperienced Winters with solid shots from the opening bell and dropped him for a count of eight in the fourtth. Referee Cy Gottfried called it off after seven.

Winters, at 151 ponuds, was Hernandez' fifth knockout victim. Hernandez has a 19-2-1 record.

Pistons Stay In Shadow Of Bullets

Detroit (AP) —High scoring guards Eddie Miles, Terry Dischinger and Rod Thorn enabled the Detroit Pistons to beat the San Francisco Warriors 110-107 Wednesday night and remain 2½ games behind Baltimore in a battle for the final Western Division playoff spot in the National Basketball Association.

Miles put in 29 of his 35 points in the first half. Dischinger got 29 of his 26 in the second half. Thorn chipped in 15.

The defeat was the 11th straight for the Warriors and their 35th in their last 38 games.

For the Pistons, it was their fourth straight victory, tying their longest streak of the season.

The Warriors jumped to a 34-20 lead, with McCoy McLemore caging 11 points. But the Pistons countered with nine in a row, paced by Don Kojis, three baskets and a free throw, to cut the San Francisco lead to 61-58 at the half.

Pro Agreement Delights Big Ten Commissioner

. . . FOOTBALL POLICIES 'CLEARED'

Chicago (AP) —Commissioner Bill Reed of the Big Ten expressed delight Wednesday with a mutual agreement with the National and American Football Leagues in cooperative relations with collegiate football.

In a discussion meeting with conference football coaches, athletic directors and publicity men, Reed said:

"It has been a momentous thing to receive assurances from the several pro leagues that they recognize the collegiate concern in these relationships and respect the collegiate interests. We have a climate of mutual understanding and agreement which is progressive, constructive and mutually beneficial."

Reed has been working closely with Jim Corbett of Louisiana State, head of the Professional - Collegiate Relations Committee of the NCAA, and Pete Rozelle and Joe Foss, commissioners of the NFL and AFL.

Reed said these guidelines for cooperation have been approved.

1. Conference staff members should not accept any form of payment or gratuity for any form of cooperation or assistance accorded to representatives of pro football. This does not prohibit acceptance of entertainment or hospitality except that which may include payment of travel expenses or lodging.

2. A pro scout should not visit a conference campus without a letter or telephone call in advance to the athletic director or head coach obtaining permission.

3. Correspondence between the pros and a college player during his playing season or prior to the draft should be directed in care of the head coach or athletic director.

4. Pro interests should not talk to college players during the playing seasons or prior to the draft except in the presence of the head coach or athletic director, or with their knowledge or consent.

5. Pro scouts should not gossip about what is being done on other campuses or relate observations regarding activities or personnel at other colleges.

6. Cooperation with the pros for player evaluations and personnel information is encouraged, but a systematic routine must be established with a standardized form.

7. Pro scouts will not be permitted in press boxes, which is a continuing Big Ten policy. Seats in the stands will be provided at the discretion of the athletic director.

8. Pro athletes, coaches and managers should not appear on television or radio broadcasts of conference football games. Radio and television should be used to the utmost to promote intercollegiate athletics in game broadcasts.

9. Complaints regarding breaches of these procedures should be taken up with highest authorities —the pros to their commissioner and the collegiate interests to theirs.

10. Big Ten coaches should emphasize the college athlete's ability and status, and not fall back on cliches such as : "He is a great pro prospect, etc."

North Five Stuns Ryan

By The Associated Press

Omaha North, a team with a poor season record, stunned the Omaha high school basketball world Wednesday night by defeating Bishop Ryan, a top 10 team, 61-58, in the first round of their district Class A tourney.

North led at the half 30-26, then fell behind at the end of the third period, 41-43.

In a frantic last minute and a half North tied at 54-54, went ahead at 55-54, fell behind at 55-56, led at 57-56 and fell behind at 58-57 before Larry Kahow hit a field goal with 9 seconds left and Bob Davis added two free throws with 2 seconds to go.

Terrell, Machen Hone For WBA 'Championship' Scrap

. . . INTEREST PICKS UP SLIGHTLY

Chicago (AP)— Towering Ernie Terrell and trim Eddie Machen tapered off Wednesday while interest perked somewhat in their 15-round bout for the World Boxing Association's version of the heavyweight title Friday night.

"Even the WBA is buying tickets," reported co-promoter Irv Schoenwald. "They have ordered 18 of our top-priced $20 tickets."

The WBA stripped Cassius Clay of championship recognition for violating its no-return-bout dictum and has stamped the Terrell-Machen bout a title match. Clay is slated to fight Sonny Liston again, at Boston in May.

Schoenwald said he had close to $30,000 in the till, indicating about a $60,000 gross at the International Amphitheatre, scaled for $102,000.

"I'm always conservative, but we could have a good sale at the gate and wind up with between 7,000 and 8,000 people," Schoenwald said. The South Side arena has a 12,000 capacity.

The bout will be shown on closed circuit television in at least five cities — New York, Los Angeles, Cleveland, Reno and Las Vegas. There will be no radio broadcast.

Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis, Terrell's coach predicts the 6-foot-6 Chicagoan will knock out Machen within five rounds.

"Joe Louis hasn't picked a winner in his life," snorted Machen, a half-foot shorter, and, at 192, about 10 pounds lighter than Terrell. "I figure to apply so much pressure I'll dump Terrell in Joe's lap within 12 rounds."

That was the most warlike prefight statement thus far from either Terrell, who has a 36-4 record, and the 32-year-old Machen, father of four from Redding, Calif., beaten only five times in 54 bouts.

Machen has been lightly exercising since Sunday, when he ended sparring drills.

"I'm shooting for 192 pounds Friday night," said Machen, who weighed 199 when outpointed in 12 rounds in his last start, July 5, by Floyd Patterson in Stockholm. "I was too heavy against Patterson. I have fought best close to 190 pounds."

Terrell, a 7-5 choice, concluded sparring sessions Wednesday and expects to scale about 203 at Friday noon's official weigh-in.

Terrell's right to the WBA title fight is based mainly on 10-round decisions in 1963 over Cleveland Williams and Zora Folley, midway in his current 12-bout winning streak. The string started after Williams knocked out Terrell in seven on April 3, 1962.

Terrell has a potent left hand, but in the words of his own manager, Julie Isaacson, "his right hand is for carrying papers."

Dutch Girl Takes Lead In Skating

. . . Haigler 2nd

Colorado Springs, Colo. (AP) —Petra Burka, Dutchborn Canadian star, held the lead in women's singles Wednesday after completion of the six compulsory figures at the World's Figure Skating Championships.

This put the 18-year-old Toronto girl in a commanding position for the championship since she is regarded as the best free skater in amateur competition.

The free-skating tests, preceding the awarding of the title, will be held Thursday night. Sjoukje Dijkstra of the Netherlands turned professional after winning the world crown the last three years.

The red-costumed Miss Burka, who won the North American championship last week, scored 15.0 ordinal points and 1,256.4 total points.

Christine Haigler, 17-year-old Colorado Springs high school girl, who led after four figures, dropped to second with 16.5 ordinals and 1,255.4 total points.

Falls City Club Knocks Out Papillion; Millard Dumps Syracuse In 'B' Play

. . . LATE GOALS BAIL OUT TIGERS

Falls City upset Papillion in an overtime cliffhanger and Millard disposed of Syracuse in the first round of Class B district basketball tournament action at Wesleyan's Taylor Gymnasium Wednesday night.

The winners now will meet each other in the semifinals Friday.

A pair of last-ditch goals pulled it out for Falls City, which now has won only five games in 17 starts. John Martin got the first, a 15-foot jumper with four seconds left in the regulation game that tied it at 53-all. Tom Perry came up with the second, an eight-footer from the side with three seconds left in the overtime that gave the Tigers a 57-55 decision.

Millard survived a second-quarter onslaught by Syracuse to wrap up a relatively easy 54-45 verdict.

Falls City led only twice after the early moments and not at all in the second half. Papillion, which closes with an 11-9 record, was on its way to sewing things up with a 36-27 bulge early in the second quarter before Falls City fought back with 10 straight points that gained the Tigers a brief 37-36 lead.

The Monarchs regained control at the quarter, 40-37, and had leads ranging up to five points most of the final period. They had a four-point bulge, in fact, at 53-49 with 36 seconds to play after two free throws by Jim Seawards. But Jim Lippold responded with a long push shot for Falls City with 28 seconds to play to cut the gap to two.

Seawards missed a free throw with 22 seconds left and Perry was fouled with 17 seconds to go. He missed the gift try, but Falls City retained the ball and got it to Martin in time for the desperation shot with tied things.

Jump shots by Lippold and Seawards, the latter with 53 seconds to play, kept things even in the overtime. Falls City then worked for the last shot and missed it when Dan Schatz's long pusher bounced away. But Perry grabbed it and sidearmed a shot which fell through, and the remaining three seconds weren't enough for Papillion.

Seawards was the big scorer with 19, while Mike Castle got 15 for Falls City.

Bill Hansen tossed in 25 points to lead Millard, now 13-7 for the season. The Indians led, 11-4, after a slow first quarter, but Syracuse came back with a 21-point burst in the second period to tie it at halftime, 25-25.

It was a final gasp, however, for the Rockets, who close with a 4-14 record. Hansen banged in 11 points and began to dominate the backboards in a third quarter during which Millard rolled to a 41-32 lead.

After that it was simply a matter of running out the clock, and a late Millard stall kept Syracuse from threatening further.

Larry Stoner with 15 and Dean Thomson with 14 were the top Syracuse scorers.

Northeast Upsets Pius In Overtime Squeaker

Thompson's FG Saves Rockets

. . . IN FINAL MINUTE

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Northeast's Gary Thompson, who didn't take off his warmup togs until there were just 24 seconds remaining in regulation play, snuffed out the state tourney hopes of third-ranked Pius X with a 15-foot jump shot with 23 seconds remaining in an overtime session Wednesday night.

His only attempt from the field finished the scoring as the sixth-ranked Rockets, who trailed by three points with only 1:10 left in the overtime, nipped the Thunderbolts, 70-69.

The extra period was needed after Pius X stormed back from a 64-60 deficit to tie at 64-64 in the last 42 seconds of the fourth quarter.

The outcome was in doubt from the opening tip as the lead changed hands 19 times. The Thunderbolts weren't out of it until a lead pass intended for Dayle Churchill sailed over his fingertips with just two seconds remaining.

Northeast now moves into Saturday night's championship contest against the winner of tonight's Lincoln High-Southeast contest. The opening night battle at Pershing Auditorium drew 4,475 fans.

Churchill, the strapping Pius X pivot performer, topped all scorers with 28 points and paced the fourth quarter rally that put Lane Birkel's team ahead again at 60-58 after it had trailed by as much as seven points early in the fourth quarter.

It was Churchill (22), Mike Bohaty (18) and Mick Johnson (10), who had led the Thunderbolts past the Rockets, 66-51, in last year's district finals.

This time the Rockets had the answer for the terrific trio, however.

It came primarily from three players who didn't see any action in last year's setback — Ron Goldenstein, Bryce Doebele and Jack Ketterer.

Goldenstein turned in an inspired effort to lead the Rockets with 24 points, his best scoring night since he got 16 in the season opener at Kearney.

Doebele, the invaluable addition from Elmwood, added 23 before fouling out with 24 seconds left in regulation play. He and Goldenstein accounted for 28 of the Northeast first half points as the Rockets led a more balanced Pius X effort, 31-30.

Ketterer was scoreless in the first half, but Ed Johnson's floor general dropped in 10 crucial points in the second half and set up several field goals for the front liners with fine passing.

His steal and feed to Doebele pushed the Rockets in front 62-60 and he made it 64-60 seconds later with pair of free throws.

Then Pius X tied it on Churchill's fielder and a pair of free throws by Johnson.

The Rockets called time out with nine seconds left to set up a last shot by Ketterer to break the deadlock. But Churchill leaped high to partially deflect his shot from the top of the key and the game was sent into overtime.

Churchill scooped in a shot in the opening seconds of the overtime and Bob Hahn shook loose from the Pius X press to knot the count at 66-66.

Bohaty, who missed portions of the first and second half becalse of foul trouble, then sank three of four foul shots in the next 90 seconds to boost the Thunderbolts in front, 69-66, with 1:10 left.

Goldenstein made it 69-68 on a quick tally and the Rockets got a break with 35 seconds left when Johnson's cross-court pass from the baseline bounced off the rim of the basket and came down in Northeast hands.

Then Thompson put the Rockets on top.

The Rockets boosted their mark to 12-4 with the triumph. The Pius X campaign ended at 14-3.

. . . AT AMES POOL

Ames, Iowa — Oklahoma, with the top two relay units and two outstanding do-everything performers in Jack Hove and Jim Manring, ranks as the favorite at this weekend's Big Eight Conference swimming championships at Iowa State.

The favorite's tag is nothing new for the Sooners, winners of the last 10 straight team titles in the conference. However, Oklahoma can expect to be pushed by Iowa State, Kansas, and Nebraska.

Swimming in Iowa State's new Beyer Hall pool on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, coaches are predicting that most of the league's records are in jeopardy, even after the wholesale onslaught of last year when 13 of the 15 marks were shattered.

In addition to Hove, who holds the Big Eight's best for the year in the 50 and 100 freestyle, and Manring, who is tops in the 200 individual medley, and the 200 and 500 freestyle, the Sooners have plenty of depth in the sprints, individual medley, backstroke, breaststroke, and butterfly.

Iowa State also has a good pair of relay teams, plus a good sprinter in John Moreland, fine all-events man in Dan McQuillen, and the best of the backstrokers with Neal Armstrong.

Kansas' relay teams rank just a shade behind the Oklahoma and Iowa State crews. Individually, the Jayhawkers have Dick Bisbee ranked in the sprints, Don Pennington in the individual medley and distance events, and Bill Johnson in the backstroke.

Nebraska's main hopes lie with Mike Jackson, best of the Big Eight in the breaststroke, Dave Frank, individual medley and backstroke, Jon Burchill, butterfly, and Taylor Whitlow, distance.

Kansas State breaks into the top rankings with sprinter Tom Hanlon and all-eventer Bob Duenkel. Colorado's Don Kopp is ranked in the breaststroke, as is Oklahoma State's Bill Ewens.

Central City, Geneva Garner Semi Berths In 'B' District

. . . YORK, GI NORTHWEST VICTIMS

Star Sports Writer

York—Central City and Geneva gained simifinal berths in the Class B, district 5 basketball tourney here Wednesday night, turning in winning performances against York and Northwest Grand Island, respectively.

Central City held off a third quarter charge by York to gain a 73-64 victory in the first game, while Geneva eased to a 90-38 decision over Northwest in the final first-round game.

After rebuilding a 61-52 lead, with 3:51 left in the game, Bison coach Ray Huggett called time to plan his winning strategy.

It came in the form of a stall, but it was abandoned soon after for a semi-stall as York's Bill Roehrs stole the ball for an easy two points.

York fouls, converted by Central City to easy points, widened the lead to 13 with less than two minutes to play, and then they held on for the win.

York coach Tex Harvey installed a press late in the first half, and it paid off temporarily as Gene Staehr picked up two easy lay-ins on steals and Tom Schuessler got anotner in cutting the Central City margin to two points, 50-48, after three quarters of play.

A Mike Babcock field goal gave York a momentary tie, 48-all, with 22 seconds left in the third period, but Paul Burbach's lay-up for Central City regained the lead for the Bison.

Babcock led all scorers with 29 points, while Van Hesselgesser paced the winners at 17.

Central City finished with four players with more than 10 points.

In the second contest powerful Geneva was never challenged, as the Wildcats coasted to the 90-38 decision over an out classed Northwest Grand Island club.

The Wildcats opened up a 3-point lead before the Vikings could manage a point, and widened it continually throughout the game.

At the end of the first period Geneva boasted a 20-8 advantage, while at the half it had a 45-14 margin. The two teams each gathered 14 points in the third quarter, but Geneva was using reserves nearly the whole time.

Bob Gratopp led the winner's scoring with 23, while Northwest got a 20-point effort from 6-3 Jerry Wiley.

Tutor-Indian Scrap Blends Top Hitters

. . . IN GAME TONIGHT

Top-ranked University High continues its bid for a Class C state tournament berth as it tangles with Pawnee City at Nebraska City Thursday night. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

The playoff game between the Tutors (17-4) and Indians (18-2) shapes up as a duel between outside marksmen Ron Schroeder of University High and Sam Martin of Pawnee City.

Schroeder, leading scorer in Lincoln, tossed in 29 points as the Tutors rambled past Sterling in their district finals.

Martin, regarded as one of the top shooters in the state, scored 41 as the Indians demolished Falls City Sacred Heart, 88-69, in the district finals at Johnson.

Both have scoring averages of better than 22 points a game.

Pawnee City's hopes for an upset win were given a severe jolt Wednesday when it was learned that Joel Parks, a 6-1 senior forward, had scarlet fever.

Parks was the leading rebounder for the Indians, grabbing 233 in 20 games. He also carried a 15.6 points-per-game average for the season.

Winner of the playoff contest will advance to the state tourney in Lincoln Mar. 11-13.

York College Wins First Meet Test

Des Moines (UPI)—York, Neb., rated the No. 1 team in the Region 11 Junior College basketball tournament here, had to go all out Wednesday to defeat the bottom-seeded team in an opening round game.

York finally pulled ahead at 27-26 and went on to outlast No. 16 rated Estherville (Iowa) for an 86-81 victory. York led at the half, 45-39.

Rick Turner paced the York attack with 27 points, while Chuck Clifton led the Estherville scoring with 23 markers. York improved its record to 19-1, while Estherville has won only 4 of 15 games.

Earlier, forward Dale Honeck poured in 32 points to pace Marshalltown to a 97-85 victory over Mason City. Marshalltown advanced to a quarter-final game against Burlington Thursday night.

Middle East Discussions Are Secret

Washington (AP) — A spokesman said Wednesday the State Department regards as secret whatever talks the United States may be having with Middle Eastern countries on the balance of military power between the Arab states and Israel.

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey refused to provide any information about discussions recently held by U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman with Israeli government officials.

McCloskey similarly declined to discuss a reported request by Jordan for arms, including tanks, although his words implied that such a request had been made.

"As to a general request of theirs, I'm in no position to say if a decision has been reached," McCloskey said.

He then refused to say specifically whether either Jordan or Israel had actually asked the United States for military supplies.

Pressed to explain the U.S. government no-talk policy, in view of a spate of reports from Middle Eastern countries, McCloskey said, "we take the position that while negotiations are going on they're classified."

TIMOTHY . . . with sister's $2 bicycle.

Policemen Restore Honor, Boy's Bike

Detroit (AP)—Timothy Simon got another bicycle Wednesday and great was his joy.

Furthermore, the police department's honor was upheld.

Timothy, 12, bought a red bike for $4 from his $10 in snow shoveling money at the police auction of unclaimed bikes Tuesday.

A thief then stole his bicycle.

All this took place in the gymnasium of police headquarters, site of the auction.

Another Bicycle

Timothy had parkked the red bike at the rear of the gymnasium while he returned to the auction and successfully bid $2 for a bicycle for his sister, Kyle, 9.

The embarrassed department promised the brokenhearted youngster he'd be made whole for his loss.

Called back to headquarters Wednesday, Timothy was presented with another bicycle—even fancier than the original.

It has white sidewall tires, chrome fenders, a carrier rack on the back and a headlight.

. . . 'Am I happy'

Patrolmen William Herbster and Joe Brown had come to duty early and made the bike from parts in the police property Room.

..Timothy livingly stroked the handsome chrom.

"Wow," he said. "Boy, am I happy. I'm just as happy as I can be."

Timothy's rapture more than made up for the reprimand he received at school.

He said he had skipped school to go to the auction and his principal "chewed me out."

"But I'm not mad at her. I'm happy, happy, boy, am I happy," he said.

Pair Sentenced For Break-In

A Lincoln man and woman were each sentenced Wednesday on burglary charges in connection with the Feb. 11 break-in at the Yum-Yum Hut at 115 No. 29th.

Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele sentenced Jerry Dean Skaggs, 21, of 3025 O, to two years in the Nebraska Penal Complex. Skaggs had pleaded guilty to the charge Feb. 17.

Mrs. Mildred D. Weaver, 22, of 3025 O was sentenced to from one to three years in the Women's Reformatory at York. She had pleaded guilty Feb. 19.

Man Ground To Death Inside Garbage Truck

Orinda, Calif. (AP)—A worker was ground to death inside a garbage truck.

Fellow workmen said Elmore Chatman, 22, of Berkeley, was pulled by the compressor into a truck of the Orinda Disposal Service when the machine was started accidentally.

BOURNE NOW 'NUMBER ONE' IN LANCASTER

Lancaster County Commissioner Kenneth Bourne has become Lancaster County's No. 1 citizen as well as chairman of the county board for 1965.

This achievement was not by a vote or poll — but literally. Bourne has become the number-one citizen by acquiring license plates 2-1 for 1965.

Dawn Fraser Has Final Dip In Pool

. . . AT SITE NAMED FOR HER

Sydney, Australia (AP)—Dawn Fraser made what may be her last public appearance as a swimming star—at the Dawn Fraser Pool Wednesday night.

The pool, at Blamain Municipality near here, was where Miss Fraser learned to swim. It formerly was called Elkington Park Baths, but the name was changed after Miss Fraser's success in the Tokyo Olympics Games last year when she won the 100-meter freestyle for the third successive time.

Excited young fans mobbed Miss Fraser when she appeared for an exhibition swim at a carnival but the 500-strong crowd watched in silence when she began to swim, apparently aware they were witnessing the end of her career.

Then, when Miss Fraser emerged from the pool, cheers and applause burst from the spectators, and she had to flee to a dressing room to escape enthusiastic well-wishers.

Later, Miss Fraser took part in a waterpolo game—but still the rebel. She wore the same unofficial swimming costume that she had worn in defiance of officials at the Tokyo Games.

The costume had been one reason given for her 10-year ban by the Australian Swimming Union which also penalized three other girls.

Earlier, Miss Fraser conferred with her attorneys, who are attempting to find a way to overcome the ASU's action.

The union allowed Miss Fraser to take part in Wednesday night's events because she has not yet been officially notified of the ban.

Meanwhile, in Rome, Linda McGill, another of the penalized Olympians, said the whole affair "is a ridiculous story."

In an interview with the Rome daily Giornale D-Italia, the 19-year-old swimmer, in Rome on a holiday, said:

"No, it's not a matter of having gone out with boys. During the Olympic Games, we were allowed to go out with whomever we liked provided we got back to Olympic Village by 10 o'clock at night and our private life didn't interfere with training.

"I don't know what will happen now, "It's impossible that the swimming union would backtrack on the expulsions considering the hard heads they've got there.

"Right now, I don't want to think about it. Friday I'll be leaving for Paris, then we're going to London where we'll do some swimming to keep in form."

Miss McGill is traveling in Europe with two other Australian swimmers, Ilsa Konrad and Ruth Everuss, who both competed in the 1960 Olympic Games in Rome.

Broncos Tip Midland For Tourney Spot

Fremont (AP)—Hastings College won a repeat trip to the NAIA finals in Kansas City next week by dusting off Midland, 81-68 Wednesday.

In Tuesday's meeting, Hastings was the winner 67-48 in the best of three playoffs to represent District 11.

Hastings built up a 48-35 lead in the first half, then traded points with the home team through the second period to win by the same 13-point margin.

Ed Lorentzen paced Hastings with 30 points followed by Bennie Crawford with 20.

Dick Mendenhall got 19 for the home team and Rich Fowler, a senior playing his last game for Midland, added 15.

—2ND STRAIGHT YEAR—

Evansville Takes Small College Title

By The Associated Press

The Evansville Purple Aces, an outstanding team that especially excells when the chips are down, finished on top in The Associated Press' small-college basketball poll for the second straight season Wednesday.

The Aces completed their regular schedule with a 24-0 record last Saturday by defeating Southern Illinois 68-67 on the SIU court. They had beaten the Salukis 81-80 in an earlier game at Evansville.

In the final vote by a special panel of 18 regional experts, Evansville collected 16 votes for first place and 175 points on a basis of 10 for a first, nine for a second, etc.

Central State of Ohio, also unbeaten at 23-0, finished second. Southern Illinois was third, followed by High Point, Fairmont, W. V., North Dakota, Gannon, Grambling, Augsburg and Philadelphia Textile.

Grambling was the only other team to repeat as a Top Ten finisher. The Tigers were third in last year's final poll.

Central State wound up its season last week by defeating Wilberforce 82-74 and Lincoln, Mo., 86-83.

Southern Illinois and High Point switched positions in the last vote. High Point lost its third game of the season, 67-60 to Elon.

Fairmont held the No. 5 position after winning four times for a 27-2 mark. North Dakota advanced three places to sixth on a 22-4 record.

Gannon fell back one notch to seventh after splitting two games for a 20-3 record, while Grambling held eighth place. The Tigers, 20-5 through last Saturday, downed Wiley and Southern University of Louisiana.

Guerin Hot In St. Louis Win

St. Louis (AP)— Player-coach Richie Guerin led his St. Louis Hawks in a second-half surge that wiped out a 13-point deficit and dropped the Philadelphia 76ers 124-110 in a National Basketball Association game Wednesday.

Guerin, in one of his best efforts of the season, scored 33 points for the game, including 22 in the first half and nine in the fourt-quarter rally. The Hawks erased an 86-73. Philadelphia lead in the third quarter and then coasted home in the final period.

West's Shot Lifts Lakers

Boston (AP)—Jerry West hit a 35-foot jump shot in the final second to give the Los Angeles Lakers a come-from-behind 104-102 victory over the Boston Celtics Wednesday night in a National Basketball Association game.

The Lakers put the ball in play with only three seconds remaining and West's desperation toss swished through at the buzzer. This gave West high scoring honors with 30 points.

The Celtics, losing only their third game of the season at home, held a 16-point lead, 42-26 early in the second period. But Los Angeles gradually whittled down the deficit and moved in front for the first time midway in the final quarter.

The lead then see-sawed until West settled matters at the end.

200 Entered At Top Indoor Meet

Omaha (UPI) — The distance events are expected to highlight the seventh annual Central Intercollegiate Indoor Track and Field Championships at the University of Omaha, Friday and Saturday.

Standouts like John Camien (4:01.7 mile this year) of Emporia; Den Gould of Omaha; Don Lakin of Fort Hays; and Bob Camien of Emporia will probably furnish the excitement in the top indoor meet of the year at OU.

Camien has the best indoor mile of the year in the U.S. He spun his 4:01.7 at the Seattle Invitational early in February.

Meet director Lloyd Cardwell, Omaha U. track coach, said about 220 athletes have been entered in the affair.

Iron-Man Ron Clarke Adds 10-Mile Mark To Records

. . . AFTER TRIP FROM U.S.

Melbourne, Australia (AP)—The indefatigable Ron Clarke added the world 10-mile record to his imposing list of distance running marks Wednesday—a few hours after flying home from the United States.

The lean Melbourne accountant, stricken with a pain in the side after seven miles, held on and covered the distance in 47 minutes, 12.8 seconds.

That was 14 seconds faster than the record held by Mel Batty of England.

Within the past 15 months, the long-striding Australian flyer has bettered the world records for the three miles, 5,000 meters, six miles and 10,000 meters outdoors and the three miles indoors.

Wednesday night he raced under the lights at the Mentone track, but at one stage it appeared he might not make it.

After covering seven miles, he developed a stitch in his side and, he said, seriously considered abandoning the race.

"I slowed up and gave myself a rest by taking 84 seconds for the lap," he said afterward. "Fortunately, it worked. If it hadn't, I would have pulled out."

Clarke, a mild, crew-cut six-footer who looks more like a bank clerk than an athlete, achieved the record despite a whirlwind transcontinental campaign that carried him to the United States and back in less than a week.

He flew to San Francisco last Wednesday and won the two-mile event there in 8 minutes, 34.8 seconds. Then, with only four hours sleep, he caught a plane for Lousiville, where he ran another two-mile race Saturday night in 8:35.4.

On Sunday, he caught a plane for Australia, arriving there Tuesday. Because of the international date line, Australia is almost a full day ahead of the United States.

The trip covered some 20,000 miles.

Clarke, father of a 5-year-old daughter and 4-year-old son, said this may be his last year for overseas trips although he expects to continue running because he likes it.

"I'd like to run for three or four more years," he said. "I'm not as interested in records as I am in winning."

A Spartan in the matter of training, Clarke runs three miles before breakfast, six miles at lunch and 12 to 14 miles at night.

"I never miss that evening workout," he said. "It's a must."

Art Hernandez Bombs Winters For 19th Victory

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP)—Art Hernandez of Omaha, Neb., the world's No. 8 junior middle-weight, stopped previously unbeaten Stormy Winters of Miami in seven rounds at Miami Beach Auditorium Wednesday night.

Hernandez, his 158 pounds packed into a 5-foot-8 wedge frame, battered the inexperienced Winters with solid shots from the opening bell and dropped him for a count of eight in the fourth. Referee Cy Gottfried called it off after seven.

Winters, at 151 ponuds, was Hernandez' fifth knockout victim. Hernandez has a 19-2-1 record.

Pistons Stay In Shadow Of Bullets

Detroit (AP) —High scoring guards Eddie Miles, Terry Dischinger and Rod Thorn enabled the Detroit Pistons to beat the San Francisco Warriors 110-107 Wednesday night and remain 2½ games behind Baltimore in a battle for the final Western Division playoff spot in the National Basketball Association.

Miles put in 20 of his 28 points in the first half. Dischinger got 20 of his 26 in the second half. Thorn chipped in 15.

The defeat was the 11th straight for the Warriors and their 35th in their last 38 games.

For the Pistons, it was their fourth straight victory, tying their longest streak of the season.

The Warriors jumped to a 34-20 lead, with McCoy McLemore caging 11 points. But the Pistons countered with nine in a row, paced by Don Kojis, three baskets and a free throw, to cut the San Francisco lead to 61-58 at the half.

Pro Agreement Delights Big Ten Commissioner

. . . FOOTBALL POLICIES 'CLEARED'

Chicago (AP)—Commissioner Bill Reed of the Big Ten expressed delight Wednesday with a mutual agreement with the National and American Football Leagues in cooperative relations with collegiate football.

In a discussion meeting with conference football coaches, athletic directors and publicity men, Reed said:

"It has been a momentous thing to receive assurances from the several pro leagues that they recognize the collegiate concern in these relationships and respect the collegiate interests. We have a climate of mutual understanding and agreement which is progressive, constructive and mutually beneficial."

Reed has been working closely with Jim Corbett of Louisiana State, head of the Professional - Collegiate Relations Committee of the NCAA, and Pete Rozelle and Joe Foss, commissioners of the NFL and AFL.

Reed said these guidelines for cooperation have been approved:

1. Conference staff members should not accept any form of payment or gratuity for any form of cooperation or assistance accorded to representatives of pro football. This does not prohibit acceptance of entertainment or hospitality except that which may include payment of travel expenses or lodging.

2. A pro scout should not visit a conference campus without a letter or telephone call in advance to the athletic director or head coach obtaining permission.

3. Correspondence between the pros and a college player during his playing season or prior to the draft should be directed in care of the head coach or athletic director.

4. Pro interests should not talk to college players during the playing seasons or prior to the draft except in the presence of the head coach or athletic director, or with their knowledge or consent.

5. Pro scouts should not gossip about what is being done on other campuses or relate observations regarding activities or personnel at other colleges.

6. Cooperation with the pros for player evaluations and personnel information is encouraged, but a systematic routine must be established with a standardized form.

7. Pro scouts will not be permitted in press boxes, which is a continuing Big Ten policy. Seats in the stands will be provided at the discretion of the athletic director.

8. Pro athletes, coaches and managers should not appear on television or radio broadcasts of conference football games. Radio and television should be used to the utmost to promote intercollegiate athletics in game broadcasts.

9. Complaints regarding breaches of these procedures should be taken up with highest authorities —the pros to their commissioner and the collegiate interests to theirs.

10. Big Ten coaches should emphasize the college athlete's ability and status, and not fall back on cliches such as : "He is a great pro prospect, etc."

Terrell, Machen Hone For WBA 'Championship' Scrap

. . . INTEREST PICKS UP SLIGHTLY

Chicago (AP)— Towering Ernie Terrell and trim Eddie Machen tapered off Wednesday while interest perked somewhat in their 15-round bout for the World Boxing Association's version of the heavyweight title Friday night.

"Even the WBA is buying tickets," reported co-promoter Irv Schoenwald. "They have ordered 18 of our top-priced $20 tickets."

The WBA stripped Cassius Clay of championship recognition for violating its no-return-bout dictum and has stamped the Terrell-Machen bout a title match. Clay is slated to fight Sonny Liston again, at Boston in May.

Schoenwald said he had close to $30,000 in the till, indicating about a $60,000 gross at the International Amphitheatre, scaled for $102,000.

"I'm always conservative, but we could have a good sale at the gate and wind up with between 7,000 and 8,000 people," Schoenwald said. The South Side arena has a 12,000 capacity.

The bout will be shown on closed circuit television in at least five cities — New York, Los Angeles, Cleveland, Reno and Las Vegas. There will be no radio broadcast.

Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis, Terrell's coach predicts the 6-foot-6 Chicagoan will knock out Machen within five rounds.

"Joe Louis hasn't picked a winner in his life," snorted Machen, a half-foot shorter, and, at 192, about 10 pounds lighter than Terrell. "I figure to apply so much pressure I'll dump Terrell in Joe's lap within 12 rounds."

That was the most warlike prefight statement thus far from either Terrell, who has a 36-4 record, and the 32-year-old Machen, father of four from Redding, Calif., beaten only five times in 54 bouts.

Machen has been lightly exercising since Sunday, when he ended sparring drills.

"I'm shooting for 192 pounds Friday night," said Machen, who weighed 199 when outpointed in 12 rounds in his last start, July 5, by Floyd Patterson in Stockholm. "I was too heavy against Patterson. I have fought best close to 190 pounds."

Terrell, a 7-5 choice, concluded sparring sessions Wednesday and expects to scale about 203 at Friday noon's official weigh-in.

Terrell's right to the WBA title fight is based mainly on 10-round decisions in 1963 over Cleveland Williams and Zora Folley, midway in his current 12-bout winning streak. The string started after Williams knocked out Terrell in seven on April 3, 1962.

Terrell has a potent left hand, but in the words of his own manager, Julie Isaacson, "his right hand is for carrying papers."

North Five Stuns Ryan

By The Associated Press

Omaha North, a team with a poor season record, stunned the Omaha high school basketball world Wednesday night by defeating Bishop Ryan, a top 10 team, 61-58, in the first round of their district Class A tourney.

North led at the half 30-26, then fell behind at the end of the third period, 41-43.

Hospitals Menace To Health

London (UPI) — Eight prominent British surgeons, including Queen Elizabeth's physician, charged Wednesday a majority of British hospitals are a menace to health.

The allegations gave new headaches to the Labor government's health ministry, embroiled in a dispute with Britain's 23,000 family doctors, at least 10,000 of whom have threatened to resign from the National Health Service if they don't obtain pay raises and better working conditions.

The situation eased somewhat late Wednesday when the government agreed to give the doctors $15.4 million "with no strings attached."

If divided evenly among the doctors, who provide $196 million a year in medical care for Britons who pay for the service through small payroll deductions, each practitioner would average $8,442 annually compared with the present average of $7,742.

A spokesman for the British Medical Association (BMA), which represents the doctors, said the government move eased the threat of mass resignations somewhat, but added that many other issues still must be resolved.

The BMA spokesman said the charges lodged Wednesday by the committee of eight surgeons, including Sir Arthur Porritt who attends the queen, "is really a matter for the health ministry."

The doctors sampled 87 hospitals, including the century-old St. Mary's, Charing Cross and Lambeth Hospitals of London. They charged that:

—Six out of 10 hospitals lack proper ventilatoin and nine out of 10 do not sterilize surgical instruments properly.

—Fifty-five of the 87 had not undergone modernization since World War II.

At St. Mary's, the group said, the hospital's main elevator was in a state of "imminent collapse" and "antique walls and floors make it difficult to maintain a high state of cleanliness."

Filibuster Rules Not Changed

Washington (UPI) — The Senate Rules Committee Wednesday voted against making it easier to tie the tongue of a filibustering senator.

By a 5-4 vote, the committee said it favored keeping the present cloture rule—that is, that two-thirds of those present and voting must approve before debate can be shut off.

In effect, what the committee did was reject two proposals designed to change the cloture rule.

Under one, the required number of senators needed to approve cloture would have been cut to three-fifths. The other would have slashed the margin to a simple majority.

The drive for the change was led by Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky. He was reported backing a proposal to scale down the vote from two-thirds to three-fifths — but as a compromise would allow an additional 50 to 100 hours talking time after cloture was invoked. This would be in addition to the one hour of debate alloted to each senator under the present cloture rule.

Under Cooper's plan, the additional time would have been divided equally between opponents and supporters of a measure.

The original rule was adopted in 1917. It required two-thirds of the senators present and voting to cut off debate. This was changed in 1949 to a constitutional two-thirds, or 64 of the 100 members. In 1959, the Senate voted to restore the original rule. Ever since, the rule has been under yearly attack by the Senate's liberal bloc.

Middle East Discussions Are Secret

Washington (AP) — A spokesman said Wednesday the State Department regards as secret whatever talks the United States may be having with Middle Eastern countries on the balance of military power between the Arab states and Israel.

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey refused to provide any information about discussions recently held by U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman with Israeli government officials.

McCloskey similarly declined to discuss a reported request by Jordan for arms, including tanks, although his words implied that such a request had been made.

"As to a general request of theirs, I'm in no position to say if a decision has been reached," McCloskey said.

He then refused to say specifically whether either Jordan or Israel had actually asked the United States for military supplies.

Pressed to explain the U.S. government no-talk policy, in view of a spate of reports from Middle Eastern countries, McCloskey said, "we take the position that while negotiations are going on they're classified."

TIMOTHY . . . with sister's $2 bicycle.

Policemen Restore Honor, Boy's Bike

Detroit (AP)—Timothy Simon got another bicycle Wednesday and great was his joy.

Furthermore, the police department's honor was upheld.

Timothy, 12, bought a red bike for $4 from his $10 in snow shoveing money at the police auction of unclaimed bikes Tuesday.

A thief then stole his bicycle.

All this took place in the gymnasium of police headquarters, site of the auction.

Another Bicycle

Timothy had parkked the red bike at the rear of the gymnasium while he returned to the auction and successfully bid $2 for a bicycle for his sister, Kyle, 9.

The embarrassed department promised the brokenhearted youngster he'd be made whole for his loss.

Called back to headquarters Wednesday, Timothy was presented with another bicycle—even fancier than the original.

It has white sidewall tires, chrome fenders, a carrier rack on the back and a headlight.

. . . 'Am I happy'

Patrolmen William Herbster and Joe Brown had come to duty early and made the bike from parts in the police property Room.

..Timothy livingly stroked the handsome chrom.

"Wow," he said. "Boy, am I happy. I'm just as happy as I can be."

Timothy's rapture more than made up for the reprimand he received at school.

He said he had skipped school to go to the auction and his principal "chewed me out."

"But I'm not mad at her. I'm happy, happy, boy, am I happy," he said.

Pair Sentenced For Break-In

A Lincoln man and woman were each sentenced Wednesday on burglary charges in connection with the Feb. 11 break-in at the Yum-Yum Hut at 115 No. 29th.

Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele sentenced Jerry Dean Skaggs, 21, of 3025 O, to two years in the Nebraska Penal Complex. Skaggs had pleaded guilty to the charge Feb. 17.

Mrs. Mildred D. Weaver, 22, of 3025 O was sentenced to from one to three years in the Women's Reformatory at York. She had pleaded guilty Feb. 19.

Man Ground To Death Inside Garbage Truck

Orinda, Calif. (AP)—A worker was ground to death inside a garbage truck.

Fellow workmen said Elmore Chatman, 22, of Berkeley, was pulled by the compressor into a truck of the Orinda Disposal Service when the machine was started accidentally.

BOURNE NOW 'NUMBER ONE' IN LANCASTER

Lancaster County Commissioner Kenneth Bourne has become Lancaster County's No. 1 citizen as well as chairman of the county board for 1965.

This achievement was not by a vote or poll — but literally. Bourne has become the number-one citizen by acquiring license plates 2-1 for 1965.

Little Interest Reported In Water Conservation

For more than five years, Nebraska has had a law allowing the formation of districts to conserve underground water.

But to date, there have been no takers, according to State Water Resources Director Dan S. Jones.

"Nobody's gotten alarmed enough to form a district yet," Jones said.

He added, though, that the York County Pump Irrigators Association has been looking into establishing a district "for the better part of a year."

"This is the only indication we've had of anyone being interested," Jones said. "There are some in the York area who feel they should do something before the situation gets critical."

Jones said the law "has merit," but added there is a danger that "some irrigators might delay too long in realizing the need to set up something."

The law, passed by the 1959 Legislature, allows the conservancy districts to be set up through petitions signed by land owners in the proposed district.

It provides that "corrective measures" can be established to save underground water resources. Jones said the corrective measures presumably include control of the number of wells sunk and the amount of water pumped.

Bill's Amendment Changes License Plates Deadline

New license plates, which normally become due on Jan. 1 and overdue on Mar. 1, won't become due next year until Apr. 1, under action taken by the Nebraska Legislature Wednesday.

The unanimous consent amendment was applied to LB645, a bill calling for the issuance of new license plates next year which would be expected to last for three years. The new plates would carry the word "Centennial" instead of "Beef State."

Sen. Fern Orme of Lincoln asked for the amendment changing the due date to Apr. 1 and the overdue date to June 1 because the Nebraska Penal Complex, which manufactures the plates, indicated it might need to acquire and install some new equipment and might have trouble meeting the usual deadline.

Health Service Calls Conference On Encephalitis

The U.S. Public Health Service has called a meeting this spring to discuss encephalitis (sleeping sickness) control in the Midwest, it was reported Wednesday.

William Rapp, state entomologist, said the conference is being held because of "inactivity" in South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa and Missouri.

Rapp said there were some 10 confirmed cases of sleeping sickness in Nebraska last year—about the average number.

However, Rapp added, there appeared to be an increase in the disease in horses. He said human cases "seem to build up about a year after an outbreak in horses."

The [illegible] was [illegible] to have been a factor in two human deaths last year, he said.

Nebraska's last major outbreak of the disease, Rapp said, was in 1941. The virus, which originates in birds, is carried by mosquitos.

Hospitals Menace To Health

London (UPI) — Eight prominent British surgeons, including Queen Elizabeth's physician, charged Wednesday a majority of British hospitals are a menace to health.

The allegations gave new headaches to the Labor government's health ministry, embroiled in a dispute with Britain's 23,000 family doctors, at least 10,000 of whom have threatened to resign from the National Health Service if they don't obtain pay raises and better working conditions.

The situation eased somewhat late Wednesday when the government agreed to give the doctors $15.4 million "with no strings attached."

If divided evenly among the doctors, who provide $196 million a year in medical care for Britons who pay for the service through small payroll deductions, each practitioner would average $8,442 annually compared with the present average of $7,742.

A spokesman for the British Medical Association (BMA), which represents the doctors, said the government move eased the threat of mass resignations somewhat, but added that many other issues still must be resolved.

The BMA spokesman said the charges lodged Wednesday by the committee of eight surgeons, including Sir Arthur Porritt who attends the queen, "is really a matter for the health ministry."

The doctors sampled 87 hospitals, including the century-old St. Mary's, Charing Cross and Lambeth Hospitals of London. They charged that:

—Six out of 10 hospitals lack proper ventilatoin and nine out of 10 do not sterilize surgical instruments properly.

—Fifty-five of the 87 had not undergone modernization since World War II.

At St. Mary's, the group said, the hospital's main elevator was in a state of "imminent collapse" and "antique walls and floors make it difficult to maintain a high state of cleanliness."

Filibuster Rules Not Changed

Washington (UPI) — The Senate Rules Committee Wednesday voted against making it easier to tie the tongue of a filibustering senator.

By a 5-4 vote, the committee said it favored keeping the present cloture rule—that is, that two-thirds of those present and voting must approve before debate can be shut off.

In effect, what the committee did was reject two proposals designed to change the cloture rule.

Under one, the required number of senators needed to approve cloture would have been cut to three-fifths. The other would have slashed the margin to a simple majority.

The drive for the change was led by Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky. He was reported backing a proposal to scale down the vote from two-thirds to three-fifths — but as a compromise would allow an additional 50 to 100 hours talking time after cloture was invoked. This would be in addition to the one hour of debate alloted to each senator under the present cloture rule.

Under Cooper's plan, the additional time would have been divided equally between opponents and supporters of a measure.

The original rule was adopted in 1917. It required two-thirds of the senators present and voting to cut off debate. This was changed in 1949 to a constitutional two-thirds, or 64 of the 100 members. In 1959, the Senate voted to restore the original rule. Ever since, the rule has been under yearly attack by the Senate's liberal bloc.

Cigarette Tax Hike Earmarking Is Upheld

By ODELL HANSON
Associated Press Writer

Nebraska's Legislature held firm Wednesday to its decision of last week that the more than $3 million a year to be realized from a two-cent increase in the state cigarette tax be earmarked for three specific purposes.

Rejected 17-32 after stirring debate and a temper flare involving Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff and the presiding officer, Lt. Gov. Phil Sorensen, was an amendment offered to the pending LB26 under which money from the tax increase would go into the general fund.

Carpenter's LB26, in the form in which it apparently is headed for final passage, increases the tax from 6 to 8 cents per package and decrees that 35% of the revenue in the next two years goes into the state educational television fund, 35% to the Game Commission to match federal money newly available to the state for park and recreation area development, and 30% for the construction of highways to state recreation areas.

Nearly two hours of stirring debate preceded the new vote, capped by a flareup which developed when Sen. Carpenter thought his integrity had been impugned by Omaha Sen. Sam Klaver's closing speech on his motion to amend LB26.

Rebuttal Try

Carpenter attempted to rebut but Lt. Gov. Sorensen ruled him out of order. Carpenter initially refused to be seated and challenged Sorensen to make him do so.

The tempest quickly blew over.

Basically at issue in Wednesday's discussion was the question of whether appropriations for the ETV Commission and the other cigarette bill purposes should go through usual channels and be reviewed by the Budget Committee.

Earmarking is not unusual, as several senators pointed out.

The chairman and vice chairman of the Budget Committee, Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings and Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance, parted company on the issue.

Marvel acknowledged he has voted on occasion for earmarking, but said "I protest this method of appropriating money without adequate explanation."

He read a letter from Game Commission Director Mel Steen on how the commission's portion of the cigarette money would be used, and contended it was too vague and inadequate for exercise of judgment.

Marvel renewed his promise also that the Budget Committee by the end of this month will have made its budget recommendations "in all key areas except the Highway Department."

Programmed Budgeting

Sen. Gerdes said he favors programmed budgeting, but that there is early need for funds to match federal money either available or expected in the areas covered by the bill, and the assurance that funds will be available needs to be given now.

Sen. Klaver, plugging for placement of the money in the general fund, said that if the general fund does not receive enough revenue the state may be forced into the sales or income tax field.

But Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. of Omaha complained that the sales-income tax possibility is being used as a scare technique.

"I hope you won't panic," said Pedersen, who saw the earmarking in LB26 as a method "of attacking three problems and getting them out of the way."

Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha, a member of the Budget Committee, said: "As long as you have a Budget Committee I wish you would let the Budget Committee review and recommend how to spend the money."

Challenged Consistency

Carpenter challenged the consistency of senators who opposed earmarking of cigarette revenue but who were among 25 senators who introduced a bill, LB826, which Carpenter said would give the University of Nebraska "a blank check" to spend more than $60 million on new buildings out of tuition and other money, with a view to reimbursement later from the Legislature.

How Legislators voted Wednesday on Sen. Sam Klaver's motion to place LB26 cigarette tax revenue into the general fund instead of earmarking it:

For (17): Batchelder, Bauer, Carstens, Crandall, Danner, Klaver, Kokes, Lynner, Marvel, Matzke, Moylan, Nore, Paine, Paxton, Stryker, Wylie.

Against (32): Adamson, Bowen, Brauer, Budd, Burbach, Carpenter, Clausen, Craft, Fleming, Gerdes, Harsh, Hasebroock, Holmquist, Hughes, Kjar, Kremer, Mahoney, Moulton, Nelson, Orme, Payne, Pedersen, Proud, E. Rasmussen, R. Rasmussen, Ruhnke, Skarda, Stromer, Syas, Wallwey, Warner, Whitney.

Once the smoke from the cigarette bill had cleared, legislators settled down to general file consideration of a string of bills having to do with state bookkeeping. The seven measures advanced without dissent variously consolidated funds or specified that revenues should go into the general fund rather than special bookkeeping accounts.

State Exams Set For Clerks' Posts

Examinations for all types of clerical positions with the state departments of public welfare and health, division of employement, civil defense agencies and emergency planning office will be given April 10 in about 50 Nebraska cities.

M. L. Christensen, state merit system director, said the statewide exams will be of importance to state high school seniors seeking employment in the clerical fields.

Christensen said merit system test applications must be mailed to his office by March 22. Applications are obtainable from county welfare offices or local employment office.

Trade Heavy In Jumbled Stock Market

New York (AP)—Heavy trading and strength in airlines and electronics marked a jumbled stock market Wednesday.

Volume swelled to 6.64 million shares from 5.99 million Tuesday and was the largest since Feb. 25 when 6.69 million shares changed hands.

Two of the popular market averages took losses and one made a slight gain; but in the over-all stock list gainers outnumbered losers by a small margin.

The increasing frequency of six-million-share days and the popularity of lower-priced or more speculative issues again seemed to reflect a pickup in public participation. Some analysts, however, preferred to ascribe this to a shrewd "search for values" by astute professionals.

Wall Street appeared to be ignoring the reports of bombing in Viet Nam. Confidence in the economy was reinforced by news of record new factory orders in January.

The market average was a little higher in the morning but the plus edge faded and by the close the Dow Jones industrial average was down to a minor loss of 1.15 to 900.76.

Losses by some key blue chips dragged at the market indicators. Du Pont fell 1¼, Standard Oil New Jersey ¾, General Motors ½, Texaco ½, Sears, Roebuck ⅝ and Woolworth ½.

The issues favored by traders, however, were mostly higher. Ten of the 15 most active stocks rose, three fell and two were unchanged.

In the entire list, of 1,383 issues traded, 574 rose and 528 fell. New highs for 1964-'65 totaled 186 and new lows six.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .2 to 336.0 with industrials and rails unchanged and utilities up .4.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index dipped .14 to 87.26.

For the second straight session Thiokol was the most active stock, responding further to a report of a successful rocket engine. It rose 1¾ to 17 on 250,500 shares.

Fluor airline stocks were among the 15 volume leaders. Pan American was second most active and rose 1⅛. KLM was third and also rose 1⅛. Continental Air Lines rose 1⅛ while Eastern dipped ¼ on profit taking.

The airlines were still responding to higher revenues and profits. KLM was boosted further by the thin distribution of its publicly-held stock.

Among other airlines, United gained 1, American 1⅛, Braniff 1⅛ and Northwest 1¾.

Manufacturers of color television sets were boosted by a published report of greatly increased demand for color TV. Radio Corp. was the heaviest traded in the group and gained ⅝. Zenith advanced 1⅜, Magnavox and Admiral 1 each. Motorola backed away from an early rise and took a 1-point net loss.

Despite a report of record car sales in February, auto shares were scrambling. Ford, up ⅛, was the only gainer among leading motor stocks. Chrysler and Studebaker eased ⅛ each. American Motors was unchanged.

Steels ended with a slightly higher trend after a wobbly showing early in the day.

Nerco, reported to have negotiated a new $200 million revolving credit agreement with banks, advanced 3¼.

High Voltage Engineering, showing sustained response to a takeover rumor, was active and advanced 3 to 23¼.

On the American Stock Exchange gainers had a slight edge over losers in heavy trading. Volume was 2.24 million shares compared with 1.84 million Tuesday. Syntex was active and up 2⅞ at 85¾. Pan-National rose 3¾, Consolidyne 1½, Seaboard World Airlines ¼ and Northeast Airlines 1.

Corporate bonds were mixed in moderately active trading. U.S. government bonds advanced after two days of decline.

Little Interest Reported In Water Conservation

For more than five years, Nebraska has had a law allowing the formation of districts to conserve underground water.

But to date, there have been no takers, according to State Water Resources Director Dan S. Jones.

"Nobody's gotten alarmed enough to form a district yet," Jones said.

He added, though, that the York County Pump Irrigators Association has been looking into establishing a district "for the better part of a year."

"This is the only indication we've had of anyone being interested," Jones said. "There are some in the York area who feel they should do something before the situation gets critical."

Jones said the law "has merit," but added there is a danger that "some irrigators might delay too long in realizing the need to set up something."

The law, passed by the 1959 Legislature, allows the conservancy districts to be set up through petitions signed by land owners in the proposed district.

It provides that "corrective measures" can be established to save underground water resources. Jones said the corrective measures presumably include control of the number of wells sunk and the amount of water pumped.

Bill's Amendment Changes License Plates Deadline

New license plates, which normally become due on Jan. 1 and overdue on Mar. 1, won't become due next year until Apr. 1, under action taken by the Nebraska Legislature Wednesday.

The unanimous consent amendment was applied to LB68, a bill calling for the issuance of new license plates next year which would be expected to last for three years. The new plates would carry the word "Centennial" instead of "Beef State."

Sen. Fern Orme of Lincoln asked for the amendment changing the due date to Apr. 1 and the overdue date to June 1 because the Nebraska Penal Complex, which manufactures the plates, indicated it might need to acquire and install some new equipment and might have trouble meeting the usual deadline.

Health Service Calls Conference On Encephalitis

The U.S. Public Health Service has called a meeting this spring to discuss encephalitis (sleeping sickness) control in the Midwest, it was reported Wednesday.

William Rapp, state entomologist, said the conference is being held because of "inactivity" in South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa and Missouri.

Rapp said there were some 10 confirmed cases of sleeping sickness in Nebraska last year—about the average number.

However, Rapp added, there appeared to be an increase in the disease in horses. He said human cases "seem to build up about a year after an outbreak in horses."

The [illegible] was [illegible] to have been a factor in two human deaths last year, he said.

Nebraska's last major outbreak of the disease, Rapp said, was in 1941. The virus, which originates in birds, is carried by mosquitos.

Cigarette Tax Hike Earmarking Is Upheld

By ODELL HANSON
Associated Press Writer

Nebraska's Legislature held firm Wednesday to its decision of last week that the more than $3 million a year to be realized from a two-cent increase in the state cigarette tax be earmarked for three specific purposes.

Rejected 17-32 after stirring debate and a temper flare involving Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff and the presiding officer, Lt. Gov. Phil Sorensen, was an amendment offered to the pending LB26 under which money from the tax increase would go into the general fund.

Carpenter's LB26, in the form in which it apparently is headed for final passage, increases the tax from 6 to 8 cents per package and decrees that 35% of the revenue in the next two years goes into the state educational television fund, 35% to the Game Commission to match federal money newly available to the state for park and recreation area development, and 30% for the construction of highways to state recreation areas.

Nearly two hours of stirring debate preceded the new vote, capped by a flareup which developed when Sen. Carpenter thought his integrity had been impugned by Omaha Sen. Sam Klaver's closing speech on his motion to amend LB26.

Rebuttal Try

Carpenter attempted to rebut but Lt. Gov. Sorensen ruled him out of order. Carpenter initially refused to be seated and challenged Sorensen to make him do so.

The tempest quickly blew over.

Basically at issue in Wednesday's discussion was the question of whether appropriations for the ETV Commission and the other cigarette bill purposes should go through usual channels and be reviewed by the Budget Committee.

Earmarking is not unusual, as several senators pointed out.

The chairman and vice chairman of the Budget Committee, Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings and Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance, parted company on the issue.

Marvel acknowledged he has voted on occasion for earmarking, but said "I protest this method of appropriating money without adequate explanation."

He read a letter from Game Commission Director Mel Steen on how the commission's portion of the cigarette money would be used, and contended it was too vague and inadequate for exercise of judgment.

Marvel renewed his promise also that the Budget Committee by the end of this month will have made its budget recommendations "in all key areas except the Highway Department."

Programmed Budgeting

Sen. Gerdes said he favors programmed budgeting, but that there is early need for funds to match federal money either available or expected in the areas covered by the bill, and the assurance that funds will be available needs to be given now.

Sen. Klaver, plugging for placement of the money in the general fund, said that if the general fund does not receive enough revenue the state may be forced into the sales or income tax field.

But Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. of Omaha complained that the sales-income tax possibility is being used as a scare technique.

"I hope you won't panic," said Pedersen, who saw the earmarking in LB26 as a method "of attacking three problems and getting them out of the way."

Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha, a member of the Budget Committee, said: "As long as you have a Budget Committee I wish you would let the Budget Committee review and recommend how to spend the money."

Challenged Consistency

Carpenter challenged the consistency of senators who opposed earmarking of cigarette revenue but who were among 25 senators who introduced a bill, LB826, which Carpenter said would give the University of Nebraska "a blank check" to spend more than $60 million on new buildings out of tuition and other money, with a view to reimbursement later from the Legislature.

How Legislators voted Wednesday on Sen. Sam Klaver's motion to place LB26 cigarette tax revenue into the general fund instead of earmarking it:

For (17): Batchelder, Bauer, Carstens, Crandall, Danner, Klaver, Kokes, Lynner, Marvel, Matzke, Moylan, Noer, Palota, Paxton, Stryker, Wylie.

Against (27): Adamson, Bowen, Brasier, Budd, Burbach, Carpenter, Chambers, Cook, Fleming, Gerdes, Harsh, Hasebrook, Holmquist, Hughes, Klar, Kremer, Maher, Nelson, Orme, Peterson, Pedersen, Proud, E. Rasmussen, R. Rasmussen, Rokahr, Skarda, Stromer, Syas, Wallace, Warner, Whitney.

Once the smoke from the cigarette bill had cleared, legislators settled down to general file consideration of a string of bills having to do with state bookkeeping. The seven measures advanced without dissent variously consolidated funds or specified that revenues should go into the general fund rather than special bookkeeping accounts.

State Exams Set For Clerks' Posts

Examinations for all types of clerical positions with the state departments of public welfare and health, division of employement, civil defense agencies and emergency planning office will be given April 10 in about 50 Nebraska cities.

M. L. Christensen, state merit system director, said the statewide exams will be of importance to state high school seniors seeking employment in the clerical fields.

Christensen said merit system test applications must be mailed to his office by March 22. Applications are obtainable from county welfare offices or local employment office.

South Americans End Carnivals With Death

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil (AP)—Rio's carnival ended before dawn Wednesday and officials said 34 persons died in events connected with it.

Four deaths were passion-motivated homicides, police said. The others were due to heart attacks or accidents directly connected with carnival, which began Saturday night.

In Caracas, officials said five persons were killed and about 400 injured in the wind-up of Venezuela's carnival—called "The Day Of Water." Gangs roamed Caracus throwing water, paint, acids and ink from cans.

UP Will Spend $135 Million For Improvements

Omaha (AP)—The Union Pacific Railroad plans to spend about $135 million for capital improvements during the coming year, Edd H. Bailey, president, announced Wednesday.

He said more than $105 million will be spent for new equipment and $8 million for improving existing equipment.

New equipment will include 23 new 5,000 horsepower diesel locomotives, seven new coaches and rebuilding of 14 coaches and 19 sleeping cars. Also included in the equipment investment will be 5,301 units of equipment, largely freight cars. This along with track maintenance and equipment will amount to $12.5 million.

Another $8.3 million will go into miscellaneous physical property investments.

Viet Terrorist Bomb Cuts U.S. Servicemen

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—A bomb exploded Wednesday in front of a bar frequented by U.S. servicemen, wounding a dozen persons.

There apparently were no serious American casualties but some Americans were cut.

The bomb ripped masonry from the front of the Mayflower Bar and adjacent buildings, and cratered the sidewalk.

Bombings of this type by Viet Cong terrorists have been frequent, but this was the first bar bombing Saigon has seen in several months.

Soviet Test Reported By Swedish Institute

Uppsala, Sweden (UPI) — The Soviet Union touched off an underground nuclear explosion in the Kazakh Republic in Soviet Central Asia Wednesday, the Uppsala Seismological Institute reported.

Director Dr. Marcus Baath said the shock, from the Semipalatinsk area, was recorded by instruments here at 6:51 a.m. (12:51 a.m. CST).

He said the explosion was not as strong as similar Soviet underground tests picked up here in 1964, such as one which produced a radioactive "leak" in the atmosphere.

Benefits Increase

Washington (UPI) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., proposed increasing Social Security benefits for the poor by 100%. It could be financed through general income tax revenues, he said.

Trade Heavy In Jumbled Stock Market

New York (AP)—Heavy trading and strength in airlines and electronics marked a jumbled stock market Wednesday.

Volume swelled to 6.64 million shares from 5.99 million Tuesday and was the largest since Feb. 25 when 6.69 million shares changed hands.

Two of the popular market averages took losses and one made a slight gain; but in the over-all stock list gainers outnumbered losers by a small margin.

The increasing frequency of six-million-share days and the popularity of lower-priced or more speculative issues again seemed to reflect a pickup in public participation. Some analysts, however, preferred to ascribe this to a shrewd "search for values" by astute professionals.

Wall Street appeared to be ignoring the reports of bombing in Viet Nam. Confidence in the economy was reinforced by news of record new factory orders in January.

The market average was a little higher in the morning but the plus edge faded and by the close the Dow Jones industrial average was down to a minor loss of 1.15 to 900.76.

Losses by some key blue chips dragged at the market indicators. Du Pont fell 1¼, Standard Oil New Jersey ¾, General Motors ½, Texaco ½, Sears, Roebuck ⅝ and Woolworth ½.

The issues favored by traders, however, were mostly higher. Ten of the 15 most active stocks rose, three fell and two were unchanged.

In the entire list, of 1,363 issues traded, 574 rose and 528 fell. New highs for 1964-'65 totaled 106 and new lows six.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .2 to 336.0 with industrials and rails unchanged and utilities up .4.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index dipped .14 to 87.26.

For the second straight session Thiokol was the most active stock, responding further to a report of a successful rocket engine. It rose 1¾ to 17 on 250,500 shares.

Fuor airline stocks were among the 15 volume leaders. Pan American was second most active and rose 1⅞. It was third and also rose 1⅞. Continental Air Lines rose 1¼ while Eastern dipped ¼ on profit taking.

The airlines were still responding to higher revenues and profits. KLM was boosted further by the thin distribution of its publicly-held stock.

Among other airlines, United gained 1, American 1⅜, Braniff 1⅛ and Northwest 1¼.

Manufacturers of color television sets were boosetd by a published report of greatly increased demand for color TV. Radio Corp. was the heaviest traded in the group and gained ⅝. Zenith advanced 1⅜, Magnavox and Admiral 1 each. Motorola backed away from an early rise and took a 1-point net loss.

Despite a report of record car sales in February, auto shares were scrambling Ford, up ⅛, was the only gainer among leading motor stocks. Chrysler and Studebaker eased ⅛ each. American Motors was unchanged.

Steels ended with a slightly higher trend after a wobbly showing early in the day.

Xerox, reported to have negotiated a new $100 million revolving credit agreement with banks, advanced 2¼.

High Voltage Engineering, showing continued response to a takeover rumor, was active and advanced 3 to 23⅛.

On the American Stock Exchange gainers had a slight edge over losers in heavy trading. Volume was 2.34 million shares compared with 1.84 million Tuesday. Syntex was active and up 1⅞ at 85⅞. Pyle-National rose 3¾, Compudyne 1½, Seaboard World Airlines ⅛ and Northeast Airlines 1.

Corporate bonds were mixed in moderately active trading. U.S. government bonds advanced after two days of decline.

Oats, Rye Higher In Mixed Market

Chicago (AP)—A little commercial buying firmed some oats and rye futures contracts but the market otherwise closed mostly narrowly mixed Wednesday in rather quiet dealings on the Board of Trade.

March oats and March and May rye moved up more than a cent a bushel. Other deliveries were limited generally to small fractional gains.

Wheat and corn attracted only meager activity as speculators continued standing aside awaiting significant market factors.

The fractional closing range in soybeans, only a half cent either way, was the most limited in many weeks.

Soybeans finished ½ cent a bushel higher to ½ lower, March $3.01⅝-¾; wheat ¼ higher to ⅝ lower, March $1.49⅝-¾; corn ¼ higher to ¼ lower, March $1.28; oats 1⅛-1⅛ higher, March 68¾; rye unchanged to 1⅜ higher, March $1.21⅞.

Thieu Replaces Khanh; Power Much Reduced

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu replaced ousted strongman Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh Wednesday as the top officer of the nation's 25-man armed forces council. But he has only a fraction of the power Khanh wielded.

The council announced the election of Thieu as secretary-general, and said it had decided not to name a new chairman, the post Khanh held while he was also commander in chief of the armed forces.

Maj. Gen. Tran Van Minh retains his job as acting commander of the armed forces.

Thieu also holds the post of armed forces minister in the civilian cabinet of Prime Minister Phan Huy Quat.

Last September Thieu was one of seven high-ranking military men named on a Buddhist "black list." Bowing to Buddhist demands, Khanh fired him, but he was reinstated after a coup in which Khanh was first ousted and then returned to power.

The council named three generals to serve under Thieu on a governing committee:

—Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, commander of the air force, will be commissioner for foreign affairs.

—Brig. Gen. Linh Quang Vien, minister of psychological warfare, will be commissioner for political affairs.

—Brig. Gen Pham Van Dong, commander of the capital military district, will be commissioner for security.

NU's Dr. Saylor Installed As Head Of National Unit

Dr. Galen Saylor, chairman of the University of Nebraska department of secondary education, was installed as president of the national Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development in Chicago Wednesday evening.

He was elevated to the post of president-elect a year ago and will serve one year as president of the association, which is composed of 10,000 educators concerned with curriculum development in the nation's schools. The association is a department of the National Education Association.

Dr. Saylor will become the first Nebraskan to serve as president of the Association organized in 1942. He has served on the Association's board of directors and as chairman of the publications committee. He also has served as president of the Nebraska Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development.

Starkweather Kin Sentenced For Assault

Rodney L. Starkweather, 28, brother of mass killer Charles Starkweather, was found guilty of assault and sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Starkweather pleaded guilty to the charge in Lancaster County Court, Wednesday, in connection with a Tuesday night incident in which he fired a shot from a .22 calibre rifle. The shot narrowly missed his wife.

Starkweather had been separated from his wife for approximately two weeks. The couple was in the process of obtaining a divorce.

Lincoln, County Growth Cited By Wood In Speech

Comments on growth of Lincoln and Lancaster County highlighted remarks by Pace Wood, speaking on "Lincoln Tomorrow" at the Lincoln Board of Realtors luncheon meeting Wednesday.

"The only way to anticipate tomorrow is to evaluate today with a comparison of yesterday," Wood pointed out.

In his address, Wood analyzed how Lincoln arrived at its present "prosperous position" and what can be done to maintain it, stressing the development of south Lincoln and the "immense labor pool" of city youth.

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Larry Charles Grady, who was taken away three years ago today.
The depths of sorrow we cannot tell
Of the loss of one we loved so well
And while he sleeps a peaceful sleep
His memory we shall always keep.

South Americans End Carnivals With Death

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil (AP)—Rio's carnival ended before dawn Wednesday and officials said 34 persons died in events connected with it.

Four deaths were passion-motivated homicides, police said. The others were due to heart attacks or accidents directly connected with carnival, which began Saturday night.

In Caracas, officials said five persons were killed and about 400 injured in the wind-up of Venezuela's carnival—called "The Day Of Water." Gangs roamed Caracus throwing water, paint, acids and ink from cans.

UP Will Spend $135 Million For Improvements

Omaha (AP)—The Union Pacific Railroad plans to spend about $135 million for capital improvements during the coming year, Edd H. Bailey, president, announced Wednesday.

He said more than $105 million will be spent for new equipment and $8 million for improving existing equipment.

New equipment will include 23 new 5,000 horsepower diesel locomotives, seven new coaches and rebuilding of 14 coaches and 19 sleeping cars. Also included in the equipment investment will be 5,301 units of equipment, largely freight cars. This along with track maintenance and equipment will amount to $12.5 million.

Another $8.3 million will go into miscellaneous physical property investments.

Viet Terrorist Bomb Cuts U.S. Servicemen

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—A bomb exploded Wednesday in front of a bar frequented by U.S. servicemen, wounding a dozen persons.

There apparently were no serious American casualties but some Americans were cut.

The bomb ripped masonry from the front of the Mayflower Bar and adjacent buildings, and cratered the sidewalk.

Bombings of this type by Viet Cong terrorists have been frequent, but this was the first bar bombing Saigon has seen in several months.

Moms To Cool Off

Soviet Test Reported By Swedish Institute

Uppsala, Sweden (UPI) — The Soviet Union touched off an underground nuclear explosion in the Kazakh Republic in Soviet Central Asia Wednesday, the Uppsala Seismological Institute reported.

Director Dr. Marcus Baath said the shock, from the Semipalatinsk area, was recorded by instruments here at 6:51 a.m. (12:51 a.m. CST).

He said the explosion was not as strong as similar Soviet underground tests picked up here in 1964, such as one which produced a radioactive "leak" in the atmosphere.

Benefits Increase

Washington (UPI) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., proposed increasing Social Security benefits for the poor by 100%. It could be financed through general income tax revenues, he said.

Thieu Replaces Khanh; Power Much Reduced

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu replaced ousted strongman Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh Wednesday as the top officer of the nation's 25-man armed forces council. But he has only a fraction of the power Khanh wielded.

The council announced the election of Thieu as secretary-general, and said it had decided not to name a new chairman, the post Khanh held while he was also commander in chief of the armed forces.

Maj. Gen. Tran Van Minh retains his job as acting commander of the armed forces.

Thieu also holds the post of armed forces minister in the civilian cabinet of Prime Minister Phan Huy Quat.

Last September Thieu was one of seven high-ranking military men named on a Buddhist "black list." Bowing to Buddhist demands, Khanh fired him, but he was reinstated after a coup in which Khanh was first ousted and then returned to power.

The council named three generals to serve under Thieu on a governing committee:

—Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, commander of the air force, will be commissioner for foreign affairs.

—Brig. Gen. Linh Quang Vien, minister of psychological warfare, will be commissioner for political affairs.

—Brig. Gen. Pham Van Dong, commander of the capital military district, will be commissioner for security.

NU's Dr. Saylor Installed As Head Of National Unit

Dr. Galen Saylor, chairman of the University of Nebraska department of secondary education, was installed as president of the national Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development in Chicago Wednesday evening.

He was elevated to the post of president-elect a year ago and will serve one year as president of the association, which is composed of 10,000 educators concerned with curriculum development in the nation's schools. The association is a department of the National Education Association.

Dr. Saylor will become the first Nebraskan to serve as president of the Association organized in 1942. He has served on the Association's board of directors and as chairman of the publications committee. He also has served as president of the Nebraska Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development.

Starkweather Kin Sentenced For Assault

Rodney L. Starkweather, 28, brother of mass killer Charles Starkweather, was found guilty of assault and sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Starkweather pleaded guilty to the charge in Lancaster County Court, Wednesday, in connection with a Tuesday night incident in which he fired a shot from a .22 calibre rifle. The shot narrowly missed his wife.

Starkweather had been separated from his wife for approximately two weeks. The couple was in the process of obtaining a divorce.

Lincoln, County Growth Cited By Wood In Speech

Comments on growth of Lincoln and Lancaster County highlighted remarks by Pace Wood, speaking on "Lincoln Tomorrow" at the Lincoln Board of Realtors luncheon meeting Wednesday.

"The only way to anticipate tomorrow is to evaluate today with a comparison of yesterday," Wood pointed out.

In his address, Wood analyzed how Lincoln arrived at its present "prosperous position" and what can be done to maintain it, stressing the development of south Lincoln and the "immense labor pool" of city youth.

Bill Opening Records To Public OKd

A bill that would open for public inspection peace officers' records of juvenile offenders was advanced to the floor by a unanimous vote of the Legislature's Judiciary Committee Wednesday.

There was no opposition to LB570, introduced by Hooper Sen. Ross Rasmussen.

Lincoln attorney Richard Hansen, representing the Nebraska Conference on Children and Youth, spoke out in support of the bill which he explained would delete sections of the 1963 law which caused difficulties.

He said it was not the intent of the 1963 Legislature to close juvenile records or infringe on freedom of the press, but to prevent inspection by curiosity-seekers.

The 1963 bill provided that the juvenile records would be available to public inspection and disclosure only upon order of the juvenile court.

The proposed legislation would preserve the confidentiality of medical, psychological, psychiatric and other records of a private nature.

The committee also advanced to the floor three other bills dealing with juvenile courts.

LB566 would make it a misdemeanor for anyone to be guilty of contributing to a child's behavior which would cause need for special supervision.

LB567 provides that a child under 18 years of age may be taken into custody without a warrant or court order. The present law doesn't define the age limit of a child.

LB568 is a corrective bill spelling out certain juvenile court proceedings.

Sen. Payne Says License Plate Bill Needs Revisions

Sen. Dale Payne of Papillion said Wednesday that the Legislature will have to consider "some revision" in a motor vehicle license plate measure which it advanced on the floor earlier in the day.

The lawmakers adopted an amendment to LB645, providing for centennial license plates to be issued for three years beginning in 1966, establishing the issuance date as April 1 with delinquency on June 1.

Payne immediately queried the state tax commissioner's office on the effect on motor vehicle tax collections caused by moving the normal time schedule for issuance of plates back three months.

In a memorandum to Payne, William Peters suggested that the change would delay tax collections causing possible confusion in budgets at all levels of government "because revenues during January through March will be significantly reduced."

Peters said he also believes the state would experience some loss in revenue, and county treasurers would find motor vehicle taxes falling due at the same time as the first half of real estate taxes, causing a problem in work load.

Why "Good-Time" Charlie Suffers Uneasy Bladder

Unwise eating or drinking may be a source of mild, but annoying bladder irritations—making you feel restless, tense, and uncomfortable. And if restless nights, with nagging backache, headache or muscular aches and pains due to over-exertion, strain or emotional upset, are adding to your misery—don't wait—try Doan's Pills.

Doan's Pills act 3 ways for speedy relief. 1—They have a soothing effect on bladder irritations. 2—A fast pain-relieving action on nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains. 3—A wonderfully mild diuretic action from the kidneys, tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes. So, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years.

For convenient use, ask for the family size. Get Doan's Pills today! Doan's

Bill Opening Records To Public OKd

A bill that would open for public inspection peace officers' records of juvenile offenders was advanced to the floor by a unanimous vote of the Legislature's Judiciary Committee Wednesday.

There was no opposition to LB570, introduced by Hooper Sen. Ross Rasmussen.

Lincoln attorney Richard Hansen, representing the Nebraska Conference on Children and Youth, spoke out in support of the bill which he explained would delete sections of the 1963 law which caused difficulties.

He said it was not the intent of the 1963 Legislature to close juvenile records or infringe on freedom of the press, but to prevent inspection by curiosity-seekers.

The 1963 bill provided that the juvenile records would be available to public inspection and disclosure only upon order of the juvenile court.

The proposed legislation would preserve the confidentiality of medical, psychological, psychiatric and other records of a private nature.

The committee also advanced to the floor three other bills dealing with juvenile courts.

LB566 would make it a misdemeanor for anyone to be guilty of contributing to a child's behavior which would cause need for special supervision.

LB567 provides that a child under 18 years of age may be taken into custody without a warrant or court order. The present law doesn't define the age limit of a child.

LB568 is a corrective bill spelling out certain juvenile court proceedings.

Sen. Payne Says License Plate Bill Needs Revisions

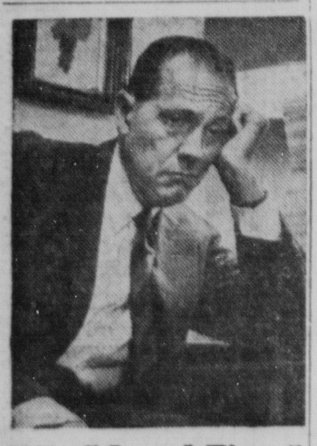
Sen. Dale Payne of Papillion said Wednesday that the Legislature will have to consider "some revision" in a motor vehicle license plate measure which it advanced on the floor earlier in the day.

The lawmakers adopted an amendment to LB645, providing for centennial license plates to be issued for three years beginning in 1966, establishing the issuance date as April 1 with delinquency on June 1.

Payne immediately queried the state tax commissioner's office on the effect on motor vehicle tax collections caused by moving the normal time schedule for issuance of plates back three months.

In a memorandum to Payne, William Peters suggested that the change would delay tax collections causing possible confusion in budgets at all levels of government "because revenues during January through March will be significantly reduced."

Peters said he also believes the state would experience some loss in revenue, and county treasurers would find motor vehicle taxes falling due at the same time as the first half of real estate taxes, causing a problem in work load.



Why "Good-Time" Charlie Suffers Uneasy Bladder

Unwise eating or drinking may be a source of mild, but annoying bladder irritations—making you feel restless, tense, and uncomfortable. And if restless nights, with nagging backache, headache or muscular aches and pains due to over-exertion, strain or emotional upset, are adding to your misery—don't wait—try Doan's Pills.

Doan's Pills act 3 ways for speedy relief. 1—They have a soothing effect on bladder irritations. 2—A fast pain-relieving action on nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains. 3—A wonderfully mild diuretic action thru the kidneys, tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes. So, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years.
